STORM FORCES LINDBERGHS TO CAMP IN WILDS

Safe in Columbus After Perilous Night; Leave for Capital Today.

Columbus, Ohio, May 7 (A.P.). Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh landed here at 8:32 p. m. Eastern standard time, after a flight from St. Louis. They will resume their airplane trip to Washington tomorrow morning.

Kansas City, May 7 (A.P.).—Forced down in a swirling sandstorm, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh spent last night on the windswept plains of the Texas panhandle, snugly protected in their plane, while widespread fears were raised for their safety.

After the storm had subsided, the famous couple took off from their isolated landing place this morning and arrived in Kansas City at 12:45 p. m., Central standard time, dusty and slightly worn, en route to Washington, D. C., from California.

"Better to Sit Down."

Their arrival brought relief to friends and airmen, who had started a search and kept a night long vigil at air fields through the Southwest.

"I'm sorry," Lindbergh said. "People shouldn't worry. It's liable to happen any time in the Western country."

After their plane was refueled here, the Lindberghs departed for the East at 2:08 p. m. and reached St. Louis at 4 p. m.

Of the fierce sandstorms of the Southwest, he said:

"It's better to sit down than go through them."

He said the storm struck them with blinding fury a few hours after they had headed his red and black monoplane eastward from Albuquerque, N. Mex., at 3:34 p. m. (Mountain standard time) yesterday, with a fresh supply of gasoline in estimation of their flight from Glendale, Calif., to the National Capital.

Sand Is Blinding.

The two were forced down "somewhere north of Amarillo."

Welles Is Welcomed By Havana Authorities

Havana, May 7 (A.P.).—Sumner Welles, new United States Ambassador to Cuba, arrived here at 6 p. m., Eastern standard time, today. He was taken off the United Fruit liner Peten in an immigration launch.

Elaborate precautions had been taken and no disorder was reported.

Poland May Return Moscicki to Office

Warsaw, May 7 (A.P.).—Reports persisted today that President Ignatz Moscicki would accept the government party's offer of a second 7-year term and would be reelected on the first ballot by the National Assembly tomorrow.

The opposition party announced it would boycott the presidential election, although some opposition deputies, especially those with peasant constituencies, declared they would participate. Should Moscicki be reelected, he will be sworn in on Tuesday, although his term expires June 1.

One reason for the great interest throughout Poland in tomorrow's election is that this will be the first normal transfer in Polish history from one president to another, the first being killed and the second forced to resign in consequence of Marshal Pilsudski's coup.

Milk Above Prewar Price

Washingtonians Pay 51 Per Cent More Per Quart Than They Did in 1913

Groceries Cost 3 Per Cent Less Than Two Decades Ago.

This is the second of a series of articles showing the results of a study made by The Post of milk and cream prices in Washington. The figures in this article were obtained from Government bureaus.

The retail price of milk sold in the Capital has maintained a comparatively even keel during the depression, while the prices of all other foods have dropped precipitately to a point below the average prices for 1913.

The Washingtonian who buys his milk supply at the corner store or has it delivered to him each morning by the dealer pays 51 per cent more for the milk than was paid in 1913.

On the other hand, the same person may go to the corner grocer or butcher for his week's supply of food and when he has counted his expenditures for the day, he will find that his outlay is at least 3 per cent less than the weekly food cost him in 1913.

The chart which accompanies this article, which illustrates the trend of milk prices in Washington compared with the trend in the retail prices of other principal articles of food, shows the drop in all foods while the milk price remains relatively high.

From 1920 to 1928 the price of all foods bought in Washington stores decreased about 46 points, while the price of milk declined about 27 points. There was an upward trend in all food from 1928 to 1929, while the milk price remained about the same.

Milk Selling Throughout Country for Average of 10.1 Cents.

Then, beginning in 1929, the price of all foodstuffs began a steep decline, but milk sagged only slightly. From 1929 to April, 1931, general food prices dropped 30 points, while milk prices fell off only 8 points.

From April, 1931, to April, 1932, the milk price remained the same, that is, 14 cents a quart, which was 63 points higher than the price in 1913. Other

VENUE CHANGE DUE IN CHACO PARLEYS

Negotiations Likely Will Be Transferred From Here to Rio de Janeiro.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

The United States is about to transfer its active good offices in settling the Chaco controversy, it was learned authoritatively here last night. A proposal has been made to the chief interested countries of Latin America to decide on another neutral capital to settle the complicated question and it is believed that Rio de Janeiro will eventually be the center of the new peace negotiations to end the virtual state of war existing between Bolivia and Paraguay.

Assistant Secretary of State Francis White, who has been closely associated with the peacemaking initiatives of the commission of neutrals, has invited the members of his commission to meet in the Department of State this morning and he will then propose this international change of venue.

An informal step in this direction was taken when Mr. White conferred with Argentine Ambassadors Le Breton and Espil on Saturday with regard to the Chaco. He also sounded out the Chilean government through Benjamin Cohen, charge d'affaires here and made an informal demarche to the Paraguayan and Bolivian legations here at the same time.

This does not mean that the American Government in washing its hands of the Chaco affair. On the Four Nations Announce They Will Stay on Gold

Basel, Switzerland, May 7 (A.P.).—An intention to maintain the gold standard was reaffirmed today by representatives of France, Germany, Holland and Switzerland at a session of directors of the World Bank for International Settlements preliminary to the annual meeting tomorrow.

Proposals to turn the bank into a clearing house for gold were considered.

President Enjoys Spin to Rockville

(Associated Press.)

President Roosevelt enjoyed a 40-mile automobile ride late yesterday that took him beyond Rockville, Md., and back. As usual, the President used an open car. A bright sun took some of the chill out of a crisp wind.

Mr. Roosevelt had with him Miss Mary Cushing, a sister of Mrs. James Roosevelt, jr., and Philip Coniff, of Boston, who are house guests, and Miss Grace Tully, a secretary.

Sitting in the back seat the President was recognized by many of the hundreds of Sunday afternoon motorists along the way. Richard Jervis, chief of the White House Secret Service, also was in the car, which was followed by a Secret Service car. The trip lasted for an hour and a half.

Two of Ship's Crew Rescued in Arctic

Oslo, Norway, May 7 (U.P.).—The death of 23 members of the crew in the sinking of the Russian icebreaker Rousian off the South Cape of the Island of West Spitzbergen in the Arctic Ocean was revealed tonight.

The Norwegian sealer, Ringsel, arrived at Tromsoe in northern Norway with two living and one dead member of the Rousian's crew. They had been found on drifting ice. The rescued men claimed that the captain of the icebreaker shot himself before the vessel sank.

The Rousian had sent out a final message, "Good-by, sinking," which was caught by radio stations. Tromsoe is approximately 500 miles south of the South Cape on west Spitsbergen.

Resigns Post

Amelia Earhart Quits as Aeronautic Group's Vice President.

The administration of the National Aeronautic Association was dealt a severe blow last night when Amelia Earhart Putnam, America's most outstanding woman flier, announced in New York that she was resigning her post as vice president of the body because she finds herself "at variance with the views of those that dominate the organization."

The N. A. A., the American representative of the Federal Aeronautique Internationale, was formed originally for the maintenance of aviation records and performances.

Former Senator Hiram Bingham is president of the body and has been active in its administration. He could not be reached last night and other members of the executive committee of the N. A. A. refused to comment on Mrs. Putnam's resignation.

Mrs. Putnam was a member of the contest committee as well as serving as vice president.

In making her announcement Mrs. Putnam said:

ROOSEVELT READY FOR GERMAN TALKS

Congress Group Opposes Revision or Delay of War Debt Paying.

(Associated Press.)

Freshly assured of Italian and Argentine cooperation, President Roosevelt turned last night toward the emissaries of Germany, Mexico and China, determined to press ahead in the face of mounting obstacles to clear the way for the world economic conference at London five weeks hence.

The war debts issue, always loaded with political dynamite, approached a critical stage with one group of Democratic congressional leaders asserting Congress is dead against revision or postponements, and with European nations making no move to pay their millions due June 15, three days after the London conference meets.

Great Britain still held back yesterday on the President's proposal

Davis to Persist On Tariff Truce

London, May 7 (A.P.).—Norman H. Davis today prepared to remain in London until he and the British government come to terms on President Roosevelt's proposal for a tariff truce.

The special American Ambassador has no appointments for Monday, but an attempt was being made on his behalf to schedule an early meeting with Walter Runciman, president of the British Board of Trade, in whose special charge tariff matters have been placed.

It is generally recognized that Mr. Davis' attempts to beat down Mr. Runciman's opposition to the armistice may not be an easy task, for the British government recently has made new trade agreements with several European countries.

Police Interrupt Raid To Wait on Customers

Oklahoma City, May 7 (A.P.).—Raiding a palatial colonial home on the outskirts of the city, county officers put away their pistols and played at bartending long enough to take orders from a score of patrons for cocktails, mint juleps and beer.

Then they hustled R. H. Tripp and his wife, their son, C. G. Tripp, and two Negro servants off to headquarters and charged them with operating a public nuisance. The customers were not arrested.

PLAN OF LUMP SUM REPORTED AT PARIS

Attache Here Said to Have Cabled U. S. Suggestion for Debt Settling.

Paris, May 7 (U.P.).—A new American plan for a final lump sum payment to end the French war debt to the United States has been cabled to Finance Minister Georges Bonnet by Emmanuel Monick, French financial attache in America, it was learned tonight.

French sources said the plan was "entirely informal," and regarded it as an effort to sound out French opinion on such a move.

The plan envisages abolition of the principal and interest payments under the Mellon-Berenger debt settlement signed in 1926. It would substitute one final payment consisting of 30 per cent in cash and the rest in marketable bonds.

Monick's cable was not clear regarding the total lump sum to be paid in settling the French war debt, the officials said, and Bonnet, after consulting with Premier Edouard Daladier, requested clarification.

However, it was rumored that the United States plan indicated that a sum of 45,000,000,000 francs (about $2,132,000,000 at current exchange), would be acceptable. This is less than half the principal due under the Mellon-Berenger agreement.

The United States was said to have suggested that 25 per cent of the total be paid in gold bars, 5 per cent in silver and the remainder in certificates. The certificates would be deposited by France to the United States' account in the Bank of Inter-

Fire Hits Important Port in Philippines

Manila, May 7 (A.P.).—Fire razed the business center of the important shipping town of Legaspi early today, destroying eight stores. There were no casualties. Damage was estimated by the provincial commander of the Philippine constabulary to total at least $150,000.

Legaspi, capital of Albay Province on the southern part of this island, is the third largest city in the Philippines, with a population at the last census of 53,205.

Pilot and Student Die In Glendale Air Crash

DRIVE IS BEGUN TO SAVE RAISED SALARY SCALES

Employes and Congress Members to Confer Today on Steps.

A determined effort to preserve the present salaries of Federal employes increased since June 30, 1932, will be made by Senator Park Trammell, of Florida, and a delegation of Federal employes during a conference today with Representative Clifton A. Woodrum, of Virginia, chairman of the subcommittee on appropriations.

Armed with a statement from the Civil Service Commission denouncing section 4 of the bill on the grounds that employes who have received increased pay were justly entitled to same, the delegation will move the clause be stricken from the bill at a meeting of the House Appropriations Committee before the bill makes its scheduled appearance on the floor of the House.

Section 4 provides that no part of the money appropriated by the bill or previous bills shall be used to pay any increase in salaries by reason of the reallocation of positions of employes to higher grades.

McCarl Bars Refunds.

The delegation will contend that Section 4 remains retroactive and that employes who have received a higher compensation than they received prior to last June 30 will be forced to return to the Government the difference between their former salary and that which they now receive.

However, it was learned upon high authority last night that Comptroller General J. R. McCarl has ruled that in the event the bill is passed, employes will not be required to refund the amount of any increases heretofore paid them under such reallocations, though they will be reduced to their former pay levels.

Civil Service Opinion.

The delegation will be further armed with a report from the Civil Service Commission saying that the reallocations, prior to October 1, 1932, have had the following salary effect: Total increases, $35,860; total decreases, $14,620; net effect, $21,240.

The Civil Service Commission report charges that "to suspend the effect of the allocation process will inevitably result in a reestablishment of the difficulties of salary administration, the same injustices, the same inequalities in pay for the same work, and the same [illegible] of relationship between work done and pay received, as gave rise in the first place to the action by Congress in passing the classification act of 1923 so as to prevent such conditions in the future."

The "net effect" or savings to the Government, $21,240, represents about one-fiftieth of 1 per cent of the total pay roll, $94,727,942, for the departmental service for the same period, the report said.

It further contends that "Judging from the experience of the past year,

Gandhi Starts Fast Today; American Girl Is Involved

Doctors Dubious About Ability to Survive 3 Weeks; Miss Cook's Confession of "Life of Untruth" Partly Inspired Mahatma's Determination.

Poona, India, May 7 (U.P.).—The Mahatma M. K. Gandhi calmly prepared tonight to start a 21-day fast tomorrow noon.

Medical men who have examined Gandhi said he is already undernourished from his diet of orange juice and goat's milk and can not expect to live for three weeks without food. He weighs 99 pounds, his average for some months, and insisted he felt in good health and able to stand the ordeal.

He repeatedly remarked: "I'll give a pleasant disappointment to everyone who expects my fast to kill me."

With that grim humor, the little leader, saint to millions of people in India, set about preparing himself against the abject condition of the "untouchables" in India under the caste system among the Hindus. He hopes to gain equality, socially and otherwise, for these 60,000,000 persons regarded for centuries as "untouchable."

"Aren't you afraid you'll die if you don't eat?" Gandhi was asked. He shook his head, and with a toothless grin repeated his stock answer:

"If God inspired my fast, he is bound to preserve me. I do not want to die."

Gandhi will remain alone and silent. He will not receive visitors.

"I intend to grant no interviews and to receive no visitors," he said. "I have wasted too much energy in that manner in previous fasts. I have no intention of doing so this time."

Gandhi revealed his "purification" fast was at least partly inspired by his disapproval of the life of an American disciple, Nila Cram

Roosevelt Describes Plan for Partnership Of U. S. and Industry

Text of President's Talk Reviewing Recent Events

Here is the full text of President Roosevelt's talk last night at the White House:

On a Sunday night a week after my inauguration I used the radio to tell you about the banking crisis and the measures we were taking to meet it. I think that in that way I made clear to the country various facts that might otherwise have been misunderstood, and, in general, provided a means of understanding which did much to restore confidence.

Tonight, eight weeks later, I come for the second time to give you my report—in the same spirit and by the same means to tell you about what we have been doing and what we are planning to do.

Two months ago we were facing serious problems. The country was dying by inches. It was dying because trade and commerce had declined to dangerously low levels; prices for basic commodities were such as to destroy the value of the assets of national institutions, such as banks, savings banks, insurance companies and others. These institutions, because of their great needs, were foreclosing mortgages, calling loans, refusing credit. Thus there was actually in process of destruction the property of millions of people who had borrowed money on that property in terms of dollars, which had had an entirely different value from the level of March, 1933. That situation in that crisis did not call for any complicated consideration of economic panaceas or fancy plans.

M'MATH ASKS BUCK GET HEAVY PENALTY

Father Favors Light Term for Elder Brother of Kidnaper.

Harwichport, Mass., May 7 (U.P.).—Neil C. McMath, father of Margaret McMath, issued the following statement tonight concerning Kenneth Buck, confessed kidnaper of the girl, and Cyril Buck, his brother, who acted as intermediary in the ransom negotiations:

"I hope that Kenneth will be treated severely and that Cyril will be given every consideration and that he will be treated lightly."

Harwichport, Mass., May 7 (A.P.).—Kenneth Buck, 28-year-old kidnaper of Margaret "Peggy" McMath, today reenacted the crime for which he and his brother Cyril, 41, were arrested yesterday.

As he showed detectives how he planned and carried out the abduction of the child, other officers at the Barnstable County Jail guarded closely the $60,000 in ransom money recovered from Buck's home and prosecuting officials prepared to bring the two into court tomorrow.

Kenneth will face a charge of kidnaping and his brother, confessed go-between in the negotiations that led to the payment of the ransom and the subsequent recovery of the child kidnaped three days before, will answer to a charge of extortion. They will be arraigned in district court at Provincetown, on the tip of Cape Cod, at 11 a. m. tomorrow.

Lima Officials Procure Sanchez Cerro Plot Data

Lima, Peru, May 7 (A.P.).—It was learned from reliable sources today that authorities believe themselves in possession of all data as to how and by whom the assassination of President Luis M. Sanchez Cerro was planned and organized last week.

Airplane Wrecked As Controls Jam

Leeds, N. Y., May 7 (A.P.).—An airplane with jammed controls hurtled down from the sky at Spooky Hollow in the Catskill Mountains late today, dashed its way through 300 feet of treetops and was wrecked, bringing injuries to its three occupants.

Henry E. Lendke, 29, of Cairo, the pilot, said he was unable to right the plane after a bank, due probably to the heel of a shoe of one of his two passengers having been caught in the control mechanism.

Injured with Lendke, whose jaw and knee were dislocated, were Miss Helen Zaldo, 23, of New York City, and Patrick Foley, 27, who, State police said, was believed to be a physician attached to the staff of a New York City hospital.

Manchukuo Agent Shot In Hotel at Shanghai

Shanghai, China, May 7 (A.P.).—The fashionable Wagonlits Hotel, in the heart of the legation quarter, was the scene of an attempted political assassination today when two Chinese shot a man believed to be an agent of the Manchukuo government.

The victim, registered as Chang Shih-Heng, was perhaps fatally wounded. Police said they found papers in his room indicating he was connected with the Manchukuo government.

KILLER FORCES GIRL TO BE EXECUTIONER

Child Slays Murderer of Father at His Own Menacing Request.

Elgin, Ill., May 7 (A.P.).—Crazed by drink, Oliver Day, 48, early today shot and killed his employer, John Schmitz, 56, prominent farmer, and then forced Schmitz's 17-year-old daughter to kill him after he made an unsuccessful attempt to take her life.

Day, for 15 years an employe on the Schmitz farm at Plato Center, routed the family from bed soon after midnight with shouts, "I'm going to kill you all."

He crashed into Mr. and Mrs. Schmitz's bedroom and fired a shotgun charge into Schmitz's leg. Despite the wound, Schmitz grappled with Day, attempting to disarm him. Then Day fired again, the slugs striking Schmitz in the neck.

Mrs. Schmitz, clad only in a night dress, fled to the nearby home of a married daughter to notify authorities. While she was gone, Day went into the room where Schmitz's daughter, Loretta, 17, and her brother, John, 11, slept.

He forced Loretta into his bedroom, pointed the gun at her and pulled

Bay Ferry Crippled By $3,000,000 Blaze

Oakland, Calif., May 7 (A.P.).—The Key route interurban-ferry terminal, 5 miles out in San Francisco Bay, at the end of 3 miles of open trestle, was crippled by a $3,000,000 fire last night. Company officials who surveyed the damage today, however, said service would be resumed Tuesday for the system's 15,000 daily commuters.

Alfred J. Lundborg, president of the company, said the $3,000,000 damage figure included the total loss of the last million-dollar ferryboat Peralta, which was caught by the rapidly spreading flames before she could be unmoored, and $750,000 damage to rolling stock caught on the pier.

No one, officials said late today, was injured in the fire or the fight against it.

Indicates Relaxed Trust Laws to Help Trade.

BETTER LABOR STATUS GOAL

(Associated Press.)

President Roosevelt in an exposition of his emergency policies to the Nation last night projected a "partnership" between the Government and industry to improve wages, hours of work and control of production.

Seated at a desk in the oval reception room on the ground floor of the White House, the confident President related to the country what he has done and why, and what he proposes to do to help conditions which he reported to be "a little better than they were two months ago."

He indicated a relaxation of the antitrust laws, declaring that while their "purpose must be continued" they were not intended "to encourage the kind of unfair competition that results in long hours, starvation wages and overproduction."

Using Inflation Power.

He asserted that the authority to control inflation about to be given him by Congress "will be used when, as, and if it may be necessary to accomplish the purpose."

That purpose, he said, was the raising of commodity prices and an expansion of credit to permit borrowers to repay in "the same kind of dollar which they borrowed."

"We do not seek," he said, "to let them get such a cheap dollar that they will be able to pay back a great deal less than they borrowed. In other words we seek to correct a wrong and not to create another wrong in the opposite direction. That is why powers are being given to the administration to provide, if necessary, for an enlargement of credit, in order to correct the existing wrong."

As for a supervision of agriculture about to be given him by Congress he said "the extent of its use will depend entirely upon what the future has in store."

Gold Orders Explained.

Regarding the gold embargo and the recent refusal to make gold payments on Government bonds, he said a series of conditions arose recently which might have meant a drain on the gold supply by foreign countries and a resulting flight of American capital out of the country.

"Gold, and to a partial extent, silver," he declared, "are perfectly good bases for currency, and that is why

Thugs Attack Man; Take Second's Car

Hagerstown, Md., May 7 (A.P.).—Two robbers attacked the son of a deputy sheriff here tonight and then stole an automobile belonging to George Geotz, of Washington, and escaped on the National Pike west. The thugs approached Robert Renner, son of Deputy Sheriff Richard Renner, at a street corner, and in an apparent robbery attempt beat him over the head with a blunt instrument.

Renner's cries for help evidently frightened the attackers and they proceeded to another section of Hagertown, where they forced Emory Kline, at pistol point, to drive them to a night club on the western edge of town.

There they took the parked automobile of Geotz and proceeded westward on the National Pike. Police here flashed a description of the pair and the car to other towns on the pike.

CONGRESS TO RUSH 4 VITAL MEASURES

Early Action Seen on Farm Relief, Wagner, Securities and Shoals Bills.

(Associated Press.)

Congress plans to rush to the White House before the week ends four highly important administration emergency proposals, including the big farm relief-inflation bill, and in return is set to receive President Roosevelt's recommendations for a gigantic public works-employment program, reciprocal tariff and possibly war debt legislation.

A draft of the public works program, approved by a special Cabinet committee, is on the President's desk awaiting his approval.

It provides for the creation of a public works administrator, who would apportion half of the total for such projects, including naval construction, with the remainder to be allotted to State and municipal governments.

Swanson for Fleet Building.

The magnitude of the program has yet to be decided upon, but in authoritative sources it is estimated at between $1,500,000,000 and $2,000,000,000, with an initial bond issue of $500,000,000.

Secretary Swanson has recommended that under the measure there be included 32 war vessels—an aircraft carrier, destroyers, submarines and airplanes. Under the present language of the proposal, however, this would be optional with the Chief Executive.

The President's reciprocal tariff proposal, authorizing him to reduce, but not increase, present duties by 50 per cent, is to follow the public works message. He wants this power in connection with the economic conference.

Busy Week Ahead.

What form, if any, the debt proposition will take, has not been decided upon by the Chief Executive, in view of the conflict of opinion in congressional and administrative circles on the subject.

Democratic leaders on Capitol Hill, for their part, have laid plans for making this the banner period to date of the special session. They hope to make ready for the law books as many major measures as thus far have been enacted since March 4.

Besides the farm relief-inflation bill, Congress aims to put the finishing legislative touches to the $500,000,000 Wagner-Lewis relief, the Norris Muscle Shoals-Tennessee basin development, and the Raybburn securities regulation measures.

Dewey Urges Roosevelt To Levy New Land Tax

(Associated Press.)

Prof. John Dewey, president of the Peoples' Lobby, said yesterday he had asked President Roosevelt to recommend that "Congress impose an annual tax of at least 1 per cent upon the full assessed value of all taxable land in the United States, exclusive of subsoil wealth, or improvements on and in land."

Such a tax, Dewey said, would prevent much speculation in farm and city land, reduce rents for farms and tenements, modify such rapid increase in the cost of living as any appreciable inflation will induce, and yield a revenue of between $850,000,000 and $900,000,000 to the Federal Government, thereby making possible the repeal of "most burdensome consumption taxes."

national Settlements at Basle, Switzerland, and America could market them gradually, as she sees fit.

Officials were reluctant to discuss the purported plan, but two main objections are reported:

1—The plan fails to state whether the defaulted December payment would be included in the lump sum settlement.

2—It presupposes that the French government controls the Bank of France gold reserves.

Herriot-Daladier Split.

They pointed out that the government would have difficulty in raising sufficient gold for the lump payment under these conditions. Furthermore, they feared that huge gold exports now might endanger the franc, which is still on the gold standard.

This purported American plan followed rumors that Edouard Herriot, head of the recent French Economic Mission to America, and Premier Edouard Daladier were on the verge of a break over Herriot's war debts stand.

A widening schism is reported between Herriot and Daladier over war debts, with the cabinet and premier apparently declining to risk overthrow by seeking to force the Chamber of Deputies to approve payment of the overdue December annuity.

The break was reported near, despite congratulatory and optimistic communiques issued following Herriot's full report to Daladier on his conversations with President Roosevelt.

Herriot reported frankly that in his opinion, as a result of his talks with Mr. Roosevelt, France should pay the defaulted annuity of some $19,800,000, and allow the President to obtain full powers from Congress for a definite debts settlement. He did not suggest payment of the June instalment.

(Associated Press.)

The French Embassy stated emphatically yesterday that no suggestion for a lump sum settlement of the French war debt to the United States had been received by the embassy here for transmission to the Paris government.

Jules Henry, counselor of the French Embassy, said the financial attache and other French officials are sending many messages daily to the Paris government, but have transmitted no notes making proposals for war debt settlement by payment of a lump sum as had been reported in Paris.

Text of President Roosevelt's Talk Reviewing Events Since Inauguration

we were faced by a condition and not a theory.

There were just two alternatives: The first was to allow the foreclosures to continue, credit to be withheld and money to go into hiding, and thus forcing liquidation and bankruptcy of banks, railroad and insurance companies and a recapitalizing of all business and all property on a lower level. This alternative meant a continuation of what is loosely called "deflation," the net result of which would have been extraordinary hardship on all property owners and, incidentally, extraordinary hardships on all persons working for wages through an increase in unemployment and a further reduction of the wage scale.

Social and Economic Effects of Course.

It is easy to see that the result of this course would have not only economic effects of a various serious nature, but social results that might bring incalculable harm. Even before I was inaugurated I came to the conclusion that such a policy was too much to ask the American people to bear. It involved not only a further loss of homes, farms, savings and wages, but also a loss of spiritual values—the loss of that sense of security for the present and the future so necessary to the peace and contentment of the individual and of his family. When you destroy these things you will find it difficult to establish confidence of any sort in the future. It was clear that mere appeals from Washington for confidence and the mere lending of more money to shaky institutions could not stop this downward course.

A prompt program applied as quickly as possible seemed to me not only justified but imperative to our national security. The Congress, and when I say Congress I mean the members of both political parties, fully understood this and gave me generous and intelligent support. The members of Congress realized that the methods of normal times had to be replaced in the emergency by measures which were suited to the serious and pressing requirements of the moment. There was no actual surrender of power. Congress still retained its constitutional authority and no one has the slightest desire to change the balance of these powers. The function of Congress is to decide what has to be done and to select the appropriate agency to carry out its will. This policy it has strictly adhered to. The only thing that has been happening has been to designate the President as the agency to carry out certain of the purposes of the Congress. This was constitutional and in keeping with the past American tradition.

The legislation which has been passed or in the process of enactment can properly be considered as part of a well-grounded plan.

Reforestation Project As Aid to Jobless.

First, we are giving opportunity of employment to one-quarter of a million of the unemployed, especially the young men who have dependents, to go into the forestry and flood prevention work. This is a big task, because it means feeding, clothing and caring for nearly twice as many men as we have in the regular Army itself. In creating this civilian conservation corps we are killing two birds with one stone. We are clearly enhancing the value of our natural resources and, second, we are relieving an appreciable amount of actual distress. This great group of men have entered upon their work on a purely voluntary basis, no military training is involved and we are conserving not only our natural resources but our human resources. One of the great values to this work is the fact that it is direct and requires the intervention of very little machinery.

Second, I have requested the Congress and have secured action upon a proposal to put the great properties owned by our Government at Muscle Shoals to work after long years of wasteful inaction, and with this a broad plan for the improvement of a vast area in the Tennessee Valley. It will add to the comfort and happiness of hundreds of thousands of people and the incidental benefits will reach the entire Nation.

Next, the Congress is about to pass legislation that will greatly ease the mortgage distress among the farmers and the home owners of the Nation by providing for the easing of the burden of debt now bearing so heavily upon millions of our people.

Our next step in seeking immediate relief is a grant of half a billion dollars to help the States, counties and municipalities in their duty to care for those who need direct and immediate relief.

The Congress also passed legislation authorizing the sale of beer in such States as desired. This has already resulted in considerable reemployment and, incidentally, has provided much-needed tax revenue.

Public Works Urged To Aid Employment.

We are planning to ask the Congress for legislation to enable the Government to undertake public works, thus stimulating directly and indirectly the employment of many others in well-considered projects.

Further legislation has been taken up which goes much more fundamentally into our economic problems. The farm relief bill seeks by the use of several methods, alone or together, to bring about an increased return to farmers for their major farm products, seeking at the same time to prevent in the days to come disastrous overproduction which so often in the past has kept farm commodity prices far below a reasonable return. This measure provides wide powers for emergencies. The extent of its use will depend entirely upon what the future has in store.

Well-considered and conservative measures will likewise be proposed which will attempt to give to the industrial workers of the country a more fair wage return, prevent cutthroat competition and unduly long hours for labor and, at the same time, to encourage each industry to prevent overproduction.

Our railroad bill falls into the same class because it seeks to provide and make definite planning by the railroads themselves, with the assistance of the Government, to eliminate the duplication and waste that is now resulting in railroad receiverships and continuing operating deficits.

I am certain that the people of this country understand and approve the broad purposes behind these new governmental policies relating to agriculture and industry and transportation. We found ourselves faced with more agricultural products than we could possibly consume ourselves and surpluses which other nations did not have the cash to buy from us except at prices ruinously low. We have found our factories able to turn out more goods than we could possibly consume, and at the same time we were faced with a falling export demand.

Cause of Difficulty In Lack of Planning.

We found ourselves with more facilities to transport goods and crops than there were goods and crops to be transported. All of this has been caused in large part by a complete lack of planning and a complete failure to understand the danger signals that have been flying ever since the close of the World War. The people of this country have been erroneously encouraged to believe that they could keep on increasing the output of farm and factory indefinitely and that some magician would find ways and means for that increased output to be consumed with reasonable profit to the producer.

Today we have reason to believe that things are a little better than they were two months ago. Industry has picked up, railroads are carrying more freight, farm prices are better, but I am not going to indulge in issuing proclamations of over enthusiastic assurance.

We can not bally-ho ourselves back to prosperity. I am going to be honest at all times with the people of the country.

I do not want the people of this country to take the foolish course of letting this improvement come back on another speculative wave. I do not want the people to believe that because of unjustified optimism we can resume the ruinous practice of increasing our crop output, and our factory output in the hope that a kind Providence will find buyers at high prices. Such a course may bring us immediate and false prosperity, but it will be the kind of prosperity that will lead us into another tailspin.

It is wholy wrong to call the measures that we have taken Government control of farming, control of industry, and control of transportation. It is rather a partnership between Government and farming and, industry and transportation, not partnership in profits, for the profits would still go to the citizens, but rather a partnership in planning and partnership to see that the plans are carried out.

Government's Right To Regulate Trade.

Let me illustrate with an example. Take the cotton goods industry. It is probably true that 90 per cent of the cotton manufacturers would agree to eliminate starvation wages, would agree to stop long hours of employment, would agree to stop child labor, would agree to prevent an overproduction that would result in unsalable surpluses.

But what good is such an agreement if the other 10 per cent of cotton manufacturers pay starvation wages, require long hours, employ children in their mills and turn out burdensome surpluses?

The unfair 10 per cent could produce goods so cheaply that the fair 90 per cent would be compelled to meet the unfair conditions. Here is where government comes in. Government ought to have the right and will have the right, after surveying and planning for an industry, to prevent, with the assistance of the overwhelming majority of that industry, unfair practice and to enforce this agreement by the authority of government.

The so-called antitrust laws were intended to prevent creation of monopolies and to forbid unreasonable profits to those monopolies. That purpose of the antitrust laws must be continued, but these laws were never intended to encourage the kind of unfair competition that results in long hours, starvation wages and overproduction.

The same principle applies to farm products and to transportation and every other field of organized private industry.

We are working toward a definite goal, which is to prevent the return of conditions which came very close to destroying what we call modern civilization. The actual accomplishment of our purpose can not be attained in a day. Our policies are wholly within purposes for which our American constitutional government was established 150 years ago.

Outlines His Policy In Federal Finance.

I know that the people of this country will understand this and will also understand the spirit in which we are undertaking this policy. I do not deny that we may make mistakes of procedure as we carry out the policy. I have no expectation of making a hit every time I come to bat.

"What I seek is the highest possible batting average, not only for myself but for the team. Theodore Roosevelt once said to me: 'If I can be right 75 per cent of the time I shall come up to the fullest measure of my hopes.'"

Asserting that two months ago "the country was dying by inches," Mr. Roosevelt said that today "we have reason to believe" that things are better.

Sees Improving Trade.

"Industry has picked up," he said, "railroads are carrying more freight, farm prices are better, but I am not going to indulge in issuing proclamations of over-enthusiastic assurance. We can not ballyhoo ourselves back to prosperity.

"I am going to be honest at all times with the people of the country. I do not want the people of this country to take the foolish course of letting this improvement come back on another speculative wave.

"I do not want the people to believe that because of unjustified optimism we can resume the ruinous practice of increasing our crop output and our factory output in the hope that a kind Providence will find buyers at high prices. Such a course may bring us immediate and false prosperity but it will be the kind of prosperity that will lead us into another tailspin."

The President made no reference in his talk to the proposed banking reform legislation nor to war debts. Nor did he refer to the disputed 30-hour work week bill.

"Partnership" Program.

As for his policies, he said it was "wholly wrong" to describe them as control of industry, agriculture and railroads, asserting they were "rather a partnership in planning and a partnership to see that the plans are carried out."

As for the gold embargo and the country's departure from the gold standard, he said a situation developed three weeks ago resulting in a drain on the national gold supply by foreign countries and a resulting threatened flight of American capital from the country.

Asserting this might have resulted in a panic and the complete stoppage of the wheels of industry and that gold is required as a basis for currency, he declared:

"I decided not to let any of the gold now in the country get out of it."

"The administration has the definite objective," he explained, "of raising commodity prices to such an extent that those who have borrowed money will, on the average, be able to repay that money in the same kind of dollar which they borrowed. We do not seek to let them get such a cheap dollar that they will be able to pay back a great deal less than they borrowed.

"In other words, we seek to correct a wrong and not to create another wrong in the opposite direction. That is why powers are being given to the administration to provide, if necessary, for an enlargement of credit, in order to correct the existing wrong. These powers will be used, when, as, and if it may be necessary to accomplish the purpose."

U. S. Railroads' Profit Shows Drop for 1933

(Associated Press.)

The Bureau of Railway Economics announced yesterday that Class 1 railroads of the United States had a net railway operating income of $33,909,385 for the first three months of 1933.

This, the bureau continued, would represent a return of .67 per cent on property investments. In the first three months of 1932 their net railway operating income was $67,478,083, or 1.39 per cent of their property investment.

LINDBERGHS ARE DUE HERE IN MEANS CASE

Father Hurney, Star Witness, May Appear in Court in Wheel Chair.

Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh are expected to arrive in the Capital today to help write a sequel to the tragic kidnaping and murder of his son by testifying in the District Supreme Court in the trial of Gaston B. Means and Norman T. Whitaker, who are charged with conspiring to defraud Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean of $35,000 on the alleged false representation that they could locate the Lindbergh baby.

The Lindberghs were in Columbus, Ohio, last night, after they had spent Saturday night aground in the Texas panhandle during a sandstorm. The famous flier volunteered to testify in the trial of the two alleged conspirators, which is scheduled to open today before Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue.

Rev. Hurney to Testify.

The Rev. Francis J. Hurney, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church and one of the star witnesses in the trial, probably will be brought to court in a wheel chair. He is in Providence Hospital, where he is recovering from a minor operation. Father Hurney was present at most of the negotiations between Mrs. McLean and the two alleged conspirators.

Means, a former Department of Justice agent, already has been convicted and sentenced to 15 years in prison on charges of having defrauded Mrs. McLean of 104,000 as a result of his activities in seeking to restore the Lindbergh baby to his parents.

Says He Posed as Fox.

When Means went to trial, Whitaker was at large. Mrs. MacLean testified that Whitaker had been identified to her by Means as the "chief kidnaper," who was to leave the baby at Aiken, S. C., and later at El Paso, Tex. Whitaker posed to her as "The Fox" and agent "No. 19."

The two men are charged with having attempted to have Mrs. McLean give them $35,000 in return for $49,000 of the $50,000 supposed to have been paid by Dr. John F. Condon, ("Jafsie"), to the kidnappers for the return of the baby.

Claimed Bills Marked.

"The Fox" allegedly told Mrs. McLean that his gang had disposed of $1,000 of the ransom money and then learned that the bills could be identified. He allegedly demanded the $35,000 before the child would be given up.

District Attorney Leo A. Rover will attempt to prove that the Lindbergh baby was dead during part of the time when the two were negotiating with Mrs. McLean. The trial is expected to last a week.

So that there might be no slip-up, Col. Lindbergh was asked to testify as to the identity of his murdered child, who was found dead on May 12, after he had been kidnaped from his cradle on March 1. It was thought at first that Betty Gow, the baby's nurse, could take the witness stand, but she fainted before she could identify the baby.

Sheridan-Booth Group Retakes Teamster Helm

Chicago, May 7 (A.P.).—After a battle of rival factions in which fist fights were numerous but no guns flashed, the Sheridan-Booth group returned to control of the turbulent Chicago Teamsters and Hikers Union today.

Four men suffered cracked heads in the fighting which occurred when George Roy Baker, who took possession of the union offices last week after ousting John Sheridan, jr., president, and Milton Booth, treasurer, attempted to rally his supporters at old union headquarters.

DARROW TO DEFEND IOWA GROUP IF ABLE

Health to Determine Action of Famous Attorney in Farm Strike Case.

Chicago, May 7 (A.P.).—Health permitting, Clarence Darrow, veteran of many of the Nation's most important legal tilts, will defend the Iowa farmers held by the military there as members of a mob that maltreated District Judge C. C. Bradley at Le Mars.

"I'll gladly participate in the trial if I have the strength," Darrow said, after a conference with Milo Reno, Des Moines, president of the National Farmers Holiday Association. "Just what I shall do, I don't know as yet."

Reno made a hurried trip here by automobile to confer with Darrow and to address the Chicago Federation of Labor and then returned to Iowa. Darrow had little comment upon the refusal of Judge William Faville, former member of the Iowa Supreme Court bench, to participate in the case. Faville flatly refused and criticized the farmers for the attack upon the judiciary.

Expresses No Surprise.

"I rather expected that," Darrow said.

He said he did not plan to attend the preliminary hearings for the farmers and prophesied a speedy return of civil court authority in the Iowa counties under military rule.

Le Mars today concerned itself mainly with the question: What will the farm strike bring?

Small groups clustered at street corners to discuss the nation-wide strike called May 13 by Reno's organization. The prisoners accused of inciting riots in efforts to stop mortgage sales, huddled in their barbed wire bull pen and heard the chaplain preach on "Sowing Wild Oats."

The chaplain, the Rev. C. H. Vanmetre, branded violence as sowing "wild oats" in efforts to solve economic difficulties. He appealed for an "about face" to law and order and prayed for "Divine help in ... solution of our economic problems."

Suspect Quiz Continues.

Meanwhile the military court of inquiry continued questioning suspects. Authorities said major charges would be brought against only six of the seven of the ringleaders and the others either would be freed or would face minor charges.

Ninety-four prisoners still were held at Le Mars today and 39 were imprisoned at Denison, 70 miles south of here and a scene of another farm riot.

Possibility that trials would be started this week was expressed by members of the military court. Denison likely will be the first to have civil courts restored.

Synagogue Convention For More Cooperation

New York, May 7 (A.P.).—Closer cooperation between members of synagogues and their rabbis in promoting a program of social justice was urged at a symposium today at the annual convention of the United Synagogue of America.

Louis J. Moss, president of the United Synagogue, said it was the rabbi's duty in times like the present to "be a leader in his community, making his voice heard at all times for social justice and civic righteousness." To that end he called for an "untrammeled" pulpit and the granting of complete freedom of expression to ministers.

Wife of Ohio Sheriff Prevents Prison Break

Warren, Ohio, May 7 (A.P.).—Mrs. Roy Hardman, wife of the Trumbull County sheriff, prevented a break from the county jail last night, Sheriff Hardman said today, when she gave an alarm after hearing prisoners sawing at the bars.

Five men were in the cell block from which the escape attempt was made, the sheriff said. A handful of saws was confiscated. Hardman said the five would be questioned in an effort to learn how the saws were obtained.

WALLACE SEEKING TO WIN CONSUMER

Amount of Processing Tax May Be Printed on Finished Product.

(Associated Press.)

To win cooperation of consumers in administration of the farm relief bill, Secretary Wallace has drafted a plan through which he aims to remove the projected processing taxes on farm commodities from the realm of possible profiteering.

It was learned yesterday that if processing taxes are levied on raw materials, the Agriculture Secretary intends to require that the price label on the finished product show exactly the amount represented by the tax.

Wallace is reported to be of the opinion that the price of raw materials represent such a small proportion of the cost of the finished product that consumers in many cases would be required to pay a very small amount if the tax method is adopted as a means of increasing the return to growers.

The method would be employed in the case of cotton goods, bread, pork and other basic commodities listed in the farm bill, unless Wallace is convinced that there will be no dispotsition to boost prices "in excess of the amount the tax justifies."

Wallace spent most of yesterday in the country, resting in preparation for taking his first steps in administering the bill on which congressional action is expected to be complete by midweek. He intends to get the measure in full operation within six weeks, and during that time expects to set a fast pace for his aids.

The direction his administration will take depends upon agreements reached at commodity meetings to be called without delay. At these gatherings the position of each basic crop will be examined and producers, processors, handlers, dealers and others asked to submit plans.

If assurances for a definite boost in prices for this year's marketing period is given, the power to levy processing taxes may not be exercised until next year, when Wallace expects to make greater use of his authority.

Veterans' Boycott Of Germany Starts

New York, May 7 (A.P.).—The veterans German boycott committee mailed several thousand letters to importers and merchants today asking a complete boycott of German manufactures.

Inscribed to "Friends of Justice," the letters set forth a four-fold purpose: "Buy nothing German, sell nothing German, use nothing German, give real and true facts as to German activities against Jews."

The boycott movement spread into other quarters. The League for Defense of Jewish Rights announced that, in addition to the veterans committee, six other organizations, of Jewish intent, will cooperate in the boycott conference called for next Sunday.

FARMERS' RECOVERY PUT FIRST BY CLAIR

Author of Relief Plan Says Adequate Rural Income Must Be Assured.

No move toward economic recovery can be realized until an adequate income is placed in the hands of the agricultural West and South to purchase the products of the industrial East, Francis J. Clair, author of the Clair plan for farm relief, declared yesterday in an interview with a Post reporter at the Hamilton Hotel.

Mr. Clair charged that the administration, in advancing the inflation program, has failed to understand that without a fair price being placed on agricultural raw products there can be no hope of recovery.

"The country," he pointed out, "is divided into two groups—the industrial East and the agricultural West and South. The industrial East produces dispensable things, such as automobiles and radios, whereas the huge agricultural section produces indispensable things—foodstuffs.

"The millions who produce wheat, cotton, wool, &c., are unable to purchase the industrial articles because they are receiving virtually nothing for their own products; and there can be no move forward until the millions the farmers were receiving back in 1929 are restored."

Price Fixing Proposed.

This can be achieved, Mr. Clair explained, through stabilization of the price of raw agricultural products. Under his plan, the Government would estimate the amount of wheat and cotton and other raw products needed in a year and then set the price commensurate with industrial products. Whatever surplus there might be could be used for world trade, without a set price.

The principles of Mr. Clair's plan constitute section three of the farm relief bill, he said. This plan has become known in the bill as the Norris-Simpson plan, being credited to Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, and John A. Simpson, president of the Farmer's Union. Mr. Clair declares that in reality it is his own plan, which he described in detail at the hearings of the Senate committee on agriculture and forestry.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry W. Wallace, in testifying before the committee, spoke favorably of the Clair plan, but expressed doubt it would be constitutional. Mr. Clair, however, asserts that lawyers have convinced him that it would be constitutional.

Criticizes Inflation Plan.

Mr. Clair is an engineer and president of the National League for Economic Stabilization. He spent more than two years making a survey of agricultural conditions in the West. His plan was greeted with enthusiasm when he described it to the farmers of Le Mars, Ia., early this year, he said.

In criticizing the inflation program, Mr. Clair observed that industrial products are to be boosted in price and raw agricultural products are to be left as they are. He contends that the agricultural products should be lifted in ratio with the industrial. It would be better, he stated, to change the weights and measures tables than to inflate the dollar.

Although he criticizes the administration program, Mr. Clair said that he is a strong Roosevelt man, that he believes all hope for recovery lies with President Roosevelt. But he doubts if the goal will be achieved as long as the plight of the farmers is ignored.

Jersey Reservists Praise MacArthur

Commendation of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff of the United States Army, for "his fearless stand in support of national defense" was expressed in resolutions adopted yesterday by the New Jersey Department of the Reserve Officers Association at its annual convention in Newark. It was learned here last night.

Gen. MacArthur was thanked for supporting the cause of national defense "with rare courage and clarity, opposing the proposed crippling reductions."

Copies of the resolutions will be sent to President Roosevelt and to the Secretary of War, it was announced.

Macon Flight Delayed Due to Bad Weather

Akron, Ohio, May 7 (A.P.).—The third trial cruise of the airship Macon, tentatively set for tomorrow morning, was postponed indefinitely today by Capt. Alger H. Dresel because of adverse weather conditions.

A 12-hour flight will be made as soon as weather conditions improve, Dresel said.

"PARTNERSHIP" PLANS BARED BY ROOSEVELT IN ADDRESS

I decided not to let any of the gold now in the country go out of it."

Addressing the people as "my friends," the President went over thoroughly the actions he has taken in his two months in the White House and emphasized that these had resulted in no surrender of power by Congress, but rather a delegation of himself as the agent of Congress to put an emergency program into effect.

"We are working toward a definite goal," the Chief Executive explained, "which is to prevent the return of conditions which came very close to destroying what we call modern civilization. LINDBERGHS SPEND NIGHT ON PLAINS IN SANDSTORM bergh said he hoped to cut southward into the wireless beacon, but the strength of the storm prevented.

Picking the most likely area available, Lindbergh dipped to a safe landing.

"I couldn't walk more than 100 yards from the ship without losing sight of it," he said.

Night fell with dust and sand whistling through the air. But the Lindberghs were ready for emergencies.

"We passed a very comfortable night," said the flier's wife.

The plane was equipped for sleeping and they had aboard a supply of food sufficient to last 30 days.

Unaware of Search.

The sleeping equipment included a mattress. This was unfolded and placed in the fuselage, the fuselage covering closed, and all was snug for the night. Equipment in the plane is so arranged there is plenty of room for the improvised bed.

Supper and breakfast were eaten at the grounded plane, far from human habitation. They shared the vast spaces with jackrabbits, coyotes and cattle.

With the storm subsiding, the couple took off about 9:30 a. m., Central standard time, for Kansas City, unaware that at least six planes were searching for them, that friends along the way had waited up all night for word and that communication wires were burdened with messages concerning their safety.

Rumors and official reports alike proved groundless, as Kansas City friends waited anxiously last night for the sound of their plane from the Southwest.

Reported Landing Untrue.

Air line officials received a host of telephone calls asking the whereabouts of the Lindbergs.

"Not a word, sorry," was the reply most of the night.

The report which gave greatest hope fell through early today.

It was the announcement of Transcontinental and Western Air offices, about 2 a. m., that the noted couple had landed unannounced at Otto Field, a Government intermediate landing place near Moriarty, N. Mex., at 6 p. m., Mountain time, for a visit with a friend of Lindbergh, a rancher named Howard. The Lindberghs, the report said, had taken off six hours later for the East without announcing their destination.

Hurried checks revealed no planes had landed near Moriarty, and no rancher in that vicinity was named Howard.

Maj. A. D. Smith, TWA manager at Albuquerque, entered a definite denial of the report shortly before the Lindberghs landed here.

Lindbergh said, "I do not know the man."

Maj. Smith directed the New Mexico search for the missing monoplane. He checked in vain to Amarillo, Tex.

Arrival Brings Relief.

Paul Richter, superintendent of the Western division of the TWA: Jack Frye, vice president in charge of operations, and pilots of the three regular ships flying the Texas route were others who hunted the couple from the air.

Mrs. Frye was among the many who waited at the municipal airport here until after dawn. She was to have been their hostess at her suburban home last night.

But faces worn by fatigue broke into smiles as the colonel's monoplane appeared on the horizon from the southwest, roared over the business district of the city and dipped down to the airport at the confluence of the Missouri River and the Kaw.

Plane Has No Wireless.

Hangar doors opened and the plane was taxied into shelter.

"I'm sorry anybody waited," Lindbergh said. He pointed out the area in which they landed ordinarily is not crossed by fliers.

His plane is not equipped with a wireless transmitter, which prevented him from notifying the air lines of his safety.

While mechanics checked the plane here, the Lindberghs went to the station to erase the dust of Texas and travel.

Lindbergh's flying outfit was an old business suit topped by goggles and a helmet. Mrs. Lindbergh wore a man's shirt and gray jodphurs.

SESSION TO RESUME IN SUPREME COURT

Rulings Expected in Most of Pending Cases as Term Nears End.

(Associated Press.)

Approaching the end of its present term on May 29, the Supreme Court will resume its sessions today with the expectation of handing down opinions in most of the 32 cases awaiting decision.

During the week the high tribunal will hear oral arguments in all cases which can be made ready for presentation at this term.

Among the more important cases awaiting decisions is the controversy as to whether Illinois and the Chicago sanitary district are complying with the court's decree in the Lake Michigan diversion cases.

Cases Awaiting Decision.

Other decisions expected concern the jurisdiction of the Federal Radio Commission to close two radio broadcasting stations in Chicago and give their wave length to a station at Gary, Ind.; the fight between New Orleans and Texas Gulf ports over railroad rates; the boundary dispute between Vermont and New Hampshire, and whether John "Jake the Barber" Factor must leave Chicago and go to England to answer charges arising out of an alleged $8,000,000 swindle there.

Still other cases involve the validity of the action of Circuit Judge Manton, at New York, in appointing receivers for the Manhattan and the Interborough Rapid Transit systems; whether the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe railroads can enjoin Attorney General La Prade, of Arizona, from enforcing that State's law regulating the number of cars in passenger and freight trains; the validity of the California law under which its railroad commission reduced gas rates at Los Angeles, and the validity of a Washington statute under which notice is served in suits against corporations not represented in that State.

Oral Arguments Due.

Among the cases down for oral argument during the week is one challenging the validity of an order by the Texas Railroad Commission, refusing permission to a corporation engaged in interstate commerce to operate its trucks over the State highway.

Others challenge a decision by Federal Judge Lowell, of Massachusetts, because of his instructions to the jury in a Harrison narcotic case, and present a fight by Anthony Volpe, of Chicago, to prevent his deportation to Italy.

The validity of gas rates at Lexington, Ky., is challenged in another, while the validity of a by-law of the American Tobacco Co. dividing net profits of the corporation above a specified amount among the president and five vice presidents of the company also is to be challenged.

Brebbia Named Wheat Delegate by Argentina

Buenos Aires, May 7 (A.P.).—The Argentine government today appointed Carlos Brebbia its permanent delegate to the International Institute of Agriculture in Rome and its representative to the Geneva wheat conference.

Brebbia was instructed to renew the Argentine proposal for the limitation of world wheat crops. He was a member of the League of Nations economic conference committee in 1926.

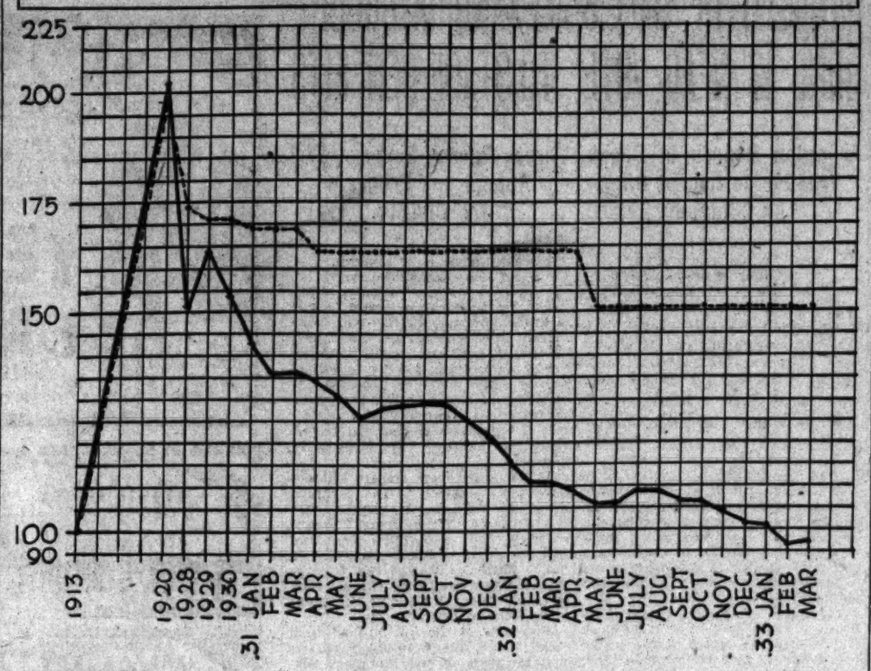
COMPARISON OF MILK AND FOOD PRICES



The dotted line in this chart shows the trend of retail milk prices in Washington from 1913 to March, 1933. The heavy lines show the trend in other food prices in Washington during the same period. The 1913 retail prices for milk and for other foods equal 100, and this figure is used as the basis of comparison.

CHILEAN FASCISTS DISPLAY STRENGTH

11,000 Parade Streets of Santiago as Planes Soar Overhead.

Santiago, Chile, May 7 (A.P.).—Eleven thousand fascists, members of the powerful, new National Milicia Republicana, paraded through down town streets here today while political leaders sought to solve a cabinet crisis created by the emergence of the organization.

A crowd estimated at more than 400,000 witnessed the first public display of the milicia's power. It is a civilian organization formed on military lines wth the avowed purpose of supporting a constitutional government and preventing de facto regimes in Chile.

A squadron of Fascist planes flew overhead as the units, unarmed, marched to tunes of two dozen bands and fife corps from the jockey club, through the vast boulevard Alameda, past the presidential palace where they saluted President Alessandri and Government leaders, and then on to the main reviewing center in the Plaza Armas.

The display of the milicia, which previously had been semisecret, left the capital almost gasping with surprise at the strength of the first potent civil law enforcement body since Diego Portables formed a civic guard 100 years ago.

It was because he failed in an attempt to dissuade the Fascist leaders from conducting the parade that Horacio Hevia, premier and minister of the interior, resigned last night. Political leaders met at once in the president's office to discuss the situation.

Cuban Guard Jailed In Slaying of Four

Santiago, Cuba, May 7 (A.P.).—Corpl. Isidro Gort Castaneda, who shot down four prisoners recently taken after the San Luis revolutionary uprising when they allegedly attempted to escape, was under arrest here today pending an investigation.

The four men were being taken from the railroad station to the municipal prison when they were killed. Gort Castaneda ordered two privates helping him to guard the prisoners not to fire, shooting down all four himself.

Twenty-six persons arrested after the San Luis uprising, which cost in all nineteen lives, have been formally charged with sedition, the killing of two soldiers and San Luis' chief of police, destruction of property in that town and theft of $95 from the till o fthe telegraph center.

Handy Man With Tools Good Jail-Breaker, Too

Denver, May 7 (A.P.).—John Velikoff's last trick was his best. Sentenced to jail for assault, Velikoff called for tools. He proved himself an expert carpenter, an artistic landscape gardener, and a metal worker whose skill in manufacturing cell furniture was nothing less than amazing.

Today Warden James Norton surveyed John's empty cell. He learned too late that John was also a locksmith par excellence. Velikoff had made a key, let himself out and departed.

DIED

foods, during the same period, dropped to 10 points above the 1913 price levels.

In April, 1932, the price trends of all foods started another drop, which was followed by a slight increase last summer, but the rise stopped toward the end of the summer and another decline began, and in March of this year the price levels were 3 per cent below the 1913 level.

Based on Federal Records.

In this same period, during which milk dropped from 14 to 13 cents a quart, there was a corresponding decrease in its comparison with the 1913 average price of 8.6 cents a quart. The milk price now is 51 per cent higher than it was in 1913.

All of the figures used in this analysis of milk prices and the prices of other food products are based on records in the Bureau of Labor Statistics, of the Department of Labor, and the Bureau of Economics, of the Department of Agriculture.

The retail prices of foods are obtained by the Department of Labor from retail dealers in the city and are actual selling prices. The figures are secured from every type of store, the neighborhood store, the downtown stores and the chain store, all of which are patronized by wage-earners.

Computation Is Explained.

The general food figures are computed by the average prices for each of the 43 principal articles of food. The average price of each was then multiplied by a figure denoting the average family consumption of that article as shown by an investigation of the Bureau of Labor Statistics in 1918. The result was then reduced to a percentage of the corresponding result for the year 1913, taken as a base.

The trend in the milk price from 1913 to date is based on the daily consumption of one quart by each family.

In the past four years, the dairyman has had the benefit of greatly reduced prices of feeds for his cows and has also benefited by the like reduction in the cost of farm labor, which reductions are not correspondingly reflected in the cost of milk.

Throughout the whole country, the average price of a quart of milk is 10.1 cents, which is but 1.2 cents higher than the 1913 price of 8.9 cents a quart. The average consumer in other cities is paying approximately 11 per cent more for his daily milk supply then he was in 1913, while the Washingtonian is paying 51 per cent over the 1913 figure.

Tomorrow the third article of this series will appear in The Post, showing prevailing cream prices in Washington compared with prices in other cities.

JAPANESE RESUME WAR INSIDE WALL

Chinese Retreat as Enemy Occupies Coast Town Below Shanhaikwan.

Tientain, China (Monday), May 8 (A.P.).—Chinese advices today said the Chinese-Japanese war inside the Great Wall had been resumed, with Japanese troops occupying Peitaiho at 11 p. m. Sunday. Chinese forces were retreating.

Peitaiho is a coastal town south of Shanhaikwan and Chinwangtao, in the northern section of the Great Wall, bounded by the Lwan River, the Wall and the sea which Japanese have twice warned Chinese troops to keep clear.

Peiping, China, May 7 (A.P.).—Chinese forces east of the Lwan River were warned today by Japanese military authorities that they must evacuate teritory west of the Lwan or the Japanese will launch renewed attacks on Lwanchow.

This development in the Sino-Japanese warfare in north China proper and south of the Great Wall was reported in Chinese dispatches.

The general belief is that the impending Japanese offensive will not be confined to the area west of the Lwan, but will include major thrusts at Kupei and Hsifeng Passes in the Wall with the aim of completely crushing Chinese forces along the entire Wall.

Japanese reports reaching here said the Chinese were anticipating a big Japanese push and were withdrawing from the Kupeikow sector, focal point recently of the warfare and a strategic point that dominates the road from the lately conquered Jehol Province to Peiping.

The Chinese command, however, tonight denied any reports of flight, and claimed, rather, that the Chinese are planning to put up the stiffest resistance possible.

Oil Well Fire-Fighter Now "Son of the Devil"

Tulsa, Okla., May 7 (A.P.).—Myron M. Kinley, the Southwest's premier oil well fire fighter, has returned from a business trip to Colombia with a new nickname. It's "Son of the Devil."

Peons gave him the name, he reported, upon observing how—in fireproofed clothing—he walked through flames to ignite the explosives which blew out a burning Gulf Oil Corporation wildcat well in the remote Barco concession. The job took 20 days.

ROOSEVELT READY FOR TALKS WITH ENVOYS OF 3 NATIONS

for a world tariff truce as a prelude to the conference, although Germany, Italy and Japan have indicated their agreement, at least in principle, and France has accepted with reservations.

The President has arranged for full, but informal talks this week with representatives of Germany, China and Mexico in an effort to enlist them in support of the program of world business recovery, already discussed by him with the statesmen of Great Britain, France, Canada, Italy and Argentina.

On the basis of unofficial reports that the President might appoint Henry L. Stimson, the Hoov Secretary of State, as a member of the American delegation to the economic conference, Representative Tinkham (Republican), Massachusetts, yesterday issued a statement saying this "would be an affront to the Republicans to this country." He asserted Stimson is "an extreme internationalist."

The American Federation of Labor, in its monthly survey of business, yesterday praised the Roosevelt conversations preparatory to the major economic meeting and suggested international bimetallism as a solution of the currency problem.

If the President acquiesces to the powerful antidebt revision sentiment on Capitol Hill, America's European debtors who owe $144,000,000 on June 15, will be faced with their choice of paying or defaulting. Although the administration has offered to let them pay in silver under a plan which might knock off about 30 per cent, no great enthusiasm has been shown.

There was no official confirmation of a report published in Paris that the Roosevelt Administration had submitted to France a debt adjustment plan providing for cancellation of interest and a lump sum settlement.

At the State Department it was emphasized that the President personally is handling the delicate war debts matter, and that its discussion by anyone else is "taboo."

The Chief Executive also has taken over much of the work of putting through a tariff truce and dealing with arms reduction.

His personal representative abroad, Norman H. Davis, Ambassador at large, was instructed to stay in London and work at the delicate task of getting the British to agree to a tariff truce. His job was made no easier by uncertainty as to the value of the dollar, cut loose from the gold standard and left to find its own level.

The President himself was prepared to press the tariff truce matter in his talks this week with Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the German Reichsbank, who already has indorsed it; T. V. Soong, Chinese finance minister, and Alberto J. Pani, secretary of the treasury in the Mexican government.

Pani arrives about Wednesday. The other two are already here. Guido Jung, Italian finance minister, and Dr. Tomas A. Le Breton, of Argentina, left over the week-end after expressing themselves as in general accord with the President.

WORKERS' CONGRESS BACKS FARM STRIKE

3,000 End Conclave by Framing Program for Socialistic Rule.

Tumultuously acclaiming the approaching farmers' strike in the Middle West, the 3,000 labor, soldier and farm representatives comprising the Continental Congress on Economic Construction yesterday ended their two-day conclave here after formulating an extreme socialistic program of governmental revision.

Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for the Presidency last fall, and a keynoter at the opening session, ended the meeting with a fervid injunction to work for the projects approved and to come back next year for another convention more intensively organized and in greater numbers.

The Socialist standard-bearer included in his closing talk an appeal to young men to strive for governmental conduct that would save them from being "cannon fodder in another war."

A continuation committee was appointed to work into better shape the "declaration of independence" which was tentatively adopted. The committee today is expected to present to President Roosevelt and Congress copies of the program approved by the convention.

The congress also adopted a resolution demanding the recall of Josephus Daniels as Ambassador to Mexico. The action was taken because of Daniels' connection with the Vera Cruz incident during the Wilson administration when the North Carolinian was Secretary of War.

The resolution said that Daniels was in direct command of the American naval forces "which fired upon a defenseless city and captured the port of Vera Cruz" and declared "this act is still so deeply resented by the large majority of the Mexican working class that it was necessary for a special train to carry him from the American border to Mexico City for the protection of his own life."

Thomas urged greater solidarity of workers and farmers in the movement to put over the program. As the delegates filed out of the hall a quartet on the rostrum of the Washington Auditorium led them in a lusty rendition of the workers' marching song, "Solidarity Forever." The quartet also sang the rousing "International Party" song as the delegates dispersed to their buses, trains and to the "hitch-hike" routes.

A summary of the program approved by the convention would include:

A direct Federal relief appropriation of $3,000,000,000, to be paid in cash to the unemployed; a $6,000,000,000 public works program; a five-day week and six-hour day; governmental old-age sickness and unemployment insurance; immediate cash payment of the soldiers' bonus; mortgage moratorium and interest reduction; high inheritance taxes and a capital levy; a new national banking system, with a stop-gap system, to be created out of the postal savings system.

The sympathy of the delegates with the striking Iowa farmers was demonstrated after a speech by A. C. Townley, representing the National Farm Holiday Association. Townley, who was given a six-minute ovation, said:

"We are sick and tired of conversations and promises and are going to take things into our own hands."

Clarence Darrow, famous lawyer, was besought by the convention to defend the Iowa farmers who recently mobbed a judge sitting in a foreclosure proceeding. Sending of the telegram was announced by Mr. Thomas amid resounding cheers. Late last night no answer had been received by the Illinoisan.

Peru Admits Fleet Bound for Leticia

Geneva, May 7 (A.P.).—The Peruvian squadron which recently passed through the Panama Canal from Pacific waters to the Atlantic Ocean, is bound for the upper Amazon, and even beyond the now famous Leticia territory.

That was the Peruvian government's reply today to a League of Nations request for information concerning the nature of the instructions given the cruisers and two submarines.

The reply will be discussed tomorrow by the committee handling the Leticia dispute in the presence of representatives of Brazil and the United States. It was reported the reply avoided indicating the exact object of the voyage.

SOCIALISTS TO ACT WITH COMMUNISTS

Norman Thomas Tells of Plan to Unite in Matters of Common Interest.

The Socialist party has tentatively decided to make overtures to the Communist party for united action on specific matters in common, it was announced last night by Norman Thomas, titular head of the former group, and Socialist candidate for the Presidency at the last election.

The matters include such instances as the Scottsboro case, the Tom Mooney case and anti-Fascist demonstrations, said Mr. Thomas last night. The age-old gulf between the two parties on matters of governmental policy and economic questions will not be affected at this time, he said, by the move.

The national executive committee of the Socialist party, in attendance here at the Continental Congress for Economic Reconstruction, yesterday appointed a subcommittee to arrange the coalition steps. Mr. Thomas is a member of the committee.

Hitler Places Loss Of War on Strikes

Kiel, Germany, May 7 (A.P.).—Before 30,000 uniformed Nazi storm troopers from northern Germany today, Chancellor Adolf Hitler condemned the "1918 traitors," whom he charged with having lost the war for Germany by strikes. The Nazi chieftain promised his hearers he would not rest until the last vestige of their system had been uprooted.

The chancellor revealed that 600,000 men are enrolled in the Nazi troops "as an iron guard of the revolution."

Eight million persons now are unemployed in Germany, Herr Hittler continued, estimating that 2,000,000 of them had not been tabulated in official figures.

JAMES B. LEEMON DIES.

Internal Revenue Employe Survived by Wife and Daughter.

James B. Leemon, 59, Internal Revenue employe, died yesterday at his home, 626 Allison street northwest, after an illness of several months. Mr. Leemon, who came to Washington from Sparta, Ill., 22 years ago, was an active member of the Wallace Memorial Presbyterian Church and the Masonic Order.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lora J. Leemon, and one daughter, Dorothy, of Washington, and three brothers and one sister, of Sparta, Ill. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

GANDHI WILL BEGIN HIS NEW FAST TODAY

Cook. The girl recently was summoned to his cell in the jail here from Bangalore, and Gandhi, she said, concluded she had been leading a life of "untruth and extravagance." Her story was told in Gandhi's newspaper, "Harijan."

"As an aspirant to social service," she confessed, "I have been a great hypocrite."

Gandhi ordered her to Ashram Ahmedabad, his monastery, where she was reported to have shaved her head in retribution. Her name in India is Nila Nagini Devi, or "Blue Serpent Godess."

Ahmedabad, India, May 7 (A.P.). Nila Cram Cook, young American disciple of the Mahatma Gandhi, admitted today that the leader's accusations of worldliness against her were "all true."

Miss Cook saw Gandhi in Yeroda Jail last Tuesday and said that at that time she "made a clean confession to him of my past life; I now want to lead a new life in accordance with the teachings of Gandhi." The mahatma published an article about her in his newspaper Harijan.

"I have taken the final step, and fear nothing except untruth, deception, or secrecy of any kind," said Miss Cook, who has assumed the name of Nila Nagini Devi, or "The Blue Serpent Goddess."

"When Gandhi looked through me I felt I should confess my past and end this deception of the public. To say the least, the present summary Gandhi has published has been mildly put.

"I feel no shame or humiliation in confessing my past because to bury my old self I had to confess and end the deception.

"I want my old personality as an American girl to die and be buried that I may be an instrument to serve Gandhi in his service of the truth."

Miss Cook received a correspondent in her small room in Gandhi's model colony or ashram, at Sabarmati. She was dressed in a robe of spotless waite homespun material and was industriously sewing a cap for her young son.

CHANGE IN VENUE BELIEVED DUE IN CHACO CONFERENCES

contrary, with the final choice of the neutrals committee, the full weight of the United States will be thrown in favor of a speedy settlement of this protracted controversy in international affairs. If the delegates finally decide on Rio de Janeiro, President Roosevelt will undoubtedly entrust the active direction of the transplanted peace proposal to Hugh Gibson, the newly appointed American Ambassador to Brazil, who will succeed Edwin V. Morgan. Mr. Gibson's qualifications for conferences of this kind are ample evidence that the United States will take a still greater interest in the final solution of the Chaco, now that it is no longer in the delicate position of being the president of the neutral tribunal. As chairman of the neutral commission, Assistant Secretary White was often constrained to act as arbiter when he might have prefererd a less judicial post and one where the practical considerations of the case might have been developed without fear of creating an impression of bias.

The meeting today will determine the action of this Government with regard to the quarrel between Bolivia and Paraguay. The efforts of the United States have been exerted almost without interruption since 1929, and still a state of war between the two countries virtually exists. Peace negotiations at the present time have reached an impasse, which can only be solved by a fresh approach to the entire problem. A change of venue in the conciliation may bring the very agreement that is necessary at this stage of the proceedings. For some time, there has been talk of changing the locale of arbitration from Washington to some Latin-American country. Foreign Minister Saavedra Lamas of Argentine indicated his desire to relieve the American State Department of this burden of pacification, but the two warring countries themselves were not able to agree on the change from the United States to Argentina.

Bolivian sources have often charged the Argentine government with lending moral and material help to the Paraguayans. Paraguayan soldiers, it is charged, have been found after a battle with uniforms and rifles from the Argentine arsenals. As a result, the Bolivian government has resisted any attempt to choose Buenos Aires as a neutral position. Santiago, the capital of Chile, is also looked upon with some suspicion by the Bolivian authorities both here and in La Paz and the only South American capital that seems sure of uniting all suffrages is the beautiful capital of Brazil, Rio de Janeiro.

Brazilian Ambassador Lima e Silva was unable to predict the probable action of his govenrment toward the desire of the neutral commission to transfer their consultations to his country. However, it is believed very probable that little difficulty will be experienced from the present Brazilian minister of foreign affairs, Senor Mello Franco, who is a former distinguished delegate of the Brazilian government to the League of Nations and the World Court, as soon as the desire for a change of venue is unanimous.

ELLSWORTH, MAINE, RAVAGED BY FLAMES

200 Dwelings Afire After 50 Business Structures Are Razed.

Ellsworth, Me. (Monday), May 8 (A.P.).—The greater part of the City of Ellsworth appeared doomed early this morning by a fire which swept through the business district, destroying more than 50 buildings on both sides of the main street and then invaded the residential sections, where shortly before 2 o'clock nearly 200 dwelling houses were ablaze.

Fire departments from a score of communities within a radius of 40 miles were battling the flames.

The Ellsworth exchange of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. was among buildings destroyed, making communication with the city impossible.

A telephone lineman working to restore service said that from his perch atop a pole on the outskirts of the fire, the flames seemed to be burning over a front half a mile wide. The city had been laid waste for a distance of about a mile and a half, he said.

Included among the buildings destroyed were the city hall, the Methodist and Baptist Churches, the Ellsworth Machine Co. and the Liberty National Bank.

Fire fighters, handicapped by low water pressure, dynamited several buildings in an effort to block the spread of the fire.

Ellsworth, the county seat of Hancock County, has a population of about 4,000.

The fire was believed to have started in a vacant building.

Gov. Winant Signs Bill For Election on Repeal

Concord, N. H., May 7 (A.P.).—Gov. John G. Winant announced tonight he has signed the bill calling for the election on June 20 of delegates to a convention to act on the prohibition amendment.

The bill was passed by the Legislature last week and, although the governor had expressed himself in favor of having the election held in September, he affixed his signature to it late Saturday night, he revealed tonight.

ciation has been too inclined to undertake nonessential promotional work. Thus, it has published a monthly magazine, it has striven to build up a large membership and has spent considerable effort in promoting various activities I believe better handled by outside agencies.

"Finding myself at variance with the views of those who dominate the organization, I feel that it is for the best interests of all concerned that I resign."

The N. A. A. was only last week embroiled in a dispute with aviation authorities here led by Chester Warrington, president of the Washington Air Derby Association. At a meeting of the contest committee of the association last Friday attended by Mrs. Putnam it was decided not to sanction two of the events of the Langley Day aviation program at College Park yesterday.

The two events objected to by the association as "unsafe" were a slow race in which low-powered airplanes flew from College Park to the Bowie Race Track and return, the plane with the longest elapsed time "winning" the race, and a race between airplane powered with OX-5 model motors which are of a low horsepower. The association objected on the grounds that the course was not well laid out, and that the theory of a slow race, and a race for low-powered planes, was not safe.

Local aviation authorities, led by Warrington, went to the Aeronautic ranch of the Department of Commerce, official Government agency charged with the administration of laws pertaining to aviation, asked and secured permission to hold the races. They were flown as scheduled yesterday afternoon.

CAMPAIGN TO SAVE PAY RAISES STARTS

the additional cost involved in reallocations of positions made by the Personnel Classification Board and, since October, 1932, by the Civil Service Commission does not warrant such a radical departure from substantive law as that represented by the provision in question."

During the period indicated, 3,990 cases were presented for action by the Personnel Classification Board of the Civil Service Commission. Of these, 307 were reallocations. One hundred and sixteen gave rise to no salary changes; 156, or 3.9 per cent of the total number of cases acted on resulted in salary increases, and 35, or 0.9 per cent of the total number of cases acted on, resulted in salary decreases.

Inequalities in Pay.

The civil service report continues:

"The processes of allocation and reallocation authorized by the classification act (which are now carried out by the commission instead of the Personnel Classification Board) were designed to prevent for the future the inequalities and incongruities of pay that had previously grown up under the methods of salary administration that had existed in the Government service up to 1924. Congress has set definite salary scales or grades, which, under the Executive order of March 28, 1933, have been reduced 15 per cent. The commission has no authority to alter these salary scales, but its duty is to apply them impartially and uniformly on the basis of the importance, difficulty and responsibility of individual positions, allocating each position to its appropriate grade.

"To suspend the effect of the allocation process will inevitably result in a reestablishment of the same difficulties of salary administration, the same injustices, the same inequalities in pay for the same work, and the same lack of relationship between work done and pay received, as gave rise in the first place to the action by Congress in passing the classification act of 1923 so as to prevent such conditions in the future."

The delegation will further charge that section 4 of the bill will quash incentive on the part of Government employes in maintaining their standard of work and that it will kill their hopes of advancement to a higher office.

The Federal Diary

By GEORGE D. RILEY

A PARALLEL between U. S. Government employes' status and that of Irish Free State government employes can be drawn easily from the following statements in the Lancet (London) for April 1:

"It has been the declared policy of the Government of the Irish Free State for the past 12 months to reduce the salaries of civil servants and of other officials paid by the state. This policy finds expression in a bill introduced to the Dail last week by the minister for finance.

"The text of the bill is not yet published, but the title shows that the measure applies not only to direct employes of the government, but to the employes of local authorities, and, in fact, of any bodies to whom grants are made out of public moneys.

"The bill will, if effective, have one disastrous result to the public services, apart from the injustice done to existing officers whose contracts of service will be varied to their detriment. It will destroy the security of service which has been the strongest factor in attracting competent persons to the public service. This is especially true in the case of professional whole-time officers, either in government departments or in the employment of local authorities. A medical man, a lawyer, or an engineer accepting a whole-time office is mainly influenced by the promise of security of salary and right to a pension.

"The amount of the salary is less than he might reasonably expect to earn in private practice, but he weighs the added security of employment against the sacrifice of immediate emolument.

"With the destruction of this security it is inevitable that as good a class of candidates will not be attracted to the public service in future. If the principle of reduction of salaries is applied, as seems likely, to part-time as well as to whole-time officers, dispensary medical officers stand in danger of losing many of the advantages which it has taken them a third of a century to win."

HANDICAP score cards are starting in to assist the handicap committee of the Federal Diary First Annual Golf Tournament, Indian Spring, May 25, with its work. And the committee has a really big job ahead of handicapping 200 men, so do your part by sending along the cards, attested by a fellow player, together with the time you would like to tee off. The committee will arrange as near the hour as possible.

And since Indian Spring Club will be yours for the day, when you have finished medal play, if you want to go around again for another 18 holes, unofficially, you're welcome. You're the guests, so you can just play all the golf you want that day.

Today George Diffenbaugh, Indian Spring pro, describes No. 2, par 4 for 397 yards. This hole, says George, starts from a slightly elevated tee. About 75 yards from the tee is a long trap to catch a topped ball.

"It should be played to the right so you do not have to carry a trap that will be stretched across most of the fairway on your second. A strong approach will get you into severe rough back of the green."

Yesterday George described No. 1, today No. 2. Watch for the others of the eighteen holes and acquaint yourself with all the little ins and outs.

LILAC DOMAIN.

THERE ought to be a law that one who buys a bit of land and plants a lilac tree and tends it till it comes to flower should have it for his very own, in spite of debt or bond, and none should drive him from it in adversity's dark hour.

For it takes faith and it takes hope to plant a lilac tree, deep-rooting and slow-growing, to wait its bloom for years, and priceless things grow with it, like love and loyalty to God and home and country, and kindness that endears.

Hard times are these for little homes that love their lilac trees. Dishonesty and greed abound, dark clouds of trouble loom, fear walks beside us daily. . . . Dear Heaven, hear my prayer that I may not be disappointed when lilacs are in bloom!

Plans are being made by the executive committee of the Inter-Departmental Golf League for the seventh annual tournament, to be held during June, says Ralph Shepard, president.

It has not been definitely determined as to where the tournament will be held, but June 12 and 13 have been tentatively agreed upon as the dates of play. Reports received from various departments indicate an entry list equal to or greater than last year.

TO THE COMMERCE BUILDING.

FOR sixteen months your heavy doors have sapped my strength away. For sixteen months I've heaved at them and shoved them day by day. I'm full of pains and strains and sprains. I'll curse them while I may. And yet, I wish and hope and pray to shove these doors day after day.

For sixteen months your vaulted walls have shouted in my ears. Each sound beats back, rebounds, resounds, distracting me to tears. My work is slowed and sometimes stopped, while echo laughs and jeers. And yet, to me the thought appears—I hope I hear them yet for years.

Wild rumors flourish in your halls of cuts and "cans" and things. Each day its crop of dismal tales relentlessly it brings; one need not listen nor believe to feel disheart'ning stings. And yet I would endure the things for many summers, falls and springs. L'Envoi. Prince, please inform the mob that I would like to keep my job.

A mechanical "hand" has been devised by the Commerce Department's Bureau of Standards to determine the "handle," "feel" or "drape" of textiles, paper and similar materials, Director Lyman J. Briggs announces.

The "feel" of cloth and other materials is of great importance to the consumer. But it is a psychological quality commonly expressed only in the vaguest terms.

An instrument known as the "flexometer" has been devised in the textile section, Bureau of Standards, to measure three of the physical attributes of cloth that affect the sensations which contributed to "handle" and "drape."

The "affair" of Dr. P. S. Galtsoff, alias "Illusha," better known as the world-famed oyster expert of the Commerce Department's Bureau of Fisheries, with "Kassatka," notorious Russian cabaret girl (played by Mme. Scheffer, wife of a German newspaper correspondent, Paul Scheffer) was brought out into the open last Friday evening in the celebrated drawing room comedy from the pen of Alex Tolstoi, presented at the Washington Arts Club. The "affair" had been progressing practically all winter under the expert direction of Regisseur Gsovsky, and played to a full house. Colleagues of Dr. Galtsoff expressed enthusiasm for the finesse with which he handled the highly charged emotional scenes in this amusing play.

BISHOP LAYS STONE OF FAIRFAX CHURCH

New Zion Episcopal Edifice to Be Reproduction of Historic Structure.

With impressive ceremonies the Right Rev. Henry St. George Tucker, bishop of the Virginia Diocese, laid the corner stone of the new Zion Episcopal Church at Fairfax, Va., yesterday afternoon. The new church building will be a reproduction of the old Paynes Church, erected about 2 miles from Fairfax by the building committee of Truro Parish, of which Gen. George Washington was chairman. The original Paynes church was destroyed by Federal troops during the Civil War.

The services yesterday were under the direction of the Rev. Herbert A. Donovan, rector of the church. Former Representative R. Walton Moore, of Fairfax, senior warden of the church, gave an address outlining the history of Truro Parish from its founding to date. He told of the erection of the seven Episcopal churches in Fairfax County and Alexandria by the building committee headed by Washington just prior to the Revolutionary War and mentioned the names of members of that vestry who played an important role in the foundation of the United States.

Assisting Mr. Donovan were the following rectors of Episcopal churches in northern Virginia: The Rev. Percy Foster Hall, of Alexandria; the Rev. C. A. Iangston, of Pohick; the Rev. Arthur L. Ribble, of Herndon; the Rev. Henry Miller, of Clarendon; the Rev. J. G. Sadtler, of McLean; the Rev. Peyton Craighill, of Leesburg; the Rev. A. Stewart Gibson, of Manassas, and the Rev. Robert Allen Castleman, of Falls Church. These churches were part of the original Truro Parish. The Rev. J. C. Beagean, of Chester, Pa., also assisted.

Junior Warden Frederick Dawson Richardson read a list of the articles deposited in a sealed copper box in the corner stone of the new church. They were a copy of the Bible, the Episcopal Church book of common prayer, a copy of the journal of the Virginia Diocese, a copy of the Virginia Churchman and the Southern Churchman, 1933; a copy of the Fairfax Herald; a copy of The Washington Post containing a complete history of the parish from 1776; list of communicants of Truro Parish to date; list of members of Zion Church, bishops of Virginia, rectors and vestrymen of Zion Church; contributors to the building fund of the church, piece of original brick from Washington's birthplace and a penny, a nickel, a dime and a quarter of the United States.

The silver trowel used by Bishop Tucker was the one used by George Washington in laying the corner stone of the United States Capitol. It was lent to the church by the Washington-Alexandria Masonic Lodge of Alexandria, Va., of which Washington was a member.

Vermont Troops Watch End of Granite Strike

Barre, Vt., May 7 (A.P.).—Two companies of Vermont National Guardsmen moved into Barre today to assume patrol duty tomorrow when seven granite sheds will reopen for the first time since a labor "holiday" began on April 1.

The soldiers were ordered here by Gov. Stanley C. Wilson, who however said at Montpelier martial law would not be declared unless serious trouble made the move necessary.

the trigger. The gun failed to discharge. Then suddenly he placed the shotgun into the hands of the terrified girl with the words, "No, I guess you'd better kill me before someone else does. You kill me or I'll kill you."

Fear-stricken, Loretta took the gun. "Then Oliver stood against the wall," Loretta said. "I tried to shoot, but the gun wouldn't work. He came over and pushed the safety catch, then went back against the wall and told me to shoot him and then shoot myself."

Loretta pulled the trigger, ran from the room as Day fell, and with her brother dashed to the sister's home. When authorities arrived they found Schmitz dead and Day dying from a wound in the abdomen.

Schmitz was township clerk of Plato Center Township and President of the school board.

PAYMENT OF BALL'S BOND IS NEAR VOTE

Arlington Boards to Decide Whether to Accept Offer by Company.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

With long-drawn-out court action feared in an effort to collect from the bonding company on the official bond of E. Wade Ball, former county treasurer, sentiment is rapidly growing that the county should accept the offer made by the bonding company in cash in the amount of $350,000. The alleged shortage amounts to $520,164.63.

Commonwealth Attorney Lawrence W. Douglas having handed down an opinion that the county school board and county board should act separately on the matter, the school board will meet tonight to vote on whether to approve the acceptance of the offer as made.

Tomorrow morning the county board in special session at 8:30 o'clock will receive the report of the school board and it is expected that final action will be taken by the board at that time.

Should the school board refuse to accept the offer, it being pointed out by Douglas that they having sole jurisdiction of school funds, he has not given any opinion as to how the matter would be settled in case of a divided vote by the county board.

Expressions by many citizens who await the outcome of the matter are that the county will not gain by attempting to go to court and fight. It being necessary to continue to borrow funds to carry on the affairs of the county, it is further pointed out that the county having to pay heavy interest on each loan by accepting the offer of the bonding company at this time without a fight it will be in a position to pay off many of the present loans and in addition have funds to carry on.

George H. Palmer, 91, Dies at Harvard Home

Cambridge, Mass., May 7 (A.P.).—George Herbert Palmer, internationally known scholar and author, and the oldest member of the Harvard faculty, died at his home in a corner of the Harvard yard today at the age of 91.

In accordance with his often-expressed wish, his body will be cremated and the ashes placed beside those of his wife, Alice Freeman Palmer, in the chapel of Wellesley College, of which she was president from 1880 to 1887.

ALEXANDRIA GROUP TO STAGE BENEFITS

Three Opera Singers Will Appear on Program for Charity.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The Young People's Service League of Christ Episcopal Church will sponsor an entertainment on the nights of May 17 and 18, in the Maury School auditorium, for the benefit of charity and will be assisted by members of other church and social organizations. Frank Steele will direct the production and will be assisted on publicity by Francis H. Fannon.

Three noted opera singers will donate their services to the program. They are Mme. Levinia Darve, who has appeared in the Opera Comique of Paris, and in the New York and San Carlo Grand Opera; Mrs. Ines C. Moore Milton, a star of the Chicago Grand Opera, and Dr. Alfreda Warsaw, a former member of the Manhattan Grand Opera.

Numbers on the bill will be from local talent, the Columbian Players and members of the Floradora Sextette that participated in the Ki-Ro Revue recently with such success.

A special program will be presented at the luncheon-meeting at 12:30 p. m. tomorrow, in the George Mason Hotel, of the Rotary Club, when the recently elected officers will be the entertainers. They are: Alfred Thomson, Lawrence E. Roland, Herbert Cross, Everett Swan, Blair McLeod and H. H. Martin. These officers will not be installed until July, but tomorrow will give an "Officers-Elect" program.

Miss Elizabeth Ramey, recently elected president of the Alexandria Business and Professional Women's Club, will preside at the meeting of that organization tomorrow night in the George Mason Hotel. The selection for chairmen of the various standing committees will be announced, and past president's night will be observed, as this is the annual birthday party of the club.

Further plans will be outlined for the club's representation at the State convention in Charlottesville on May 19-20 next.

Circle C of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church South will sponsor a pilgrimage of gardens of the Braddock section on the afternoon of May 16, from 2 to 6 p. m. Hostesses will be Mrs. J. Roland Goode, Mrs. Harry B. Caton, Mrs. Preston O. Cockey, Mrs. Virgie C. Davis, Mrs. John G. Graham, Mrs. Charles T. Nicholson and Mrs. L. A. Hopkins.

ABOUT THE SHOW SHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

THERE is, it seems, considerably more to this brash and sometimes ribald young fellow, George Jessel, than casually meets the eye across the footlights at Loew's Fox Theater.

George Jessel.

Looked upon primarily as a comedian of the modern, or rowdy, school of theatrical endeavor—an exponent of the breakneck, smoking-car, "hey, nonny-nonny and a hot-cha-cha" brand of histrionism—it will be surprising to many that under his surface willingness to supply what the public demands in its present-day entertainment is a bit of the authentic artist; a keen and deep-rooted appreciation of both the beauty and the enduring value of the finer things of literature, music and the drama.

Those who will be surprised at this, it may hastily be added, will be those who retain no memory of Mr. Jessel in "The Jazz Singer;" his own play, "War Song," or in the title role of "Joseph," in any of which might have been detected much in addition to any sheer spirit of flippancy!

It is not surprising, then, that in a brief dressing-room visit Saturday afternoon Georgie Jessel should have expressed something of the bewilderment many of us feel with regard to the future of the theater.

"Where are we going? What are we headed for? You tell me. There is so little of the traditional theater left that it is hard to arrive at any definite basis for even a rough guess.

"The road," as we used to know it, when you could map out a season of 35 or 40 weeks with a reasonable assurance that the theaters would still be open by the time you got there, has disappeared, and with it has gone not only the training school of the actor but also the training school for the intelligent audience eager to acquire a consciousness and appreciation of the many advantages and inspiring qualities once provided by the institution that supplied the world with its Booths, Barretts, Bernhardts, Mansfields, Jeffersons, Irvings, Terrys, Forbes-Robertsons, Skinners, Duses, Coquelins, Sotherns, Marlowes, Flakes, Drews and Barrymores. There are, in other words, no minor leagues to feed the majors.

"I don't fear the competition of the screen or the radio as a rival medium of expression to the stage. But what I do fear is the encroachment of the sort of entertainment they are drilling millions of people to believe is the best that can be had.

"There are still a great many beautiful things that can be done on the stage — intelligent, thoughtful, lovely things. But they require a more deliberate art and a more deliberate public than the theater is now able to command.

"That was impressed on me during the recent tour of the Southwest with Cantor—during which, incidentally, we grossed $110,000 in fifteen days—when any attempt to moderate either the trip-hammer tempo of our stuff, or its latter-day content, was bitterly resented.

"Believe it or not, one manager came back to me one night and said, 'Please, Mr. Jessel, stop calling the audience ladies and gentlemen. It sounds too d—d high hat. Call 'em folks!'

"I ask you!"

THERE was a good deal more in the same tenor from which one gathered that ideas are smouldering in the back of the Jessel mind that might conceivably develop into another serious play when the time is ripe; that George M. Cohan is the greatest figure in the American theater—about which there can not be any great argument—that the present status of things results in a condition that makes it imperative to land in a Broadway hit, or not land anywhere, insofar as the legitimate theater is concerned; that this is a state of things that has stultified the theater to such a degree that only one artist of the first water has come out of the present chaos and that one is Eddie Cantor, to whom Mr. Jessel is no less loyal than to Mr. Cohan; that the times are all askew and that things are pretty tough!

"Perhaps I shouldn't say that last," says George, "because I've had a swell year. I haven't got any of it, but it's been a great year, for me, personally, just the same!"

Confirming a fixed conviction, he corroborated that the "mother" who plays the French playlet skit with him in the stage box is the same sterling actress who has always appeared with him in it in Washington, and everywhere else—Mme. Anne Lowenworth, who has appeared in the Jessel productions continuously since 1918. One with a similar record is Sam Bennett, who appears as Norma Talmadge's husband in the same sketch.

The present revue at the Fox, by the way, was put together Friday morning after many weeks of dormancy. It will play only one week after the present, when it will again be dissolved, Mr. Jessel merely fulfilling two contracts made long ago and not heretofore played for various sufficient reasons.

It will be recalled that for much of his administration, Georgie Jessel was inveterate companion and favorite toastmaster and master of ceremonies of former Mayor Jimmy Walker, of New York. It is his idea that in his recent behavior, Jimmy has merely had the courage to trade the dubious fealty of 7,000,000 self-seeking sycophants for the honest affection of the one great love of his life. Even if it isn't true, that is George's ardent and obviously affectionate hope.

"I knew him pretty well," says he, "and to me he will always be a great guy."

In the meantime, buzzers have been buzzing, Miss Talmadge has torn herself away from the radio, where she has been waiting for a flash of what looks good in the Kentucky Derby, and we are down on the stage, all cluttered up with excited Music Week contestants, who forget themselves momentarily to whisper "There goes George Jessel, did you see him?" I didn't catch any negative answers!

The last I heard of him he was telling a capacity audience what a splendid place the Washington Monument would be for Hitler to fall off of, and were they laughing!

When I got out in the alley I discovered that I was whistling snatches of "Ridi Pagliacci," complicated with bits of "Laugh, Clown, Laugh."

It must have been the weather!

SPEAKING of dressing-rooms, if you happen to drop in on Joan Blondell, at the Earle, be careful about that kitten.

During little more than a "hello" Friday night, this very juvenile feline, about the size and much the appearance of an animated cockle-burr, was tumbling all over the place having a dandy time for no good reason at all. It was not safe to budge a foot, because this infant Persian has a totally erroneous notion that the best possible place to be is directly where someone is going to step next!

George Barnes, Miss Blondell's husband, runs the cat's commissary and is already written down as a nut by the dealers from whom he has purchased "a penny's worth of ground round steak, please, and one inch of liver!"

They seem to think he wants it for himself!

Other things a dramatic editor might think about of a Monday morning, if dramatic editors ever thought about anything: Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians are in New York, working up three radio programs in three days. . . Their good-by party at the Willard, scheduled for 5 o'clock, began on time, but, I am told, for some ran far into the night. . . When it was proposed that Norma Talmadge learn the Tamara Geva dances for "Flying Colors," she imported a special dancing teacher, whom she rendered hors de combat in a matter of only a few hours. . . So she sent for another. . . With the same result. . . Now she wonders if she was really cut out for a dancer, after all!. . . There is, according to all newspaper teaching, a bit of genuine news at Loew's Fox this week, but not in the newsreel. . . Ramon Novarro, in "The Barbarian," bites the dog. . . Joan Blondell received a telegram opening day from a kid sister who had been teaching her a dance routine. . . It read: "Remember about that second step, it goes dubb, dubb, dubb, dum, dum, dum, dubb-de-dum-dum, dubb, dubb. Love". . . When Steve Cochran's National Theater Players present Rose Franken's "Another Language," the week of May 22, some of the critics and most of the public will see it for the first time, account having given it the go-by a year ago to catch the opening week of Steve Cochran's National Theater Players!

Anyhow, we'd have known the "new deal" was working out okay, even without the President's radio assurance last night.

A Broker's Tip finally won!

CONCERT OBSERVES BRAHMS CENTENARY

Musicology and 10 o'Clock Clubs and Y. W. C. A. Cooperate.

The centennial of the birth of Johannes Brahms was fittingly celebrated yesterday afternoon when the Musicology Club of Washington, in cooperation with the music department of the Y. W. C. A., and the Ten O'clock Club offered programs of selections from the works of this celebrated German composer.

Playing in the Y. W. C. A.'s Barker Hall, the Musicologists presented the Covenant Quartet singing Brahms' "Liebeslieder," with the four-hand piano accompaniment being played by George H. Wilson and Katherine Ellis.

In the Eighteen Lieder the quartet —Helen Howison, soprano; Richie McLean, contralto; Charles Wilfrid Smith, tenor; J. E. S. Kincella, bass —showed Brahms in his lighter moments, charming little numbers Schubertian in construction with a lilting waltz rhythm.

Extremes of Genius.

The other extreme of the composer's genius was demonstrated in the "Variations on a Theme by Josef Haydn for Two Pianos," exquisitely played by LaSalle Spier and Sade C. Styron. Eight variations, with an opening statement of the original theme and a colorful finale, make up the work that ranks high with any example of this favorite device of composers.

Preceding the concert W. Oliver Strunk, assistant to the chief of the music division of the Library of Congress, spoke briefly on the life of the composer and the numbers of the program.

Between the musical extremes of the Musicologists' program, that of the Ten O'Clock Club was composed of numbers somewhat in a lighter vein, with Brahms' "Sonata in E Minor" as the piece de resistance.

Following a few brief remarks on the position of Brahms in the musical world, Pianist Edward Dawson, continued by playing "Ballade Edward" and four "Intermezzi," bringing out all the inherent beauty of the favorite numbers.

Recent Recognition.

Margery League, soprano, accompanied by Leah Effenbach, sang the "Sapphische Ode" and "Vergebliches Standchen," to which the famous "Cradle Song" was added for an encore.

In the Brahms sonata, Cellist Arnold Kvam, assisted by Katherine Smith at the piano, was particularly effective, a work whose appeal increases with each added playing.

"Notwithstanding Johannes Brahms is an acknowledged master of musical form, from ethereal lieder to pompous works of symphonic proportions, it is only comparatively recently that his works have received the playing they deserve. Surely, with such concerts as were yesterday presented, the inclusion of Brahms numbers on classical programs becomes more and more inevitable.

Both the Musicology Club of Washington and the Ten O'Clock Club deserve the grateful thanks of a music-loving public for their recognition of Brahms' natal day anniversary.

KIDNAPER REENACTS McMATH ABDUCTION

church services today, Kenneth, an unemployed chauffeur, was taken from the county jail in Barnstable, where he and Cyril spent the night, and with the officers went over the route he followed from the time he set out last Tuesday for the school from which he lured the child until he returned her to her father early Friday morning.

As Kenneth showed police the cranberry shack and the vacant house in which he held the child captive, 10-year-old Peggy was enjoying a reunion with her parents and her brother, Francis, 7.

NEGRO ELKS START SCHOLARSHIP DRIVE

Judge Hueston Presides at Meeting Held at Shiloh Baptist Church.

Preceded by a parade of both lodges and temples of colored Elks, a drive of the education department of that fraternity for $10,000 as a start of its program to raise $1,000,000 as a revolving scholarship fund, was held yesterday at the Shiloh Baptist Church, Judge W. C. Hueston, Elk commissioner of education, serving as master of ceremonies.

Dr. Emmett J. Scott, secretary of Howard University, as the principal speaker, traced the beginning of the scholarship movement among the Elks and read a list of twelve students who have received already at Howard University the sum of $8,500 from the scholarship fund.

Church schools of the South were said by Bishop E. D. W. Jones to be sorely in need of development of the fraternal program, not only for education of boys and girls but also for adult education.

"The Negro church is at a point now where, if it does not get some help, its educational institutions in the South will fail. The Elks will gain more by educating a boy than by burying his father with a parade."

Nannie H. Burroughs spoke on the preparation of leadership through education to carry on the work of the fraternal institution. Other speakers were Sylvester Epps, Marie Swails, John F. Ross, Dr. C. Herbert Marshall, Dr. J. J. Porter, Emory B. Smith, Elizabeth Jackson, Blanche A. Washington, the Rev. E. L. Harrison and Herbert L. Jones, who presided.

RIDENOUR STRESSES EXAMPLE OF CHRIST

Pastor Points Out Lowly Work Can Be Given Honor and Dignity.

"The examples of Christ set a new standard of values for the world and show all men how by sincerity and enthusiasm in the performance of their tasks they can bring dignity and honor to their work, however humble it may be in the eyes of thoughtless men," declared the Rev. Claude S. Ridenour, assistant rector of the Rock Creek Episcopal Church, Rock Creek Church road and Webster street, preaching yesterday morning.

"The life of Christ brings hope and inspiration to all humble men," said the Rev. Mr. Ridenour. "This Man among men first saw the light of day in a dirty stable, yet it came to pass that the Caesars of the world henceforth were to have their brief struts across the pages of history reckoned from the date of His birth. Men, ambitious in the worldly sense, down through the centuries have reared great temples of learning, and yet the lowly carpenter shop of Joseph, which for nearly 30 years was the academy, college and university of Christ, stands out through all the ages as the most important of all the educational institutions of the world, for it was there that the principles of Christian fellowship and selfless service found true expression, and it was there, likewise, that He showed those among whom he dwelt how dignity and honor could be brought to humble work and stern necessity.

Carpenter and fisherman, both occupations looked down upon by the Caesars of His day. Yet He taught the world the important, fundamental truth that our tasks, whatever estimate of their relative importance may be placed upon them by a self-sufficient world, can be glorified by the manner of their doing."

In this connection the Rev. Mr. Ridenour cited how Christ had glorified the cross and made it an emblem of honor by dying upon it. "Did it ever occur to you that the cross came from the cruel, warring Carthagenians in northern Africa; that they introduced it to the Romans, who thought it too horible a deathbed for citizens and used it, therefore, only for the destruction of 'undesirables' in the provinces? Among the Romans the honorable death, if death there had to be at the hands of the state, was by decapitation. Yet Christ died upon the miserable cross and, dying, glorified it, so that now it is the emblem of honor throughout the world."

'Artificial Mosquito Bites' Now Used in Cure of Insane

(Associated Press.)

A surgical operation on mosquitoes, so delicate it must be performed under the microscope, is the latest step in treatment of a dreaded form of human insanity, known as paresis.

The mosquito operation, announced yesterday by the United States Public Health Service, provides a strange new method of combating one disease with another. It was described as making possible a more efficient and less costly means of helping paresis sufferers by infecting them with malaria, a treatment used successfully for a number of years to combat this form of insanity.

Formerly, paresis patients were infected with malaria by allowing them to be bitten by mosquitoes which carried the disease. The malaria has the effect of arresting the progress of the insanity by acting on a blood disease that causes it, and statistics show it has cured as much as 35 per cent of cases that were not too far advanced.

The operation on the mosquitoes consists of removing their salivary glands, which are so small they can not be seen until magnified at least 20 times. The malaria germs are carried by the mosquitoes in these glands, and surgeons can use the gland contents to give paresis patients "artificial mosquito bites."

The artificial bites are preferable to real ones, because the glands are made into a serum, easier to ship than live mosquitoes, which sometimes died in transit. The live insects, too, were difficult to handle and sometimes escaped, with consequent danger of spreading malaria.

The mosquito operation has been developed by Dr. Bruce Mayne, of the Public Health Service Laboratories at Columbia, S. C. The mosquitoes used are specially bred under sanitary conditions and then allowed to bite persons who have malaria. The mosquito picks up some malaria germs, and these develop in its salivary glands. Then the mosquito is placed under ether, and operated upon with as great sanitary precautions as in a human operation.

The glands are removed and made into a serum, which is injected into the veins of paresis patients. One mosquito's glands contain enough malaria germs to inoculate about twelve paresis cases.

APPLE FETE QUEEN GUEST AT CAVERNS

Miss May Is Welcomed to Subterranean World by "Peer Gynt."

Endless Caverns, Va., May 7 (A.P.). Miss Francoise May, daughter of the Belgian Ambassador, and recent Shenandoah apple blossom queen, was welcomed to Endless Caverns today at impressive exercises.

Benjamin E. King, in the welcoming pageant role of "Peer Gynt," descended from his stalagmite throne to welcome Queen Francoise to his realm beneath the Massanutten Mountains.

Then the "mountain king" presented her with a bracelet of many-colored onyx stones cut from stalactite formations and set in filigreed gold.

Miss May and her party, escorted by Virginia State police, motored from Washington to the caverns for the exercises. In the party were Ambassador and Mrs. May, Count Francois de Buisseret, of the Belgian Legation and J. Pinckney Arthur, director general of the apple blossom festival.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Senator and Mrs. McAdoo and Secretary of War Dern, who had been expected to attend, were unable to make the trip.

THE MOMENTOUS CHANGE.

The country is indebted to President Roosevelt for his "report" of what he has been doing and what he is planning to do. With complete frankness, and with admirable brevity and clearness, he outlines the national program. No one is left in doubt as to his plans.

The most important disclosure made by Mr. Roosevelt is his attitude toward inflation. He candidly tells the people that he will cheapen the dollar. It is not to be worth as much in gold as it has been. How much or how little it is to be worth he does not say. Doubtless, if asked what the dollar is to be worth, he would freely reply that he does not know. There is a limit in his mind to the devaluation of the dollar. This limit is the point where debtors would be able to "pay back a great deal less than they borrowed." He proposes to cheapen the dollar to the point where borrowers "will, on the average, be able to repay that money in the same kind of dollar which they borrowed."

For good or ill, the people of the United States—every individual—must face a revolutionary change. The yardstick of value by which every transaction is measured is to be changed. All prices must be readjusted upward, to offset the shrinkage of the dollar. This process is apt to be immediate and violent. Wild speculation may be expected. The increase in prices of commodities will benefit millions.

At the same time, the shrinkage of the value of bonds, mortgages and other property whose worth is dependent upon the gold dollar, will injure the owners. If they are rich they will pull through with reduced fortunes. If they are modest investors whose savings are invested in this kind of property they will be fortunate if they are not ruined. Salaried people and wage earners must face an increase in the cost of living without a corresponding increase of income.

President Roosevelt notes that prices are better, and takes occasion to utter a warning against speculation: "I do not want the people of this country to take the foolish course of letting this improvement come back on another speculative wave." It is well to issue this warning, even if it should fall upon deaf ears in the majority of cases. The shock and uncertainty resulting from the fundamental change in the value of money will unloose great forces, working for both good and ill, and few if any precedents can be cited to prove that a government can control these forces after they are loose.

If all governments should prove wiser than they have ever been, and should agree this summer to stabilize their money at relative values equitable to all, and should have power to enforce the agreement, the United States dollar may possibly be placed at a certain lower value than heretofore, and held there, without dwindling lower. No such mastery over money value has ever been attained by the nations. Money not redeemable in gold has always fluctuated and lost value in spite of governments.

The President announces that industry is to be permitted to reorganize for the purpose of shortening hours, maintaining wages, eliminating child labor, and preventing overproduction, and that the Government is to enforce this regime upon recalcitrant minorities. This announcement implies that far-reaching changes are impending, the mere enumeration of which would require many pages. Yet even this revolution in industry is affected, if not dependent, upon the still greater change involved in the cheapening of the dollar. The railroad reorganization, the raising of enormous sums for public works and emergency relief, and other plans outlined by the President are all, in fact, dependent upon the success of the forthcoming attempt to inflate the currency and then prevent inflation from destroying the value of the nation's money.

President Roosevelt has decided upon this policy because he believes there was no alternative except to permit the country to go to ruin. "The country was dying by inches," he tells his countrymen. Believing that heroic measures were necessary, he has had the courage to adopt them. Congress has approved them. The powers it has granted to him are within the Constitution, in his opinion. He proposes to exercise these powers to the extent needed to rescue the country from ruin. The great majority of the people undoubtedly support and applaud him in his bold and unprecedented undertaking. Those who gauge his plans by the warnings of experience and who look with misgivings upon possible ills that may more than offset all good results, nevertheless recognize the earnest and courageous spirit with which Mr. Roosevelt grapples with the nation's difficulties.

QUESTIONS FOR CONGRESS.

President Roosevelt is postponing his message to Congress on tariff adjustments and the war debts. Protests against giving the President blanket authority to deal with these subjects are gaining momentum on Capitol Hill. It is evident that a controversy will develop if a final effort is made to take control over debt and tariff adjustments out of the hands of Congress.

President Roosevelt is undoubtedly apprehensive over the situation. The program which he hopes to carry out at the World Economic Conference can make no progress unless he is able to offer tariff concessions and to give reasonable assurance that some action toward scaling down the debts will be taken. The authority which the President seeks is, therefore, the key to the whole international situation. Refusal of Congress to pass some act making negotiations on these subjects practicable would doubtless mean the complete failure of the conference.

Leaders in Congress are aware of this situation, but they are confronted by a dilemma of their own. Both the tariff and debt issues are loaded with political dynamite. Most congressmen are committed against further revision of the war debts and very few of them would feel comfortable after having voted power to the President to reduce or wipe out the duties by which industries in their home States are protected. These problems confront Democratic and Republican members of Congress alike. Even Speaker Rainey has pointed out the grave dangers of tariff revision while many American industries are already confronted by competition they can not meet.

Furthermore, Great Britain is balking on the proposed tariff truce. Apparently the British Tories expect to have a corner on reciprocal tariff agreements by the time the economic conference meets. They will not accept a truce unless it is broad enough to let them go ahead and make tariff arrangements to suit themselves. France, too, insists upon the right to raise duties on American goods to offset depreciation of the dollar. If the nations can not agree upon a truce before the conference begins, what chance is there that they will be ready to make concessions when their delegates assemble in London?

Congress has taken note of this disinclination of foreign governments to cooperate. It makes Congress hesitate. There is a disposition on Capitol Hill to withhold concessions to other powers when the prospects of obtaining any real concessions from them are so slight.

As a matter of general principle Congress must formulate the tariff policy of the United States. Congress can not wholly transfer this authority over the revenues to the President, regardless of what the opportunities for bargaining may be. If the President is to be authorized to bargain with other countries, Congress must give him specific directions or provide that all agreements shall be submitted to Congress for approval. The tariff-making power can not be delegated in its entirety.

The case of the war debts is comparable. In view of the natural desire of President Roosevelt to remain in harmonious relations with Congress, the only practicable course seems to be to grant the President power to negotiate on these subjects within reasonable limits, with the provision that the agreements shall become effective only when ratified by Congress.

LET THE COURTS DECIDE.

The prosecution of gold hoarders has become somewhat of a dilemma. Out in Colorado former Senator Thomas is challenging the Government to send him to prison for the crime of holding in his possession $20 more than the regulations of the Treasury permit. But Attorney General Cummings says that small hoarders are in no danger. The Government is concerned only with large hoards of gold.

No indication has been given as to where the line will be drawn between small innocent hoards and large criminal hoards. The Treasury drew the line at $100, but the attitude of the Department of Justice leaves that matter in doubt. The fact that the Government refuses to prosecute former Senator Thomas, who wishes to make a test case, will encourage other hoarders to cling to their gold in the hope that they will not be included in the class of those who deserve punishment.

One other difficulty arises. Gold may be held in trust for foreign citizens. Gold coin may also be easily transferred from one individual to another. The Government could not convict an individual merely because he at one time withdrew gold from the Treasury or the Federal Reserve banks. This problem of trying to force citizens to yield up to the Government property that actually belongs to them becomes extremely complicated.

The dollar is now at a discount. Can citizens be forced to surrender gold dollars and take paper dollars which are worth less? This may be depriving citizens of property without due process of law. Several aspects of the anti-hoarding statute are in confusion, and it is doubtful whether that confusion can be dissipated until the Supreme Court has ruled upon the matter. In view of these circumstances it would be wise to rush a test case through the courts before spending a great deal of time and money in the prosecution of hoarders. The issue is so clearly controversial that only the Supreme Court can definitely decide the rights of citizens and the Government.

STABILIZE THE DOLLAR.

The decline of the dollar has reached a point where far-reaching adjustments will soon be necessary. Commodity prices have shot up together with stocks and bonds. There is a scramble all over the country to convert money into something of more stable value. For the moment millions of people are glad to see commodity prices going up even if it is accomplished by pushing the dollar down. But there must be some end to this process. At what point should the dollar be stabilized? And how shall it be done?

A great deal of publicity has been given to Great Britain's method of stabilizing the pound since that country has been off the gold standard. Parliament set up an "exchange equalization fund" which has been used to keep the pound from fluctuating too widely. There is more than a suspicion, too, that this fund is used to depress the value of the pound with a view to giving British exporters an advantage in the markets of countries still on the gold standard. At any rate, it is well known that the British government uses this large fund to sell pounds and buy foreign currencies, thus maintaining British money on a more or less even keel. The House of Commons has agreed to increase this fund from 200,000,000 to 350,000,000 pounds, presumably because of America's departure from the gold standard.

It is not to be supposed that the United States Government will gamble in foreign currencies in an effort to stabilize the dollar. In leaving the gold standard President Roosevelt adopted a policy of letting the dollar shift for itself abroad. But some sort of stability within the United States is absolutely essential to the conduct of business. For example, automobile dealers are reserving the right to increase the price of cars sold for delivery a week or two weeks hence. The purchaser who can not obtain immediate delivery must run the risk of paying a higher price when the car reaches him. Even though the inflation-farm bill is not yet on the statute books, the country is already embarked upon inflation with all of its uncertainties. Abandonment of gold redemption has reduced the value of the dollar and made its future worth uncertain.

For the time being the public at large is not alarmed by rising prices. But where will the prices go? Business men can not possibly go forward with a program of expansion so long as this uncertainty exists. Prices may rush up today because people wish to convert money into other property, and they may rush down next week because of fear that the Government's credit may be impaired. The question of finding some level at which the dollar can be stabilized is now thrust upon the administration. Business can not wait several months in the hope that this question will be solved at the World Economic Conference. Industry and business must go forward, and they must have reasonable assurance their plans will not be ruined by the decline of the dollar.

The mere indication that cheap money was to come into use was sufficient to start inflation. The problem now is to control inflation until a solid monetary basis can be found again. That is at all odds the most important task of the Government. It is to be hoped that the Treasury will not delay plans for stabilization of the dollar.

AMERICAN BOOK READERS.

Radio and motion pictures, frequently referred to as modern substitutes for literature, have, in fact, caused no decrease in the amount of reading done by the American public. People are reading more than ever before. In many libraries the number of books in circulation has jumped more than 200 per cent.

There is a growing demand for educational and scientific books, while the demand for fiction has grown proportionately less. In 1904 the total number of fiction works borrowed in libraries throughout the country was 16 per cent of the entire number of all types of books; by 1926 the demand had declined to 11 per cent, while 1933 shows a proportion of only 9 per cent. It has been suggested that a reason for the decline in the demand for fiction is the inferior quality which is produced today. This explanation, however, seems unreasonable, in view of the fact that all libraries supply classic fiction and the best modern novels, many of which are of high quality.

An examination of the best sellers of recent years further reflects the growing demand for good books. Among the first five listed as most in demand, both among fiction and non-fiction, the books are well written and worthy of serious consideration. Biographical, scientific and historical works have in many cases had as wide demand as romances.

Foreign governments having agreed to the American tariff truce proposal "in principle," it is as good as dead.

The vets are coming back for the denied bonus and favors withdrawn, but the farmers are assembling though Congress prepares to throw the house out the window for them; so what to do?

One little difference to be bridged is that Congress will not listen to debt-reduction talk and Europe doesn't want to hear about anything else.

Industry says trust it with anti-trust relaxation and it will put 3,000,000 to work on a given date. What, no dictator?

Having waited a week for the Chinese to give them a better excuse the Japanese prepare to take Peiping and Tientsin now because they want them now.

Don't all speak at once, but how much is Uncle Sam offered for the $144,000,000 in debt payments due on June 15?

Senator Black says a lobby is opposing the 30-hour bill. It hasn't quite reached the proportions of the 9,000 lobby officially invited on the bonus.

How long will it be before we get a Japanese bulletin from Peiping denying that there is any truth in reports of an advance on Shanghai and Canton?

European nations have so many other kinds of political and financial troubles that Secretary Hull has difficulty in holding their attention on tariffs as the cause of all woe.

Uncle Ike calculates that recent actions make sure the bond market ain't goin' to be what it uster was, so place your bets on whether we have inflation or a reduced program of public financing.

The farm strike may just be a plan to lop off those extra hours of the short week during slack times.

So far there has been no disagreement between visiting statesmen over the President's delightful smile and his ability to be a most ingratiating host.

It should not be overlooked that the countries which are having the most trouble with Russia have all recognized her.

American tourists have left twice as much in Europe as this country has received on war debts, but how much credit do we get?

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

BLACK SHEEP.

Sometimes into the finest group there slips
The plunderer and the cheat
Who, with a sullen look upon his lips,
Mocks good men he may meet.

And those who well their high employments bear
Are sick with hurt and shame
That one who has no thought for them must share
Their calling and their fame.

High-minded men forever here must face
With shame's hot burning cheek
The deeds of those who find with them a place—
The traitorous and the weak.

To every family come the ones who fail—
The strange, black sheep—
And only God knows why they are so frail
And how their fellows weep!

A House Divided Against Itself Never Yet Has Licked an Invader.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

An American general stood on foreign soil, facing an enemy that outnumbered him. Minor victories had made his name a household word back home. There was talk of nominating him for the Presidency.

The man in the White House was alarmed. This upstart must be humiliated before he became too great. Another victory would make him invincible.

Breaking him seemed a simple matter. His job of winning the war was entrusted to another general on another front. His best troops were taken from him. With a force of five thousand, most of them untried recruits, he was left to face an army of fifteen thousand.

Political strategy failed, as you know. The general won his battle, despite the odds, and became a national hero. But the point to remember is that he and his men were exposed to slaughter by the treachery of politicians who thought only in terms of personal ambition.

That incident is characteristic of American history.

As a man is his own worst enemy, so the people of a free land do themselves more hurt than any alien enemy could.

Even before the Revolution, Americans had acquired the habit of ignoring, as by inalienable right, any law that displeased them. And each group followed the course that promised a profit, regardless of the effect on others.

A white man in quest of profit sold Indians the rum and the guns that equipped them to murder his neighbors.

American farmers fed British troops at a fat profit while Washington's unshod army starved at Valley Forge.

Because one group hoped to take Canada while another planned conquest of alien territory in the south, each handicapped the other while soldiers died uselessly in a war that was lost.

"Great" men who feared loss of power did their utmost to prevent the growth of their country by addition of the Middle West, Texas and the Pacific Coast.

These things seem incredible now, but the spirit of Americans has not changed. There is no spirit of obedience—no sense of loyalty for loyalty's sake. We are individualists. Followers grumble in the ranks and feel cheated of their rights because they aren't consulted by headquarters.

That spirit is inevitable in a free land, but it doesn't win wars—and now we are at war.

The chosen leader is leading now, but selfish ambition will in time challenge his authority and block his plans. When that time comes Americans should read their Nation's history and learn the cost of divided counsels and disloyalty in time of crisis.

POLITICAL COMMENT

"Payment in Gold."
Boston Transcript.

Many minds have fallen into needless confusion regarding the United States Government's declaration that it will not, for the present, pay the gold value of interest falling due on its bonds held abroad. This announcement is being widely discussed in the public prints as though it were a novel decision, embarking the Treasury for the first time upon a course of action which, if it pleased, the Treasury could have avoided. That view is incorrect. The Government's present action became a foregone conclusion on Wednesday, April 19. On that day President Roosevelt tightened the embargo upon gold shipment, announcing that no more licenses would presently be issued for the export of gold with minor exceptions in special cases. By this act the United States went off the gold standard, and for the time being committed the Nation to a course of action which rendered inevitable the further announcement made this week that interest on Government bonds would not be paid to foreign holders at the gold par.

Investigation.

DeWitt township went unmistakably Democratic in the Presidential election last November and voted just as solidly Republican in the township election last month. We have been busy for two weeks trying to figure out whether the township is abnormally Republican or clandestinely Democratic.

One thing the matter with the country is that we have so many Democratic senators and Republican senators and so few United States senators.

Americans lose more money and with better grace than any people on earth; but they are revising their banking and investment system just the same.

A Canadian View.
Montreal Daily Star.

The most difficult play is just in front of Mr. Roosevelt. He is credited with the intention of asking Congress for large powers to negotiate tariff agreements with other nations. Congress will be most reluctant to grant him these powers. Every tariff group in either house will fear that he intends to slaughter their particular friends. Tariff-protected interests will be just as nervous south of the line as they would be on the north if we had a different government in office at Ottawa. Yet if any trade treaty had to be log-rolled through Congress before it could be put into force it might be ready for the next depression—but not for this one. Under our system, fortunately, our government always has the powers which the President is asking. It can draft a treaty and promise that it will pass Parliament.

In this country we should have no uneasiness over any concessions we may be asked to make. Mr. Bennett is our outstanding "sound money" champion. He will agree to no steps which will move us an inch down the inclined declivity that begins with a heady draught of higher prices but ends in chaos and ruin, unless they are literally forced upon him by world conditions, or unless they can be safely taken in order to purchase far greater advantages.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Citizen Protests Against Giving Government Food to Bonus Marchers—No Authority for It.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It will be difficult for the people of this country, especially at a time like this when there is so much real meritorious demand for food, to understand why the administration would promise to supply provisions for the hordes of bonus marchers scheduled to gather here within the next few days. The purpose of this gathering is, as proclaimed by the bonus leaders, to petition for the cash payment of the bonus certificates at this time; or more correctly stated, to quote the bonus leaders, to "demand the cash payment at this time."

This is simply a repetition of what occurred last year, and aside from the sorry spectacle created by these bonus seekers in 1932, and which may be repeated again at this time notwithstanding promises to the contrary, it is well known by every one that the Government can not and has no intention of paying the bonus at this time. In view of this well-known fact, it seems a tragedy for the administration to encourage a bonus army gathering in Washington.

But aside from this feature there is involved a still greater matter. What authority has the Government to furnish food to those attending this "convention?" Would similar provisions be furnished other conventions? If not, why not?

Whatever in provisions is supplied these bonus seekers must be paid for out of tax money collected from our people, who are as sorely pressed as are the veterans. As a taxpayer, I strenuously protest against the use of any of the Government's funds to be spent for provisions to be handed out to these men. Any funds the Government has to spend for such purposes should be allocated to the people on the basis of actual need and without any regard to classes—and it should be done by law and not by executive grace. A CITIZEN.

Tax Exemption of Certain Securities Should Be Repealed—Small Home Owners Making Gallant Fight and Deserve Help.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The economic condition of America today is rightly conceived, in a way, as one equivalent to war times. By seeking to acquire the powers of a war-time President, President Roosevelt is really arming himself to fight a depression of vast proportions. As we all know, in war times the burden of active service is carried by the youth of the Nation, because they are best fitted for the rigors of warfare; so in these trying times, the brunt of the offensive should be taken care of by those of our population who are best fitted economically.

In view of this fact, it would be in order for persons owning tax-exempt securities to relinquish their rights to such a privilege and contribute a tax to the National Treasury; if not willingly, then they should be made to do so by legislation.

A tax levied on such incomes by the National Government would not be unbearable, and at the same time would bring in millions of dollars to assist in balancing the budget.

The small home owners of the Nation are valiantly carrying on, in spite of great odds, and are contributing their share to this cause by making untold sacrifices; so, in my humble opinion, the time is ripe for holders of tax-exempt securities to make some sacrifice for the national well-being.

Last Heath Hen Disappears—Game Birds Must Be Protected Before It Is Too Late.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The heath hen, a species of the grouse family that inhabited the wooded districts of the Central and New England States, is now extinct. This species of birds was found in large flocks in the early nineteenth century. When it became apparent that the heath hen was taking the route to oblivion, a sanctuary was established at Martha's Vineyard Island. There were about 100 of them in this locality in 1907, but the flock was reduced to a single bird in 1928. It was last seen in the spring of 1932. Not having been seen in its usual haunts for over a year, there is but one conclusion to reach—the last heath hen has died. This may be verified some day, for the bird was banded.

The last survivor of this once abundant species of game bird was a cock. Each spring it would send forth its call for a mate, but always in vain. When no mate could be found, it was merely a matter of time before the species would join the ranks of the great auk, the passenger pigeon, Labrador duck and the Eskimo curlew, which have all passed into oblivion.

There is a lesson for all bird conservationists in the passing of the heath hen. That is, conserve the other game birds in the United States while they are still plentiful. Don't wait until the flocks are rapidly diminished by the increase of population, hunters, drought, fire and pestilence before taking steps to save the birds. ALFRED SANDBOY.

Suggests That Present Supreme Court Chamber in the Capitol Be Preserved Without Change.

To The Editor of The Post—Sir: May I have space to express an idea, which I would be happy to see realized? It is preservation of the United States Supreme court room, just as it is, as a shrine.

On Friday, as I passed this beautiful old room court was not in session, yet the room did not seem empty, but filled with "thoughts." Thoughts, so much less perishable than material things, so important, and often effective, long after the men who conceived them are gone. The room seems sacred to me. Perhaps some one will read this appeal who is in a position to act favorably upon it, when the justices move to the new building. G. M. U.

Miss Ottilie Schreiber Bride of Dr. Carpenter.

The wedding of Miss Ottilie Schreiber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schreiber, of New York, to Dr. Cedric Caesar Carpenter, formerly of Washington, son of Capt. and Mrs. Dudley Carpenter, took place Saturday at St. Barnabas Church, in New York. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William N. Colton, and was followed by a small reception.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin made on simple lines. Her veil of tulle was fastened to her head by a cap of rose point lace and she carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. Her sister, Mrs. William Robbins, was maid of honor and the only attendant. Her gown was of two-tone pink chiffon and she carried African daisies and delphinium.

Mr. Donald Carpenter, of Washington, acted as best man for his brother and the ushers included Mr. Pierrepont Schreiber, brother of the bride; Mr. G. Mr. Floyd Gibbons, war correspondent, writer and lecturer, and a party of Washington friends were dinner guests at the Pierce Mill Tea House Saturday.

Miss Alice A. Driggs, Mrs. H. T. Miller and Mrs. C. J. Williamson are in New York, stopping at the New Weston Hotel.

Mrs. Wood to Give Lecture On Orient Wednesday Night.

Mrs. Charles Wood, world traveler and lecturer, will give her illustrated lecture "From Kashmir to Siam" in the ballroom of the Mayflower Hotel Wednesday evening at 8:30. Traveling in a leisurely fashion and away from the beaten tracks of the guided tourists, Mrs. Wood had many unique experiences which she recorded with pen and camera. Scenes of beauty and interest have been reproduced in hand-colored slides from the Vale of Kashmir, long famous for its floating summer houseboats and formal gardens, down through India and Burma to the tropical flora and sacred elephants of Siam. Mrs. Wood is well known in Washington, where Dr. Wood has for many years been associated with the Church of the Covenant.

Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt leads the patronesses for Mrs. Wood's lecture and other ladies serving with her include Mrs. James E. Freeman, Mrs. Spencer S. Wood, Mrs. William Partridge, Mrs. George Peterson Mrs. Charles T. Warner, Mrs. Philip Rhinelander, Mrs. Charles C. Glover, Mrs. Parker Jones, Mrs. Arthur Birney, Mrs. Walter Taylor Wheatley, Mrs. R. S. Huidekoper, Mrs. H. G. Hamlet, Mrs. Joseph Fletcher, Miss Bessie Kibbey, Mrs. P. Granville Munson, Mrs. Raymond Wolven, Mrs Ralph Lee, Mrs. J. E. Benton.

Amid the flags of many nations an exhibition of work will be displayed and a reception and tea held by Sidwells' Friends School, 3901 Wisconsin avenue, Friday afternoon in celebration of the golden anniversary of the founding of the school by Mr. Thomas W. Sidwell, the principal.

The flags have been lent by the various embassies in Washington and by the Pan-American Union. They are particularly appropriate as decorations inasmuch as so many foreign children have attended Friends School. Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, China, Costa Rica, Cuba, France, Germany, Great Britain, Guatemala, Mexico, the Netherlands, Norway, Persia, Poland, El Salvador, Russia, Siam and Turkey have sent pupils to this Washington school. Japan is represented in this year's graduating class by Taka Debuchi, daughter of the Ambassador of Japan.

Children Will Ride Ponies At Bradley Farms Show.

Mrs. Eliphalet Andrews, of Seminary Hill, Va., chairman of the committee arranging facilities at the Spring Horse Show at Bradley Farms, for children to ride ponies during the four-day show, has obtained the use of the ponies from Barr Riding School, owned and operated by Dr. William P. Collins.

Opportunity for children of all ages to ride will be safely afforded as attendants will ever be present at all times.

Mrs. Andrews has assisting her, Mrs Jean Delattie Seguy, Miss Gladys Szechenyi, Miss Marian Shouse, Miss Priscilla Watson, Miss Mary Stuart Birdsall and Miss Catherine Du Bois.

On next Saturday from 4 to 6 p. m., the Washington Alumnae Association of Kappa Kappa Gamma will entertain at the home of Mrs. Arthur Sears Henning, 2728 Thirty-second street, Massachusetts Park, for the delegates of Pan-Hellenic and the presidents of the alumnae associations of the national women's fraternities represented in Washington.

Other invited guests include Mrs. Henry Wallace, wife of the Secretary of Agriculture; Mrs. Arthur Robinson, wife of the senator from Indiana; Mrs. Richard M. Kleburg, wife of the representative from Texas; Miss Adele Stamp, Miss Mary Louise Brown, and Mrs. Vinnie G. Barrows, deans of women respectively of Maryland, American, and George Washington Universities. The mothers of the local Kappa alumnae members will also be among the guests.

The president of the organization, Mrs. David W. Davis, wife of the former Governor of Idaho, will be assisted in receiving by Mrs. Henning, Miss Marie Mount, Mrs. G. Minier Hostetler, past grand officer, and Mrs. Thomas L. Stokes, province vice president.

Presiding at the tea table will be Mrs. James Brown Scott, Mrs. John William Cooper, Mrs. Paul Hudson, Mrs. Fred Bowersock, Miss Janet Lambdin and Miss Edith McCauley. The committee on arrangements consists of Mrs. Edward C. Stone, chairman; Mrs. William S. Stein, Miss Marie Mount and Miss Helen Hoskinson.

The Georgia State Society of Washington announces that its final dance this season will be the annual cotton ball, which is to be held in the gold room of the Shoreham Hotel on Friday at 9 p. m. This year the special feature of the cotton ball will be a beauty contest in which all unmarried ladies attending, between the ages of 16 and 30 years, are eligible to compete. The first prize is a beautiful silver loving cup.

Those requested to serve on the committee include Senator Richard B. Russell, jr., Mr. Starke Gregan, Mr. J. A. Massey, Mr. W. I. Whiton, Mr. W. A. Robinson, Mr. W. H. Krouse, Mr. G. B McGinty, Col. A. L. Singleton, Mr. J. B. Grice, Mr. W. G. Cordes, Mr. Archibald Farr, Mr. W. E. Faulkner, Mr. A. S. Trask, Mr. S. M. McMillan, Mrs. S. Gordon Green, Mrs. W. N. Braswell, Mrs. W. I. Demming, Mrs. R. C. Ellis, Mrs. Benjamin Grady, Mrs. Nina I. Haimbaugh, Mrs. J. C. Holliday, Mrs. Gibbs Lyons, Mrs. Alberta Odum, Miss Lucile Thurman, Miss Ruth Warren and Miss Alice Martin.

During intermission a short program will be presented, which features numbers by Miss Margaret Starling and Miss Cristine Davides, of the Clara Miller Studio; Mr. John Barnes and Mr. Charles Demma, of the Jack Mullane Studio, the National Quartet, under the direction of Mrs. Flora Bell Keefer, and Miss Frances Rands.

Mr. Norman Frauenheim, a Washington pianist well known on the concert stage and through his radio programs, will give a recital at the Arts Club on Tuesday evening, when Mr. and Mrs. Harold Allen will be the club's hosts.

A dinner dance will be the attraction on Thursday evening, with the auxiliary committee, of which Mrs. Richard D. La Garde is chairman, as hosts.

At a special meeting called for Wednesday evening, the members of the executive board of the New York State Society will discuss plans for the dinner dance of the society to be held at the Shoreham Hotel on Wednesday evening, May 17. This function will close the society's social season. The president, Mr. William R. Vallance, announces that the Shoreham Hotel has agreed to admit members on their membership cards for dancing, immediately following the dinner.

Beta Chapter, Chi Sigma Sorority, will hold its annual subscription dance at the Beaver Dam Country Club on Saturday.

All Mississippians and their friends are invited to attend the annual business meeting, election of officers and card party of the State Society at Meridian Mansions, 2400 Sixteenth street, Wednesday at 8:15 o'clock.

Representative William Colmer, member of Congress from the sixth congressional district, will address the society.

Mrs. John Mock and Mrs. William Dennis are giving a garden party for the benefit of the National League of American Pen Women Clubhouse fund, which will be held today from 4 to 7 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Mock, 2960 Newark street northwest.

Mrs. Mock and Mrs. Dennis will be assisted by Mrs. Edward Costigan, Mrs. Harvey Wiley, Mrs. James E. Watson, Mrs. Virginia White Speel, Miss Janet Richards, Mrs. Louis Ludlow, Mrs. William Walton Badgley, Mrs. Ernest Daniels, Mrs. John Bennett, Mrs. Gilbert Grosvenor, Mme. Patricia Bennett Dimitriu, Mrs. Richard Gasch, Mrs. Arron Newman, Mrs. Paul Linebarger, Mrs. James G. Wentz, Mrs. Henry Albers, Mrs. Harry Bassett, Mrs. Eugene Collister, Mrs. Wade Ellis, Mrs. Peter John McGoener, Mrs. Lucia Hanna Hadley, Mrs. Richard Hoxie, Mrs. Robert Sherrill, Mrs. Estelle Moses, Mrs. Theodore Tiller, Mrs. Bertha Wolfe, Mrs. Russell Harrison, Mrs. B. L. Heustus, Mrs. Oscar Bland and Mrs. Henry Rainey.

Benefit Card Party For St. Andrew's Society.

Mrs. Elmer Brown, president of the Rector's Aid Society of St. Andrew's Church, New Hampshire avenue and V street northwest, has announced a benefit card party for Tuesday evening, May 16, at the Roosevelt Hotel. Mrs. Harry Jackson Landrus and Mrs. Cecil Beasley are in charge of arrangements. Reservations for tables can be made through Mrs. Drury Conway Ludlow.

A committee of young people, headed by Miss Mabel Hunt, assisted by Miss Louise Hoover and Miss Virginia Blackford, will preside over the candy table.

Mr. Henry Wadsworth Moore, the celebrated artist, came here a few weeks ago from Boston to paint the portraits of Mrs. Hollister Sturges and her niece, Lady Faith Montagu. They have sittings every morning at Wardman Park Hotel, where Mr. and Mrs. Sturges maintain an apartment, and the paintings are expected to be finished within the next ten days. Mrs. Sturges is planning to give a small tea on their completion, and they will be on exhibition.

Elaborate plans are being made for next week-end by the senior class of Georgetown University. Festivities start Friday afternoon with a reception and tea dance in the lounge of Copley Hall, located on the campus, and that evening the senior ball, the crowning social event of the school year, will take place at Wardman Park Hotel.

On the following afternoon (Saturday) the senior tea dance will be given in the gold room of Wardman Park, officially bringing to a close the senior demonstration, the last formal affair before graduation.

The senior ball, which is being sponsored by Representative Mary Norton, of New Jersey, has as its chairman Mr. Bernard John J. Mooney, of Jersey City, and he is being assisted by Mr. John F. Drum, of Boston; Mr. Edward J. Fahy, of Chicago; Mr. William J. Dillmeier, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mr. Armand C. Grez, of Leonia, N. J.; Mr. George Monaghan, of Detroit, Mr. Edward F. Merrey, jr., of Paterson, N. J., and Mr. Edward J. Farley, of Brookline, Mass.

Mrs. Sydney Wiseman and Mrs. Alex Koplin have been appointed to represent the Jewish Consumptive Relief Society at the American Jewish Congress.

The final horse show of the season will be staged May 20, at the Equitation Field, in Rock Creek Park, at the end of the Taft Bridge, under the auspices of the District Women's Overseas Service League. Proceeds will be used for the league's service work in the District.

Mrs. Wallace W. Chiswell, of Wardman Park, one of the active league members, is chairman of the show committee. The retiring president of the league, Mrs. Bryan K. Ogden, is assisting Mrs. Chiswell. The show will be Mrs. Ogden's last official gesture, as she relinquishes office shortly to her successor, Miss Catherine Andrews.

The league is composed entirely of women who saw service during the World War overseas. The Washington membership is limited, totaling less than 150 women. Their activities are devoted to caring for such of their members who need help and in visiting the sick at the various Government hospitals. Special stress is placed on entertaining patients at St. Elizabeths, where a number of women, wrecked in mind by their overseas service, are receiving care.

Mrs. Lars Anderson, vice president of the local league, is taking an active interest in the show and will serve as one of the patronesses. So, also, is Miss Mabel Boardman, a member of both the local and national organizations. Mrs. Herbert Hoover, honorary president of the District league, has indicated her interest in the event.

One of the largest and most interesting gatherings of the present social season will be the all States jubilee to be held under the sponsorship of the New England States Society at the Kennedy-Warren on Wednesday evening, May 17. Practically every State in the Union will be represented at the affair. Many of the presidents of the various State societies will be the honor guests. Preceding the dancing there will be a short floor show, in which many juvenile stars of stage and radio will participate.

Col. William Humphries heads the reception committee, assisted by Mrs. William Payne, Miss Dorothy D. Cronin, Miss Hattie Bishop, Mr. C. S. Carter, Mr. James Beck, Miss Rose Cooper, Mrs. David Samuels and Mr. R. G. Wiles. The floor committee is composed of Mr. Thomas Devlin, Mr. Frederic Vernon, Miss Thelma Thomas, Miss Irene Ryon, Mr. Frank Huelsman and Mr. Eugene Harriss.

Thursday evening, when the west ballroom of the Shoreham Hotel resounds with the strains of "On Wisconsin," the first annual spring ball of the Wisconsin Society will be in full swing.

Announcements have gone out to nearly 1,000 Wisconsin people of Washington and vicinity, inviting them to participate in this event.

At a recent meeting of the executive board, President Percy E. Sackett announced the appointment as chairman of the membership committee Miss Florence Horigan. In addition to the program planned by the entertainment committe, the reception committee has a pleasant surprise in store for the guests, particularly those who come from Wisconsin or are acquainted there. Mrs. L. A. R. Hansen is chairman of the reception committee, and assisting her are Miss Anna Pinnerty, Mr. and Mrs. Percy E. Sackett, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Schommer, Mr. William R. Wondrowitz, Col. and Mrs. Earl P. Doyle, Mr. and Mrs. Christian Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Brinkman, Mr. Omer S. Hoebreck, Miss Clara L. Opper, Miss Florence Horigan and Mr. and Mrs. S. Norman Moe.

The Pennsylvania Society will hold its last entertainment and dance of the season in the grand ballroom of the Willard on Tuesday evening, May 16. Elaborate plans have been made for the entertainment of members of the society and their friends. Featuring the program will be a concert by the combined glee club of the George Washington University, composed of 80 voices.

Most of the members of the Pennsylvania congressional delegation, including newly elected representatives, are expected to attend. Representative Robert F. Rich, president of the society, extends an invitation to all Pennsylvanians residing in Washington, as well as such Keystonites as may be visiting the city to attend this function.

The dinner-meeting of the Oregon State Society of Washington will take place in Barker Hall of the Y. W. C. A. Building, corner of Seventeenth and K streets northwest, on Friday at 6:45 o'clock. The president, Interstate Commerce Commissioner Clyde B. Aitchison, will preside. All Oregonians in Washington will be welcome. The new committees for the year are:

Membership and attendance—Mr. James T. Jardine, chairman; Mr. Frank M. Compton, Miss Alice L. Edwards, Mr. John Mann, Mrs. Walter M. Pierce and Mr. Carlton Savage.

Public relations—Mrs. R. Bruce Horsfall, chairman; Mr. L. R. Alderman, Mr. C. Rogers Arundell, Mr. Del Hardy, Mr. Carl Shoemaker and Mr. Carl Smith.

Reception—Mr. Alvah W. Patterson, chairman; Mrs. James T. Jardine and Mrs. J. N. Sinnott.

Program and entertainment—Mr. Ben S. Fisher, chairman; Mr. James M. Coon, Mrs. Paul H. Emmett, Mr. Pherne Miller and Mr. Harry Spalding. Alumni Oregon colleges—Mr. Donald C. Beeler, chairman; Mr. Harry Gorsline, Mr. John H. Martin, Lieut. Col. C. C. McCornack and Miss Grace C. Townsend. Oregon statues, Senator Frederick Steiwer, chairman; Mrs. Robert Bounds, Representative James Mott, Representative Charles H. Martin and Representative Walter M. Pierce.

The fifty children being cared for at the Washington Home for Foundlings will be the center of attraction at the annual May party to be given by the Peirce Guild on Friday, from 2:30 until 6 o'clock. The beautiful suburban home, located at Tenleytown (turning one block west at River road), has proven a wonderful environment in contrast to the old city home. The Peirce Guild, named in honor of Joshua Peirce, founder of the institution, has been aiding for over 40 years in the support of the home, and is now interested in making needed improvements and repairs not provided for in the budget under the Community Chest.

The guests will be received by Mrs. W. P. Stafford, Mrs. J. A. Van Orsdel, Mrs. William Hamilton Bayly, , and Mrs. Simon Wolf. The card tables will be in charge of Mrs. Lloyd B. Wilson, Mrs. H. H. Semmes, Mrs. W. M. Guthrie, Mrs. Carl A. Droop. Unusual aprons will be for sale under direction of Mrs. Paul Blair, Mrs. James M. Green, Mrs. H. B. Patten, Mrs. J. B. Church, Mrs. A. H. Semmes and Mrs. Anna P. Stewart. The table providing home-made cookies, candy and flowers will be in charge of Mrs. H. C. Browning, Mrs. W. H. Sholes, Mrs. J. E. Baines, Mrs. C. H. Robb—while the tea table will be presided over by Mrs. J. C. Wilson, Mrs. Cloyd H. Marvin, Mrs. J. C. Letts, Mrs. Frank Mondell, and Mrs. Ralph A. Van Orsdel.

Mrs. Roosevelt heads the list of distinguished lovers of music who will sponsor the forthcoming May festival concert of the Washington Choral Society, which will take place Tuesday evening, May 16, at 8:30 o'clock in Central High School Auditorium, conducted by Louis A. Potter, when the choral program of the occasion will include a small work of Bach, "The Four Seasons," hitherto unsung in this country; some lovely old English madrigals and the Cesar Franck "One Hundred and Fiftieth Psalm," as well as orchestral numbers by members of the National Symphony Orchestra and the Washington String Quartet.

The fact that this choral organization of the Capital City has sung on at least three occasions with the National Symphony Orchestra has added to its own prestige with music lovers of Washington, many of whom will sponsor and attend the festival concert.

Among well-known Washingtonians who are sponsors for the concert are Mrs. Anne Archbold, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Aspinwall, Mr. Percy Lee Atherton, Mrs. Hiram Bingham, Mrs. Eugene Byrnes, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic A. Delano, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Phelps Dodge, Col. U. S. Grant 3d, Miss Grace Dunham Guest, Miss Alice Graeme, Mrs. Walter Bruce Howe, Mrs. Hennen Jennings, Miss Helen S. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Lodge, Dr. Edward B. Meigs, Mrs. Edwin B. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Phillips, Mrs. E. K. Peeples, Mrs. Julia D. Strong, Mr. and Mrs. Corcoran Thom, Mrs. Charles Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Myron W. Whitney and Mrs. David L. Wing.

The Junior League is cooperating with the Washington Choral Society, and reservations for seats for the festival concert may be had at the league headquarters on Connecticut avenue or from Mrs. Gertrude Lyons, who is secretary of the Choral Society.

Mrs. Grosvenor to Entertain Women Hospital Managers.

Mrs. Gilbert Grosvenor will be hostess to the board of women managers of the George Washington University Hospital, their guests and friends at a large tea and card party at the Grosvenor estate, Wild Acres, Bethesda, Md., on Tuesday, at 2 o'clock.

Beta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi will hold its regular meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at 2400 Sixteenth street. A talk on William C. Bryant and his nature poems will be given by the president, Miss Mary V. Lauderdale.

Miss Alice Garrett Wilkins will have as her guest for the week-end Mrs. E. Rolfe, of Philadelphia.

Meanderer Urges Readers to Attend Showing of New Styles.

FEATURES FOR WOMEN

Culbertson Explains Use of Two-No Trump Bid In Contract Play.

The Meanderer

Reminds Readers of Important Summer Styles Show—and Shops Here and There for This and That.

Telephone questions on The Meanderer's column to The Washington Post, National 4205, Extention 19; or address The Meanderer, The Washington Post, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Today's plans should include attending the "cotton carnival" in one of Washington's big department stores. It is to be a beautifully arranged showing of summer fashions, with music and flowers adding their appeal, and a cooling drink will be ready for all who attend.

Arriving along with spring and its need of new things for menus is prune juice in attractive flask-like green glass jars holding a quart of the brown, vitamin-rich liquid. This new product in the quart size is 30 cents in an old established grocery store. One homemaker bought the prune juice as much for the container as its contents, saying, "I can just see that green jug, after it has been emptied, with ivy trailing from it."

Probably unknown to many Meanderings readers is a department in a big, high-class shop, where small women may find economically priced, smart togs to fit them. The styles in this section are made for juniors and misses but they are so similar in line to women's fashions that the small matron finds them acceptable. Few garments there are priced at more than $25, while they may be found for as little as $7.95. It is really a high-class bargain basement as to prices—though the department is located on the sixth floor of the big shop. The Meanderer found more women than young girls poking about the attractive showings for juniors and misses.

In the department store's sixth-floor shop just mentioned there are some low-priced seersucker dresses worth having for sport, for garden or for street wear.

Searching through the linen department of one store's bath and boudoir shop, the Meanderer found towels from China, Czechoslovakia, Ireland, Spain and several parts of America, with novelty borders. Colored-bordered towels in several sizes may be made into attractive sets to suit the shopper.

Remodeling the bathroom for spring? Then see the artistic sets of towel racks, glass and soap and toothbrush holders and other matching bathroom fixtures in delightful new colors, including black. The fixtures are well-designed and durable. Very new bath shower curtains of soft, light-weight rubber in colors to harmonize with the new fixtures are 100 per cent moisture proof, and are heat and cold resistant. They are guaranteed not to streak, and not to mildew. These new things for the bath are in the same shop where the Meanderer found the bath shower spray attachable to the bath tub faucet and so arranged about the shoulders as to prevent wetting the hair.

A Meanderer reader has found the Ann Barrett recipes on "How to Make the Most of Strawberries" most helpful. She has been preparing a marmalade from fresh pineapple and the luscious Carolina strawberries now on the market, following an Ann Barrett suggestion.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

EARLY CATARACT.

FOR advanced cataract there is no treatment except operation by one of the well known methods. The rule is to have the eyes operated on separately. One of the eyes is selected for the first operation. The peculiarities of the patient, his eyes, and his cataracts are learned during this operation. But the principal advantage of operating on only one eye at a sitting is the lessened danger of total blindness, for there is a considerable percentage of untoward results in the wake of cataract extraction, in spite of all precautions.

For very early cataract there is some possibility of cure, and an even greater chance that the progress of the disorder can be stopped or will stop spontaneously. The greatest need there is in this field just now is for a method of diagnosing cataract when the first lines of opacity are appearing. It would be fairer to say the great need is for popularization of the symptoms which cause suspicion of very early cataract, since there are fairly satisfactory diagnostic methods once the search is begun in earnest.

Among the curative methods which are useful in clearing up a beginning cataract, first place goes to the discovery of a cataract causing organic disease and giving proper attention to that. There are several of these. One is diabetes, and, while we can not cure this malady, we can hold it in check sufficiently to increase the patient's comfort and efficiency and clear up the eye conditions that so often go with it. Infections of the nose, sinuses, teeth and other head structures is another group of causes of cataract that should be at least searched for.

There are cases of cataract that are benefited by iodide of potash and other and more direct antisyphilitic treatment. There are certain other medicines of ordinary varieties that are used by some physicians for the treatment of early cataract.

It has long been known that deficiency of vitamin A causes ulcers in the eyes, a condition known as xeropthalmia, and further, that the disorder was cured by diet rich in this vitamin. Just now this vitamin holds the spotlight. It is being discovered to have far reaching relations.

Dr. T. H. Shastid thinks that deficiency of it is one cause of cataract. Based on this, he treats early cataracts with carotin, or some other preparation rich in vitamin A. There are several of these carotin preparations from which to choose.

In former days we had to give cod liver oil or had to eat carrots to get it in abundance. The objection to cod liver oil is that it contains vitamin D in even greater potency, and Dr. Shastid holds that taking D has some tendency to cause cataract in old people.

Today's Recipe

Salmon Salad Filling.

(For 8 sandwiches.)

½ cup salmon
1 hard cooked egg diced
⅓ cup diced celery
2 tablespoons chopped pickles
¼ cup salad dressing
⅛ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon paprika

Lightly mix ingredients with fork. Spread on buttered slices of white bread. Add bits of shredded lettuce and cover with buttered bread. Tuna, shrimp or lobster can be used in place of salmon in this recipe.

Graf Zeppelin Passes Safely Over Gibraltar

Gibraltar, May 7 (A.P.).—The Graf Zeppelin, on a voyage to Pernambuco, Brazil, passed over Gibraltar at 5:20 p. m., today, at a speed of 80 miles per hour.

The dirigible left Friedrichshafen, Germany, last night with Dr. Hugo Eckener in command. Eleven passengers are on board.

Musical Thief Takes Schoolhouse Organ

Redmond, Oreg., May 7 (A.P.).—School authorities here are looking for a robber with musical inclinations. Some one broke into the Trail Crossing schoolhouse and stole the organ.

Desks and chairs were also taken from the school, closed this year because of a shortage of pupils.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

How about another daytime dress in crinkley crepe silk in beige? Biege is tremendously smart, and especially in combination with brown trim. Today's model is very simple in cut. Note the youthful sash, how it starts at either side and ties in a bow at the back. Printed crepe silks are lovely for its development, with plain toning crepe trim.

Style No. 2576 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20 years, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust. Size 16 requires 3⅝ yards of 39-inch material with ⅝ yard of 35-inch contrasting. Price of pattern, 15 cents.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

Very nonchalant and chic is this Bernard et Cie suit in crossbar tweed with printed silk blouse. The sleeveless jacket is odd, and the collar embroidered in heavy silk.

NOW I have thread on my mind—mi-i-iles and mi-i-iles of it, yards and reams—ah, thread, thread!

Don't think for a moment that any thread company has suddenly persuaded me to get thread-minded, will you? They wouldn't and haven't, but something far more subtle and important has persuaded me . . . thread itself.

'Tis because I have a whole flock of frocks that are falling to pieces along the seams. 'Course, they should have fallen to pieces ages ago—the frocks, I mean. Or gone out of style or something—but they didn't, because I chose them wisely and well. And they can be as new as new—if I get all the seams redone. Now think of that! For a great big couturiere to save a dime a spool or something less on thread—and ruin a $300 dress! Wouldn't it make you think a lot more about thread?

Pennywise and pound foolish, or worse, if you can think of any say that indicates a woman who risks the style, lines, wearability and chic of a nice dress made of expensive material—for the few cents she saves on a spool or two of thread for said dress. Yet many do it—and not only the home dressmaker, but the big, famous dressmakers of Paris, I do assure you. And the loss is inestimable—the loss of time in repairing, nerves and in exasperation, and of chic and elegance in general.

Next time you have anything made—insist on the thread and plenty of it, of the best quality—whether you are making something, or your maid is, or your dressmaker—or even a big dressmaker of an important house. Tell them you will pay the difference between cheap thread and good thread and watch them blush!

* * * *

Fringe is a decoration of thread, which reminded me of the importance of good thread! Your fringe can be done two different ways, and if you don't know how, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post and just find out. This week's illustrated leaflet is on how to fringe, and you can keep the knowledge of this pleasant art for the rest of your life once you learn it.

* * * *

White, stringy, gray, red, coral . . . are the good colors in linens for this summer. Dark colors for blouses of course. Reds and corals come as a surprise, but Miladi seems to like them, so she herself is responsible for their popularity.

* * * *

That people who buy dresses always ask for a belt is one of the amusing whims of the style business world. No matter what the lines of the dress, no matter how princess in effect—and no matter whether she is actually going to wear the belt or not—Miladi insists on having a belt. So have it she does, and the storekeepers are amused. I, for one, have a whole belt box full of belts—which I seldom use!

* * * *

Often a model is nicer than it looks as if it is going to be when it is sketched—fault of the artist, perhaps—or just that it can't be sketched into anything as chic as it is. I think that is what happened to today's sketch—it was a delightful looking outfit—all tweed and a practical blouse effect and a sleeveless jacket—and a smart collar which I simply could not achieve with the pen. Bernard et Cie, and they're practical while conservative and chic models are my pets—both the models and the couturiere!

* * * *

If a cotton frock isn't simple in styling, it isn't smart. Beware of overdoing with ruffles and pleats, if you would look not dollar ninetyish something! It's easier to cover a badly cut neckline with a ruffled collar than to cut it well in the first place, of course—which is just exactly the point of this warning.

Au revoir.

A New Yorker at Large

By MARK BARRON.

NEW YORK—Most ironical and hilarious is the inside story of why a once famous Broadway star was reconciled with her wealthy husband after beginning plans to divorce him.

When the fetching lass agreed to love, honor and nag this middle-aged magnate several years ago, her own bank account was considerably wilted. Her husband proved a generous provider for his pretty, and she soon lured from him a sizable cache of bankrolls as well as a fairly amazing collection of baubles such as diamonds, pearls and ermines.

Minx vs. Wolf.

All the time the scheming lass was plotting to go her way single again as soon as she had acquired enough to bribe the wolf away from the door with caviar and crepes Suzette.

Just before the banking holiday her Croesus mate had an inkling something such was going to happen, so he suggested that she put her money and jewels away in his private vaults. Which she did.

A few days ago she had a violent quarrel with husband dear and, packing her few tattered gowns which were worth only a meager $500 or so each, she moved into a separate apartment, vowing that her next abode would be a temporary one in Reno.

But, when she started to buy a round trip ticket to the Nevada courtrooms, the single track-minded damsel suddenly recalled that her entire fortune was locked in hubby's vault, and hubby was in anything but a mood to open that vault.

The next morning found a repentant and prodigal frau treking back to her moneyed mate to ask his forgiveness.

Gangland's Tender Moments.

The boys who live outside the law seem to have a special penchant for pets. They may not have much conscience when it comes to banging their fellow man around, but they would rather lose an arm than have harm come to their pets.

Owney Madden, whose temporary address is Sing Sing, used to spend all his spare time with his pigeons. He had several pens of them on the roof of an East Side tenement. When detectives wanted to talk to Owney, they usually went over to those pigeon pens and waited around. Owney was sure to show up sooner or later.

Humpty Jackson, who was one of the most famous leaders of the old-time New York gangs, reformed more than a quarter of a century ago. Since then he has operated a pet shop in uptown New York. He is a favorite with the neighborhood youngsters who bring in their injured pets.

His huge hands, which once knocked silly a whole crowd of rival gangsters, now are confined to tender ministrations to birds with a broken leg or puppies which get a bone caught in their throats.

Economy May Cut Beer to 5 Cents

Chicago, May 7 (A.P.).—An economy campaign among brewers aimed at every phase of the brewing industry from the price of hammers that drive the bungs to the conveyor that delivers hops and malt may soon bring that long-promised 5-cent stein of beer.

Anyhow, that was the opinion expressed today by Dr. Frederick P. Seibel, editor of the Technical Review and head of the Seibel Institute of Technology, a brewing industry affiliate.

Seibel said that the economy program, embracing all angles of the industry would enable the brewers to save enough to offset a portion of State, Federal and municipal taxes and thereby reduce beer prices.

Pioneer Woman, 89, Cuts Buck and Wing in Rain

Champoeg, Oreg., May 7 (A.P.).—Mrs. Graham Howard, 89, who crossed the plains with an ox team, can't be bothered by any little thing like a rainstorm when she wants to dance.

At the annual Founders' Day celebration at this historic Oregon shrine she tossed her coat aside in the open-air auditorium and showed the sons and daughters of Oregon pioneers how the buck and wing should be executed. Rain, turning to hail and driven by a stiff wind, couldn't stop her as Sam Walker played "Buckskin Trousers" on his old fiddle.

Chicago Lawyer Dies in Paris.

Paris, May 7 (A.P.).—Abraham Meyer, 61, a Chicago lawyer, died in a hospital here Saturday following an operation.

Culbertson on Bridge

By ELY CULBERTSON

AN OPENING TWO-NOTRUMP BID.

THOSE who have read my articles on Bridge know that I am a thorough believer in the Approach principle as applied to the bidding of a hand. However, it must be admitted that there are certain types of hands and certain bidding situations which call for more direct methods. These hands are such where great honor strength is concentrated in one hand and where the honor holding or distribution is not of the type to warrant opening with a Forcing bid of two, but suggest the advisability of the near-Forcing two-notrump bid, which needs only the greed of partner to cause him to respond on values with which he might pass a bid of one notrump or a bid of one in a suit.

The team representing Crockford's Club, New York, has recently been engaged in some practice matches, preparatory to a European trip this summer. The players participating in these matches have been Mrs. Culbertson, playing as my partner against Messrs. Michael T. Gottlieb and Theodore A. Lightner. The hands are scored as at Rubber play, but unlike Rubber play, a record of the sins of omission and commission is kept on a "crime" sheet. This adds a double interest to the game.

In the first rubber of this practice match, after Mrs. Culbertson and I had made the first game on a redoubled contract of four spades, the following hand was dealt:

South, Dealer.
East and West vulnerable.

	Mr. Gottlieb
	♠ 3 5 4 ♡ K 10 9 6 ◇ 5 3 ♣ 9 8 6 4
Mr. Culbertson	N W E S	Mrs. Culbertson
♠ Q 10 6 3 ♡ 7 3 2 ◇ K Q 9 4 ♣ 10 5		♠ A K 2 ♡ Q J 4 ◇ A J 10 ♣ A K 3 2
	♠ J 9 7 ♡ A 8 5 ◇ 8 7 6 2 ♣ Q J 7

The bidding: (Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs).

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	Pass	2NT(1)
Pass	3NT(2)	Pass	Pass
Pass

1—Note that the hand contains 6 honor-tricks, but it is of balanced distribution without ruffing values and without any kind of long or powerful suit. Its honor strength is such as to require a try for game if partner holds anything that will make him respond to a near-Forcing bid, but the distribution is such as to make an absolutely Forcing bid of two clubs inadvisable.

2—This comes as a matter of course. The hand contains 1-plus honor-trick, which is sufficient to raise the two-notrump bid to three, vulnerable or not vulnerable.

The play of the hand was in no sense difficult. As a matter of fact, Mr. Lightner opened his only four-card suit—diamonds. This, from the standpoint of the Declarer, ordinarily would be a favorable development, as all the tricks in that suit were assured. However, as the cards lay, no lead would have made the slightest difference. East could cash four diamonds, four spades and two clubs, but any effort to develop a heart trick might jeopardize the success of the contract. Thus Mrs. Culbertson correctly did not play for any tricks in that suit before assuring herself of the vulnerable game.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

If you, sitting West, were playing this hand at a contract of four hearts and had lost 2 spade tricks and if North continued with the King of clubs, how would you plan the play to make your contract?

West, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

	♠ A K 10 9 8 ♡ K ◇ 8 5 3 ♣ K Q 7 4
♠ 6 5 ♡ A Q 10 7 5 ◇ A Q 6 ♣ A J 8	N W E S	♠ Q 7 3 2 ♡ J 9 8 6 ◇ K J 10 ♣ 10 6
	♠ J 4 ♡ 4 3 2 ◇ 9 7 4 2 ♣ 9 5 3 2

The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

Guiding Your Child

By MRS. AGNES LYNE

GIRLS often come home from domestic science courses with new ideas about family menus and practical housekeeping. Or they pick up ideas about home decoration and are full of enthusiasm about putting these into effect.

Many mothers make the mistake of discouraging such notions, treating them as childish fads. Really, such interests are to be encouraged for a number of reasons, not the least of which concerns development of the young girl's initiative.

Let your daughter try out her recipes. Probably she will surprise you by producing something extremely good. Let her plan meals if she wants to. Let her take the entire responsibility for, say, marketing, cooking and serving Sunday supper or dinner on a day when you have other things to do.

Mothers are always underestimating their children's ability to do well the tasks which they regard as being within their own particular province.

Ideas about home decoration are likely to prove expensive when indulged in as free experiments. But it is possible to take suggestions and to let the girl work things out with a minimum of advice from you.

She can begin on her own room. Give her a certain sum of money and see what she produces in the way of color schemes, arrangements, hangings and furniture coverings.

Make her feel that her ideas about the rest of the house are worth listening to. Let her try out new furniture arrangements and take her with you when you go shopping for new things.

Such an attitude on your part may provide you with real help. It will give your daughter excellent training in managing a home of her own some day, while it will do a good deal to help the relationship between you during years when girls often have all too few points of contact with their mothers.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"TAURUS."

IF May 8 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 6:35 a. m. to 7:50 a. m., from 11 a. m. to 12 noon and from 9:45 p. m. to 10:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 8:40 a. m. to 9:50 a. m. and from 5 p. m. to 6 p. m.

It is quite possible that you will feel adventuresome on this day and inclined to be a bit reckless. Take care not to throw all caution to the winds. People will "get under your skin" easily and you will become annoyed on the slightest provocation.

The child born on this May 8 will no doubt lead a vigorous existence during his early years. He must be careful not to overtax himself physically, for he will be inclined to play too hard. This little one will show himself to be a good loser. A friend to all.

If May 8 is the date of your birth, you are most likely a person who will lead a life of great activity. Mentally and physically you are keenly alive and you always have your wits about you. You are not one to be satisfied with a routine existence; you must be up and out and doing something of an unusual nature. You face dangers without fear. You know how to handle yourself under any and all circumstances and you seem always prepared for the emergency. You do not take unnecessary risks but you seek and enjoy adventures and exploits that are hazardous and offer thrills.

Born on May 8, you are a very level-headed person. Your tastes and desires are simple; they are of a wholesome kind. You are a religious person and you sincerely believe in the ever presence and guidance of a Supreme Being; it is more than likely, however, that you are not a member of any church group. Thoroughly honest, frank and outspoken when direct speech is needed; you are a person easy to get along with. At best, you have little to say. When you find yourself among strangers or in the presence of people you do not care for you are even more reticent. You are easily hurt by those you love. The women born on this day enjoy taking part in activities of an outdoor nature; among them are found many fine swimmers, tennis players and other athletes. The women make good mothers and do not pamper their children.

Successful people born on May 8:
William H. Vanderbilt, financier.
William Walker, adventurer.
Louis M. Gottschalk, pianist and composer.
Augusta E. Wilson, author.
George Miller Beard, physician.
Charles P. Naegele, artist.

Advertising Is Believable

Not many years ago the ladies of the sewing circle used to say, "That's only an advertisement," and "you can't believe what you see in the advertisements."

Today that is not so. The majority of business men are truthful; they realize that advertising is worth little unless it is believed. The majority subject their statements to a strict censorship before printing them.

Washington newspapers believe in "truth in advertising" and will not knowingly print anything untruthful or misleading. The Better Business Bureau investigates advertising; checks questionable statements and establishes standards for better ethics.

That "the ladies of the sewing circle" and all other ladies may have confidence in advertising is the aim of this vigilance on the part of the Bureau; that they will believe and have cause to believe the offerings made by advertisers.

The appearance of this advertisement in these columns is evidence that this newspaper cooperates with and supports the Better Business Bureau for your protection.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

THE Navy Band, led by Lieut. Charles Benter, will be heard over WMAL at 10:15 this morning, in its initial concert followng the raising of the broadcasting ban by Secretary Swanson. The Navy and Marine Bands will hereafter be heard several times a week.

When the Marine Band resumes the "Shut-in-Hour" next Friday morning the first piece will be the "Poet and Peasant" overture. This will be in response to the following letter received by Capt. Taylor Branson from a heartbroken mother in Brooklyn:

Dear Capt. Branson:

I am writing to tell you that my son Philip (who was one of your most ardent radio fans) is dead. He died from bronchial pneumonia.

He wrote to you so often asking you to play requests and he felt as if you were one of his dearest friends, in fact, when your broadcasts were discontinued for a time, he felt as though every pleasure was taken out of his life.

As you know, he was a helpless invalid for fourteen years and the radio was his only pastime. I could never explain to you how impatiently he waited for the time when he knew you and that wonderful band of yours would be on the air.

While he suffered for two weeks before he died he was half delirious and kept mentioning "The Poet and Peasant Overture." I wonder if you would be so kind as to play this for me.

Thanking you for every kindness which you have shown my son, I am,

Very truly yours,

MRS. BALDWIN.

P. S.—My son was 28 years of age.

OTHER departments have fallen in line with the publicity policy indicated by President Roosevelt at his highly satisfactory White House press conferences but the Federal Radio Commission is apparently taking the opposite tack. In an economy drive the commission is about to dismiss Frank Wisner, its press representative, unquestionably one of the most capable men in his line in any of the Government departments.

Wisner, a graduate of the Baltimore Sun, is in a class with Paul Croghan at the Department of Commerce and Col. Ike Gregg, at the Postoffice Department, who are known for their faithful work to almost every newspaperman in Washington.

Whenever a newspaper correspondent wants any information from the Radio Commission Wisner gets it for him and gets it quickly. Having been with the commission almost since its beginning he has made himself valuable not only to those who cover the commission regularly but to Washington correspondents generally.

Radio news very often is highly technical and it takes an expert to interpret various matters which the commission handles. The assertion is made that the Radio Commission is packed with lawyers and engineers, some of whose services could be easily dispensed with.

"Why then pick on the one fone man in the organization who through his assistance to the press has so capably served the public in keeping it informed as to what the Radio Commission is doing?" a newspaper man asked.

Correspondents recall several other attempts at the Radio Commission to curtail press information. Once the commissioners were reported to be on the point of issuing an order that any employe seen talking to a newspaper man be dismissed.

One version of the contemplated letting out Wisner is that the move is political. This is hard to understand, because he is a Maryland Democrat and has indorsements of Senator Tydings, Gov. Ritchie and Mayor Jackson, of Baltimore. Apparently these are to be disregarded in the shake-up.

WOL highlights tonight will be "Personalities and Landmarks," by Arnold Kruckman, 6:30; "Shadows and Dusk," by Alan Moore, 7, and "Civic Problems," by Sylvan King, at 7:15.

HARRIS HULL, the Postilion, with the night news from The Washington Post, will be doing business at the old stand tonight at the usual hour, 10 o'clock.

The Mount Vernon Methodist Episcopal Church South Choir is to sing over WRC at 8:30.

The "Georgetown Garden Pilgrimage" will be described by Mrs. Robert P. Whitehead, in the Chamber of Commerce Forum at 8:01 over WMAL.

The Silver String Revelers, directed by William Chaney, will begin a series of musical presentations over WJSV Thursday at 6:20. The organization presents modern music touched with both the "Hill Billy" and "Hawaiian" atmosphere, achieving an extremely different type of program.

Mrs. J. Bebbett Gordon, of the Argonne, was awarded a $50 prize in the air contest being conducted by Singin' Sam.

The last of a series of talks on the birthdays of famous people will be given by Lyman Beecher Stowe over WJSV at 3:30 p. m. The subject will be his famous grandmother, Harriet Beecher Stowe.

"THE BELLS," the play in which Henry Irving scored his greatest success, will be presented by the Radio Guild this afternoon over WMAL at 3 o'clock.

"The Bells" tells the story of the ravages of a guilty conscience following the murder, on a wintry road, of an innocent man. The bells of the victim's sleigh continue to haunt his murderer until they finally drive him to his death.

Richard Gordon will play the role of the murderer. Principal parts will be portrayed by Florence Malone, Charles Webster, Peggy Allenby and others.

Fannie Bryce (as saleslady in sheet-music department)—Anything I can sell you?

Customer—How is the "Stockyard Blues?"

Fannie—The words are not so good, but the air will kill you!

Bob Trout, of WJSV, goes to Annapolis June 1 to recount the graduation day exercises at the Naval Academy for the Columbia network.

Miss Bertie Bachus, principal of Deal Junior High School, in Washington, will answer the question, "Shall We Go Back to the Three R's?" (WMAL, 1:30 p. m.).

"OUR INTERIOR PROBLEMS" looks at first glance as if it might have something to do with 3.2 beer, but in reality it is the topic of Secretary of the Interior Ickes' address tonight on the National Radio Forum (WRC, 9:30 o'clock).

Beginning May 16, the Radio Forum will be heard over WRC on Tuesday nights at 9:30 instead of Mondays.

Harry Reser, banjo-strumming Eskimo, will play "Kitten On the Keys" as his solo contribution to the program over WMAL at 7 p. m. The old favorites, "Dardanella" and "The Blue Room," from "The Girl Friend," mingle with the currently popular "In a Park in Paree" and "An Orchid to You."

Gates W. McGarrah, retiring American president of the Bank for International Settlements at Basle, Switzerland, will talk on world finances during a transatlantic broadcast from Basle, to be heard in this country over the WEAF network at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Henry Cabot Lodge, jr., former Washington correspondent and grandson of the late Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, will answer the talk given last week by Alfred M. Bingham, an editor of Common Sense, on "Collectivism vs. Individualism," in an address over WJSV at 1 p. m.

Chicago Vagrants Like Jail Berths

Chicago, May 7 (A.P.).—"Chiselers" at the city jail have become a problem to Warden Edward Denemark.

When Mayor Kelly asked him would he please make room at the Bridewell for some hundreds of beggars infesting Chicago, Denemark threw up his hands.

"If police arrest the beggars I don't know where we'll put them," he said. "We have 2,500 guests—a capacity house. And a lot of 'em are plain chislers. They schemed to enter and don't want to leave because they like the food and haven't any place to go. Why last Christmas we freed 120. Fifteen flatly refused to leave, 22 were back in two days and 40 within a week."

American Legislatures Adopt 7,100 New Bills

Chicago, May 7 (A.P.).—American Legislatures in the open season on law passing now drawing to a close adopted some 7,100 bills this year to add to the uncounted thousands of laws already on the statute books, the American Legislators Association said today.

Forty-five Legislatures convened—many of them now adjourned—and received 62,000 bills. In 1931 the Legislatures introduced 59,500 bills and passed 8,031, the survey showed.

Ship Delays Five Hours For Jung's Departure

Boston, May 7 (U.P.).—Guido Jung, Italian finance minister, who conferred with President Roosevelt at Washington on questions pertaining to the coming World Economic Conference, sailed from Boston for Italy late today aboard the S. S. Vulcania.

The vessel's departure was delayed more than five hours for the Jung party, hurrying from New York.

DICK TRACY—A Decision.

A STRANGELY HAUNTING FEELING OF UNEASINESS RIDES THE TRAIN WITH TRACY AS HE RETURNS EASTWARD—SOMETHING TELLS HIM HE DEPARTED FROM THE MOUNTAIN HOME OF HANK STEELE TOO SOON.
- HANG IT! IN SPITE OF THE CHIEF'S ORDERS - I SHOULDN'T HAVE LEFT THERE UNTIL I MADE SURE WHAT BECAME OF THAT TRAMP'S BODY.
I CAN'T BELIEVE THAT HE LIVED AFTER LEAPING OVER THAT CLIFF—STILL I HAVE NO PROOF THAT HE IS DEAD! AND IF HE ISN'T DEAD, JUNIOR IS STILL IN DANGER
MEANWHILE, IN THE MOUNTAIN OUTLAW'S SHACK. . .
SENOR, I CAN-NOT SLEEP NIGHTS LISTENING TO ZAT GRINGO'S GROANS. HE EES DRIVING ME CRAZY. AND WE CAN GET NO INFORMATION FROM HIM
NO. HE AIN'T BEEN CONSCIOUS ENOUGH TO TALK SINCE WE GOT 'IM OUTTA THAT TREE.
SENOR—HE EES DYING! SOON WE WILL HAVE A DEAD MAN ON OUR HANDS! AND THEN WHAT HAVE WE GAINED? WE MUST GET RID OF HEEM!
YOU'RE RIGHT, GREASY! WE'VE GOT TO GET RID OF HIM—AND DO IT QUICK!

Lines of CLASSIFIED Advertising in the Month of APRIL

WANT ADS provide the acid test of an advertising medium. Results must be positive and quick. There are no accumulative values—every individual advertisement must bring its own direct response . . . To accomplish this a newspaper must have the confidence of its readers, and their interest in its classified columns, in order to exert the PULL that has resulted in these phenomenal gains in Washington Post classified advertising . . . Gains that are based entirely upon PROVED RESULTS!

The Washington Post Now Publishes More Classified Advertising Than Three Other Washington Newspapers COMBINED

of GAINS and LOSSES in both lineage totals and in number of individual advertisements during the month of April, 1933, as compared with the same period a year ago:

The Washington Post

GAINED . 91,637 Lines

GAINED .. 11,770 Advertisements

One Paper

LOST ..... 16,733 Lines

LOST ..... 206 Advertisements

*Two Papers

LOST ..... 19,837 Lines

LOST ..... 3,400 Advertisements

(*Classified advertising runs in combination, at one rate, in this morning and this afternoon paper.)

One Newspaper

GAINED ..... 518 Advertisements

As a morning newspaper The Washington Post is the natural classified advertising medium—as indicated by the fact that the four leading classified advertising mediums in the United States are morning newspapers. A morning advertisement brings results the day the ad appears and thus fulfills the primary need of the classified advertiser for QUICK action. In the morning, needs are also most evident and the prospective buyer turns to the Post Want-Ad section as a convenient and reliable buying directory of what he may require.

An honest circulation, "The First Thing in The Morning," among families who have the capacity to fulfill their "wants" and who have complete confidence in the merit of any article or service offered through the medium of their most trusted newspaper, makes it possible for advertisers in The Washington Post to secure RESULTS more quickly and surely and at a lower net cost than in any other Washington newspaper.

Every day The Washington Post receives new confirmation of its tremendous pulling power from advertisers whose "wants" have been met. Every day The Washington Post publishes the statement of one of these advertisers in a front page box . . . Follow these daily testimonials and consider what they mean to you, either as a reader or as an advertiser in "the Capital's Greatest NEWSpaper."

To the reader they indicate the convenience of a comprehensive and carefully indexed guide to the satisfaction of his requirements—whether of a place to live, merchandise or personal service. To the classified advertiser they offer conclusive proof of reader-interest and sales opportunities. To the display advertiser they demonstrate reader-interest that may be equally directed to the merits of HIS services . . . Above all else they PROVE why The Washington Post is making sensational GAINS, despite unfavorable conditions and in the face of tremendous losses by other Washington newspapers!

NATIONALS AND TIGERS BREAK EVEN IN TWIN BILL

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

Navin Field, Detroit, Mich., May 7.

CHARLES SOLOMON MYER, the Nats' second baseman, who has figured in the headlines of late by various routes, including the Griffith Stadium riot and his consequent fine and suspension, is to be discharged from Providence Hospital here tomorrow, after being under observation for a possible skull fracture.

X-ray pictures this morning revealed no serious injuries beyond a very slight concussion, and Washington teammates who visited him today found the little infielder propped up in bed and quite comfortable, with the exception of a stiffened neck and a small scalp abrasion where Whitlow Wyatt's pitch beaned him in the eighth inning yesterday.

President Clark Griffith of the Nats will remain with Myer in Detroit tomorrow and they will watch the game between the Tigers and the Athletics before leaving for Cleveland, where Griffith is to attend the annual spring meeting of the American League.

Will Rejoin Nationals At Chicago.

Myer was feeling so chipper today that it is doubtful if he will be sent back to Washington, as originally planned. He will miss the Nats' four-game series in St. Louis, but expects to join the club in Chicago for the last series in the West.

Myer would not comment when he was questioned regarding the thickness of his skull as revealed by the X-ray photographs. But he did laugh.

With this young fellow Bob Boken in his present good health and state of activity it can hardly be said that the Nats are hard hit by the absence of Buddy Myer.

The Kid from Kansas City, who is filling in for Myer at second base, is quite serious about it; so serious, in fact, that the Tigers this afternoon were debating the possibility of turning in a general alarm in an effort to get him out.

Boken was only 50 per cent effective in the first game with three hits in six appearances at the plate, but in the encore performance he displayed some improvement with a single in his first time at bat, a single in his second time up, and a home run over the newly erected screen in his third appearance. He had six out of eleven for the day and when the fellow regains his batting eye he is likely to do the Nats a lot of good.

The Nats entrained for St. Louis after the twin bill here and face a four-game series with the Browns, with a record of two victories in four games thus far in the West, which is not bad, considering this is the West.

With the first game starting at 1:45 p. m. it seemed at bit too early for the Tiger infield, which made four errors in the first five innings. The boys did not appear very much awake.

The Nats had twelve men left on base in the opener and Joe Cronin's five horse collars in the clean-up position explains a lot.

Cronin used six pitchers, three catchers and two pinch-hitters in the opener. The Nats outnumbered the Tigers in everything but runs.

The Nats looked as if they were trying to bunt Marvin Owen out of the league in the first game. Both Goslin and Boken dropped bleeders down his way and beat 'em out.

After getting free transportation home on Bluege's homer in the ninth, Dave Harris waited at the plate to shake Bluege's hand. Just one great hitter to another.

Offer of $250,000 Is Made to Sharkey

Los Angeles, May 7 (A.P.).—An offer to Jack Sharkey, promising $250,000 for the Boston sailor man plus a percentage, to defend his world's heavyweight title here against the winner of the Max Baer-Max Schmeling bout in New York, was made today by A. E. Santweir, local sports promoter.

Santweir said a syndicate of local men would put up the money for the fight here Labor Day.

Boston, May 7 (A.P.).—Johnnie Buckley, manager of Jack Sharkey, reached late tonight, said he had refused the offer of A. E. Santweir.

Buckley said he had never heard of Santweir.

Reds Trade Three Players to Cards

Durocher, Derringer Among Those in No-Cash Swap.

NEW YORK, May 7 (A.P.).—The Cincinnati Reds today traded Shortstop Leo Durocher and Pitchers John Ogden and Frank (Dutch) Henry to the St. Louis Cardinals for Pitchers Paul Derringer and Allyn Stout and Infielder Earl (Sparky) Adams. No cash was involved.

The deal was regarded as of distinct advantage to both clubs, with the Reds perhaps the chief gainers. The addition of Durocher, a fine fielder, plugs one of the Cardinals' glaring infield weaknesses, while the Reds not only strengthen a weak pitching staff but also gain a useful utility infielder in Adams.

The shortstop post has been a vexing problem for Manager Gabby street, of the Cards, ever since Charley Gelbert suffered accidental gunshot wounds during the winter. After numerous experiments, Street finally converted John Leonard (Pepper) Martin into a third baseman, installed Rogers Hornby at second base and moved Frankie Frisch to shortstop. The addition of Durocher probably will mean that Martin will return to the outfield, with Frisch shifting to third base.

Durocher played shortstop for the Cardinals against Brooklyn today with Martin on third, Frisch at second and

Davis Cup Teams Of Holland and Germany Score

The Hague, May 7 (A.P.).—Holland eliminated Poland from further Davis Cup tennis competition today when Hans Timmer defeated I. Tloczaski, 6—1, 3—6, 6—4, 3—6, 6—2.

Timmer's victory made the count three triumphs for Holland against one for Poland, thus clinching the series regardless of the outcome of the final singles contest.

Wiesbaden, May 7 (A.P.).—Germany scored a clean sweep of its Davis Cup tennis series with Egypt by capturing the last two singles matches today.

Gottfried von Cramm defeated Boggadly, 6—2, 6—2, 6—2, while E. Nourney conquered Wahid, 5—7, 8—6, 6—2, 9—7.

Copenhagen, May 7 (A.P.).—Ireland and Denmark split even in the first two singles matches of their Davis Cup tennis contest today.

G. Lyttleton Rogers, giant Irishman, defeated E. Ulrich, 8—6, 6—3, 6—2, but Jacobson squared the count by defeating T. E. Vegh, 3—6, 2—6, 6—4, 8—6, 6—3.

Brussels, May 7 (A.P.).—Frantz Matejka defeated Lacroix, 6—3, 6—4, 6—2, today to give Austria a 2-to-0 lead over Belgium in their Davis Cup tennis contest.

U. S. Sweeps Series On Mexican Courts

Beaten Only 3 Sets in 3 Days of Davis Cup Play.

MEXICO CITY, May 7 (A.P.).—The United States Davis Cup Tennis Team scored a clean sweep of its first-round series with Mexico by winning the last two singles matches today.

Wilmer Allison, Austin, Tex., star who captains the American squad, defeated Eduardo Mestre, 6—0, 9—7, 6—2, and Cliff Sutter, of New Orleans, conquered Dr. Ricardo Tapia, 6—1, 3—6, 7—5, 2—6, 6—1, in the only really close match of the series.

Previously the United States had won the first two singles matches Friday and the doubles yesterday, thus clinching the series regardless of the outcome of today's matches.

All of the players, but particularly the invaders, were visibly affected by the intense heat—thermometers registered 92 degrees.

Allison swept through the first set of his match with Mestre in brilliant fashion, but quickly tired, and after that it was a closely fought duel all the way, although Allison always was master of the situation. At the end, the Texan declared Mestre was the finest young player in Mexico and predicted a great future for him.

Sutter appeared almost on the point of collapse several times in his match with Tapia once the Mexican ace had taken the second set, but pulled himself together with the score

Tribe, Yanks Get Even Break

55,000 Crowd Sees Indians Win, 7-6, Then Bow, 8-4.

Four Homers Made; Averill Gets Four Hits Each Game.

CLEVELAND, May 7 (A.P.).—For the first time this season the New York Yankees today were bounced out of first place in the American League but climbed right back to the top again shortly afterward when they won the second game of a double-header from the Cleveland Indians after losing the first.

Four Yankee hurlers were unable to stop the Tribe sluggers from knocking out 15 hits in the opening encounter as Cleveland won, 7 to 6.

A quartet of Indians' pitchers was almost as luckless in the final, yielding 13 hits as the Yankees won, 8 to 4.

55,000 Turn Out for Games.

Fifty-five thousand persons, the second largest crowd in the history of Cleveland baseball, saw the twin bill.

Eddie Morgan hit a homer in the fourth inning and Bill Knickerbocker in the fifth inning of the first game. In the second contest, Earl Combs knocked a circuit clout in the fourth inning and Tony Lazzeri followed with another in the fifth. Earl Averill made four hits in each game.

Stoefen and Washburn Victors

Shields and Alonzo Upset at Chevy Chase Nets.

FLASHING a superb brand of tennis, Lester Stoefen, smooth-stroking California tennis star, and Watson Washburn, the bald former Davis Cup player, teamed successfully yesterday to conquer the favored combination of Frank Shields, of New York, and Manuel Alonzo, one-time Spanish Davis Cup luminary, in the finals of the Chevy Chase invitation doubles championship. A crowd of 500 watched the proceedings.

Stoefen and Washburn, who were given a torrid battle in their semi-finals late Saturday, captured the five-set match by scores of 3—6, 7—5, 7—5, 4—6 and 6—3.

Although they were weary at the finish of the doubles, Stoefen and Shields played an exhibition singles set, the lanky New York broker triumphing, 7—5.

In the doubles finals, Washburn displayed some of his old fire as he stroked magnificently from back court, and then alternated at the net with Stoefen in scoring many a valuable point. The cool-headed Stoefen, who possesses a terrific serve and a bullet-like stroke, turned in some of his finest playing since he went into action early Saturday morning.

Shields and Alonzo, who breezed through two easy matches before entering the finals, got off to a flying start, but Stoefen and Washburn put on steam in the second and third set, only to find the opposition in a winning mood in the fourth set, which they won, 6—4. The deciding set saw Stoefen and Washburn finish with a burst of consistent stroking.

Chevy Chase next prepares for the Davis Cup matches, which are scheduled between the United States and Canada on May 25, 26 and 27.

Dodgers and Cards Divide Double Bill

Brooklyn, May 7 (A.P.).—The Brooklyn Dodgers avenged a seventeen-hit assault which gave the Cardinals, of St. Louis, an easy 12-to-5 victory in the first game of a double-header here today in appropriate fashion. They turned in the second contest, broke a St. Louis winning streak of five straight by gaining a 4-to-2 decision.

Dazzy Vance, making the first start of his career against his long-time Brooklyn teammates, was the Cardinal starting pitcher in the second game. He was trailing by 2 to 1, when he retired for a pinch hitter in the seventh and Bill Hallahan, who succeeded him, was the victim of the winning assault.

BROKER'S TIP LEAVES TO RUN IN PREAKNESS SATURDAY

Others Also Off for Pimlico

Head Play to Start Trip Today With High Hopes.

Several Fist Fights Enliven Activity at Stables.

By C. ROBERT KAY.

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 7 (A.P.).—Broker's Tip, Col. E. R. Bradley's fourth Kentucky Derby victor, tonight was en route to Maryland, where he will race in the Preakness Saturday and probably renew his feud with Head Play, Mrs. Silas Mason's crack colt, which was nosed out in yesterday's $50,000 added classic.

Head Play will start for Pimlico tomorrow. The unsuccessful Eastern contingent, led by W. R. Coe's Ladysman, just another beaten Derby favorite, also left today for Maryland, leaving behind Sarada and Trace Call, which developed illnesses after being shipped here for the Derby, and will remain at Churchill Downs until in better condition.

Mrs. P. M. Eastman's Charley O., Florida Derby winner, which finished third five lengths behind Broker's Tip and Lead Play in yesterday's event, will be reserved for the American Derby at Chicago. Ladysman was fourth in the Kentucky Derby, and his stablemate, Pomponious, was fifth.

Several Fist Fights Follow.

Broker's Tip, the surprise winner, paid $19.86 for $2 to win in the betting mutuels. Among the also ran's were Spicson, Kerry Patch, Mr. Khayyam, Inlander, Strideaway, Dark Winter, Isaiah and Good Advice.

The stable enclosure behind the back stretch at Churchill Downs was a scene of bustling activity this morning as handlers prepared their charges for the trip East. The proceedings were enlivened by several fist-fights, resulting from arguments engendered by yesterday's bitter stretch duel.

Never has a Kentucky Derby touched off such a swell of debate, and in some cases recrimination, vituperation and violence on the part of partisans unable to agree on whether Broker's Tip or Head Play was the better horse, despite the official verdict of the judges giving the verdict to the Bradley colt.

Both Horses Impeded.

Aside from the rough riding tactics, many experts today expressed belief Head Play might have won had he been held in reserve until the stretch run instead of being taken to the front on the back stretch. Fisher, however, laid his defeat to Meade's alleged fouling. Head Play did appear to falter once in the stretch drive, but Broker's Tip also was impeded by being crowded. The time for the race was 2:06 4-5, five seconds slower than Twenty Grand's record set in 1931.

Fisher will not ride Head Play in the Preakness. The mount will be given to Jockey A. Robertson. Sir Barton, in 1919, was the only other maiden to win the Derby, and Sir Barton the following Saturday won the Preakness.

Col. Bradley last year won both the Derby and the Preakness with Burgoo King. Sir Barton, Gallant Fox in 1930, and Burgoo King are the only horses which have won both events. Willie Crump, who saddled Head Play in the Derby, is confident he will win the Preakness, while H. J. "Dick" Thompson, only trainer who has saddled four Derby victors, expressed equal assurance Broker's Tip would win it.

Mrs. William Crump, who sold Head Play on Derby eve for $30,000, was on the long end of the deal today, since the horse did not win. Once more the pronouncement of a famed thoroughbred breeder, the late John E. Madden, has been borne out—"it is better to sell and repent, than to not sell and repent."

Foe in Derby Out-Tricked By Meade

Both Jockeys Guilty of Rough Riding, Officials Feel.

LOUSVILLE, Ky., May 7 (A.P.).—Just what happened during that wild stretch drive in the 1933 Kentucky Derby, which resulted in a nose victory for Broker's Tip over Head Play will always be a matter of debate, but a narrative of the rough-riding affair could be pieced together today from the accounts of many veteran turf experts.

The battle began as the thoroughbreds rounded the turn into the stretch. Jockey Herb Fisher, astride Head Play, swerved out, carrying Charlie O, second at that stage, wide. This tactical error gave Don Meade, Broker's Tip's rider, a golden opportunity to slip through along the rail.

Broker's Tip's nose moved steadily along beside Head Play's flanks, as Charley O started dropping back. The race then was between Broker's Tip and Head Play, both racing stride for stride, and, bumping each other at short intervals.

Saw Meade's Whip Strike Fisher.

Meade claims Fisher was bumping him toward the rail. Near the finish, Fisher clamed, Meade grabbed hold of Head Play's blanket. Head Play appeared to falter at one stage, some witnesses saw Meade's whip strike Fisher in the face, but said this easily could happen accidentally as both Meade and Fisher were whipping their mounts furiously.

A few strides from the finish both horses moved away from the rail. A photograph of the finish, taken from beneath the horses, revealed Meade's right hand was clutching Fisher's shirt at the shoulder, and that Fisher's left hand was grasping at Broker's Tip's saddle. Each jockey was leaning sidewise toward the other's mount.

Thus ended the race, with Broker's Tip a nose on front, but that did not end the battle. Fisher, ragingly disappointed, lashed out with his whip at Meade, striking him in the face. Fisher ran to the judges' stand, entered the enclosure, and claime he was fouled.

Plea Turned Down By Judges.

The judges listened to his plea, then calmly turned their backs on him in umpire fashion. Fisher sagged down on a bench and burst into tears, weeping while his rival received the acclamations of victory. Track officials today said the judges believed both boys were guilty of rough riding, and that if Head Play had won, Meade would have had an equally valid foul claim.

Charles F. Price, presiding steward, said today the board of stewards had deferred action in the case until tomorrow. He said the stewards did not entertain the claim of foul, as they saw no reason for it from Jockey Fisher.

When Meade entered the jockey's dressing room after the trophy presentation, Fished lunged at him, screaming "He beat me out of it!" He rained wild blows on Meade's head and shoulders, shrieking and sobbing in anger. Meade landed one solid punch in return before they were separated.

Meade, taken downstairs and out of sight of the raging rival, said: "The whole thing is, he tried to trick me out of the race, and as it turned out I succeeded in tricking him."

Meade was under suspension when he rode in the Derby. He was suspended last Monday for five days because of rough-riding on Sweepsrush, which won a race in the colors of James T. Looney, champion burgoo maker for whom Burgoo King, last year's Derby winner, was named. Suspensions, however, do not apply to engagements in stake races. Meade's suspension was the only one of the meeting so far.

After Broker's Tip's only other race this spring Meade himself claimed a foul. Defeated by Warren, jr., in a race at Lexington, Meade claimed Jockey C. McCrossen crossed over in front of Broker's Tip near the finish, but the claim was not allowed.

U. S. SWEEPS SERIES ON MEXICAN COURTS

at two-sets all and uncovered a flashing attack that had Tapia bewildered in the fifth and deciding set.

Sutter, however, was not nearly so effective as he had been against Esteban Reyes on Friday, while Tapia played a fine, heady game.

In scoring their sweep the United States players dropped only three sets. Allison dropped one set to Papia on Friday and Sutter two to the same player today. Sutter had beaten Reyes in straight sets Friday and George Lott and John Van Ryn won over Alfonso Unda and Mestre in the same fashion yesterday.

Allison and his mates next will face the winner of the first-round series between Cuba and Canada, who are to begin play at Hot Springs, Va., next Thursday.

GEORGETOWN A. C. WINS.

Georgetown A. C. scored a 9-1 victory over the Warehouse unlimited club yesterday. Buzzanca, winning hurler fanned 12, while White and Beach led the attack.

Race Is Blow to Belief First Foal Runs Badly

Louisville, Ky., May 7 (A.P.).—The result of the 1933 Kentucky Derby was a blow to horsemen who believe a first foal seldom runs well in stake races.

Broker's Tip was the first foal of Forteresse, a broodmare imported from France, which never won a race in her life. She was sired by Sardanapale, famed French racer, which won the equivalent of $211,505.

Mate, which won the Preakness in 1931 and was third in the Derby of that year, was another first foal which proved of stake caliber.

TOM WATSON WILL MEET CHOCOLATE

Seeks Title Friday; Miller and Trupillo Also to Fight.

NEW YORK, May 7 (A.P.).—After a six week's layoff while the circus held sway, the leather-pushers return to Madison Square Garden this week and contribute an international championship match to the national schedule.

Kid Chocolate, Cuban Negro, will defend the world's featherweight title he holds in the eyes of the New York State Athletic Commission against the British title-holder, Seaman Tom Watson, in the Garden Friday night.

Chocolate probably will rule a 7 to 5 favorite over the Englishman, although Watson made an excellent impression on American fight fans here a couple of months ago when he handed Fidel Labarba a neat trouncing. Chocolate will be making his second defense of his featherweight title since he won it by defeating Lew Feldman. The Cuban outpointed Labarba in a closely fought duel in his first defense.

Six Four-Rounders On Program.

Supporting the 15-round main bout will be six 4-rounders.

On the same night, Freddie Miller, of Cincinnati, recognized as featherweight champion by the National Boxing Association, will meet Eddie Trupillo, of Denver, in a 10-round over-weight match at Hollywood, Calif.

Bouts on the national schedule include:

MONDAY—At San Francisco, K. O. Christner, Akron, Ohio, vs. Leroy Haynes, Los Angeles, Negro, heavyweights, 10; at New York (St. Nicholas Arena), Benny Levine, Newark, vs. Eddie Ran, Poland, welterweights, 10; at Pittsburgh, Eddie Shea, Chicago, vs. Jackie Wilson, Pittsburgh, featherweights, 10, and Lou Jallos, Cleveland, vs. Louie Severo, Meadville, Pa., lightweights; at Dayton, Ohio, Joe Mackorewicz, Cincinnati, vs. Coleman Johns, Dayton, light-heavyweights, 10; at Atlantic City, Jackie Willis, Philadelphia, vs. Rosey Stoy, Lancaster, Pa., lightweights, 8; at Flint, Mich., Roger Bernard, Flint, vs. Wesley Ramsey, Grand Rapids, Mich., lightweights, 10.

TUESDAY—At Plainfield N. J., Bucky Lawless, Syracuse, N. Y., vs. Sir Second Powell, Plainfield, welterweights, 8; at Seattle, Abie Israel, Seattle, vs. Harry Fierro, Chicago, featherweights, and Ceferino Garcia, Los Angeles, vs. Leonard Bennett, Seattle, welterweights, each 8.

WEDNESDAY—At Oakland, Calif., Young Tommy, Philippines, vs. Billy McLeod, Stockton, bantamweights, 10; at San Francisco, Little Pancho, Philippines, vs. Young Sport, Pasadena, bantamweights, 10.

FRIDAY—At New York (Madison Square Garden), Kid Chocolate, Cuba, vs. Seaman Watson, England, featherweights, 15 (title); at Hollywood, Calif., Freddie Miller, Cincinnati, vs. Eddie Trujillo, Denver, featherweights, 10 (nontitle); at Pittsburgh, George Riley, Detroit, vs. Frankie Wallace, Cincinnati, featherweights; Alabama Kid, Dover, Ohio, vs. Joe Rugusuzoni, Detroit, middleweights, and Johnny Datto, Pittsburgh, vs. Petey Sarron, Memphis, featherweights, each 10; at San Dieso, Calif., Jimmy Evans, New York, vs. Eddie Murdock, Tulsa, Okla., welterweights, 10; at St. Paul, Art Lasky, Minneapolis, vs. Charley Retzlaff, Duluth, heavyweights, 10 (for Minnesota championship).

GAITHERSBURG WINS.

Gaithersburg Aces scored a 5-4 victory over the Rockville A. A. yesterday. Esworthy held the losers to eight hits and fanned six. Smith, Dosh and Diamond, with two hits each, led the winning attack. Dickerson will meet the winners next Sunday.

Paul, Sarron Ready for Fight

Feathers to Complete Training for Bout Tomorrow.

PETE SARRON took his final workout at Portner's Arena for the Tommy Paul meeting tomorrow night and wound up weighing 127 pounds.

All week the Syrian has been concentrating on his left hand, which failed him against the flashy Buffalo opponent the last time. It was Pete's right-hand thrusts which saved the day for him. If he can combine the two, he figures he will be a cinch to win.

Sarron intends taking the fight right to his rival again tomorrow night. He said yesterday:

Sarron Not to Waste Any Time.

"I don't mean to waste any time. Now that I am wise to all Tommy has in the bag, there is no use waiting to see if he has any more."

Roddy Davis and Nick Antonelli, semifinal rivals in a meeting which smacks of local flavors, also finished a hard two-week training grind. Davis weighed 134 yesterday and Antonelli 130. They will probably enter the ring at this poundage, as both boys vary little in weight.

Antonelli may be established the favorite by bell time, due to his great showing against Willie Essinger and his knockout over Jackie Lamar.

Bobby Cleary and Jimmy Kid Smith clash in the six-round main preliminary. Cleary is a stablemate of Paul's and is reported to be a slugger from the bell.

Another six-rounder brings together Cary Wright and Johnny De Marco, completing a 30-round card.

REDS TRADE THREE PLAYERS TO CARDS

Hornsby on the bench with a "Charley horse." It was expected, however, that Hornsby would return to second base as soon as his physical condition warrants.

From a Cincinnati viewpoint the trade should prove especially beneficial from a pitching standpoint. The addition of Derringer provides Manager Donie Bush with another starting pitcher to relieve an overburdened staff consisting principally of Red Lucas and Si Johnson. Stout probably will be used for relief roles.

Adams Handy Man To Have Around.

Once Jim Bottomley returns to regular duty at first base for the Reds, Adams may not be able to break into an infield combination which will have George Grantham at second base, Joe Morrissey at short, and Andy High at third, but he will be a useful man to have around. He has played second, short and third during his 11 years in the majors.

Derringer, the outstanding pitcher in the deal, broke in with Danville, of the Three-I League, in 1927, spent two years there and two years with the Rochester Redwings before going to the Cardinals in 1931. He won 18 games and lost only 8 in 1931, but failed to break even last season, winning 11 games and losing 14 with a sixth-place club.

With their wealth of pitching talent, the Cardinals probably will have no use for either Henry or Ogden, both of whom, in all likelihood, will be sent to one of St. Louis' numerous "farms," possibly Columbus.

Cubs Seek Chuck Klein, Of Phillies, Reported

Chicago, May 7 (A.P.).—The Chicago Cubs will make another offer for the services of Charles "Chuck" Klein, heavy hitting Philadelphia National outfielder, it was reported at a reliable source tonight.

President William L. Veeck joined his Cubs at Boston today and was reported to be ready to deal fast and furious with the Phillies, Giants and Dodgers if he can get what he needs. Klein has been a much-sought player by the Cubs for several years. At one time, the Phillies were understood to have turned down an offer of $200,000 for him.

FIELD OF 370 GOLFERS ENTER MANOR CLUB TOURNAMENT

2-Day Medal Round Is Listed

Players Tee Off Tomorrow, Wednesday to Qualify.

District's Best Linksmen to Compete for Honors.

A FIELD of 370 golfers, representing every golf club in the District, will compete in the Manor invitation tournament, which will swing under way tomorrow morning when the first contingent of players will vie for honors in the eighteen-hole medal round.

The second half of the field will begin the grind Wednesday morning. Five sixteens will qualify for match play.

Semifinals and Finals Friday.

Match play occupies the spotlight Thursday morning and afternoon, with the semifinals and finals in all flights slated on Friday. Ted Burrows, who won the 1931 Manor event, is again a contestant, as is Harry Pitt, the Manor champion, and other District luminaries.

Here are the starting times and pairings:

"I'll Win British Open Title Again This Year"—Sarazen

Plans Also to Defend U. S. Crown, He Says, Adding He Is Satisfied With His Game Now, Knowing It Will Right Itself.

Relaxing comfortably in Col. Henry L. Doherty's modernly equipped $12,000 aerocar that is to carry two of the world's greatest professionals on a 20,000-mile golfing tour, Gene Sarazen, the smiling Italian shotmaker who rose from the caddy ranks to fame, but not fortune, (according to Sarazen himself), yesterday expressed satisfaction with his present playing and declared in a manner that smacked of confidence that "I expect to have my game tuned up properly to win the British and American championships again this season."

"I am playing just as I did last year at this time when I prepared for the British tournament," Sarazen added.

"Why worry about your game when you know it's going to hold you in good stead for something that's important?

"I am looking forward with great interest to both the English play and the Ryder Cup matches, and I feel confident that I can put out enough good shots to bring the championship back to America."

Sarazen reiterated the remarks made a few weeks ago that he could see no good reason for leaving Billy Burke, 1931 National Open champion, off the Ryder Cup team.

"A grand player, this Burke," Sarazen piped. "I'll take him on my team any day."

Asked who he thought was the coming professional star, Sarazen fired back:

"It's little Paul Runyon. He has everything. Just watch this boy step in the British tournament and in the Ryder Cup matches. He was the first on my list in choosing the U. S. line-up."

The champion admitted he was serious when he promulgated the idea of the 8-inch cup from his sick bed in a California hospital.

"Brian Bell, Associated Press writer, was with me when I made the remark about the larger cups," Sarazen said.

"We need larger cups; if not the 8-inch holes, then the 6. Why, the tournament with the 6-inch holes in Florida was a huge success. Lengthen the holes and you add a thrill to the game—for star and the duffer alike."

Sarazen was loud in his praise of some of the amateur golfers he played during the course of the exhibition tour down South. He declared that one of the coming simon-pure stars of the day is Sam Perry, long-hitting Birmingham, Ala., player, and former Southern amateur titleholder. He also praised Emmett Spicer and said that Charlie Yates, Atlanta boy, who has been picked by O. B. Keeler as the successor to Bobby Jones, was a greatly overrated player.

"There's a fellow by the name of Hudson, from Alabama, who played against us," Sarazen said. "That fellow has a bag full of shots and bears watching."

Sarazen stated he positively would come down to participate in the next National Capital Open at Kenwood. Kirkwood already has promised to enter.—D. H.

Lansburgh's Wins Over Palais Royal

Lansburgh's seized undisputed possession of the leadership in the Department Store League yesterday, swamping Palais Royal, 20 to 5. It was the team's second consecutive win.

The Hecht Co. scored its first league victory, a 21-to-10 decision over Kann's. Mike Gass, Roy Kidwell and Barney Weeks led the assault on three Kann's twirlers, getting eleven hits between them. Gass poled three triples and a double. Fred Berry held the losers well in check.

Sarazen and Kirkwood Win, 5 Up

Australian's 67 Too Much for Thorn and Houghton.

By DAVE HERMAN.

STOCKY Gene Sarazen, chatting freely and smiling with every shot, and his partner, Joe Kirkwood, the internationally famous Thurston of the links, made a perfect golf team yesterday at Kenwood in their 18-hole charity exhibition match with Al Houghton and A. B. Thorn, and before the withering fire of the renowned pros, the local troupres went down to defeat by an overwhelming count of 5 up and 4 to play.

Furnishing the most sensational blast of the day, Kirkwood roared home with a scorching subpar round of 67, that thrilled a crowd of 1,000.

The Australian expert gave an almost flawless demonstration, equally as brilliant as his exhibition of trick shots that followed the regular match.

Kirkwood Gets Total of 67.

Kirkwood's 67 smashed par by three strokes. Kirkwood spun his way over the first nine for a glistening 32, sprinkling this side of the course with no less than four birdies, and traversed the stretch in a 35, one below orthodox figures. Kirkwood got one birdie on the last nine.

A trifle off form with his woods on several holes and encountering a bit of trouble with his irons and putter, Sarazen found the going tough on the first nine, and scared to a 39, five over par. He then took a 35 on the last nine for an eighteen-hole total of 74, the same figures scored by Houghton and one below those of Thorn.

Sarazen and Kirkwood were in command from the start, and so well did they harmonize that they refused to surrender the lead, after the bronzed British and American open ruler executed two beautiful shots to reach the first green and win the hole with his par 4. Kirkwood, Houghton and Thorn took fives. Houghton was guilty of three-putting.

The invaders went 2 up by bagging the second in fours. They halved the third in fours, and Houghton won back a hole by nailing a 10-foot putt for a birdie 3 on the fourth.

Sarazen Begins To Slip.

Then Sarazen began to slip, and Prof. Kirkwood burst forth with one of his torrid streaks. It was first the rough, then the traps, and finally three putts for Sarazen on the fifth. He got a six. Kirkwood came to his rescue. From an uphill lie he spanked his brassie second dead to the pin and nabbed his birdie four to gain a half with Houghton, who blasted out spectacularly from the trap.

Kirkwood had a birdie hangover. He trundled in a 6-footer for a decoy to beat Houghton's 3 on the sixth. The seventh was halved in fours, as Houghton skimmed by the hole for his birdie try.

On the eighth Kirkwood waved his wand 6 feet from the cup and—plop went the ball for his second deuce, and the visitors were in front by 3 up. Trap, trap, trap the others marched.

On the ninth Kirkwood rammed a curling 15-footer into the hole for his fourth birdie, matching Houghton's three from a similar distance. Sarazen had pulled his tee shot and missed his putt for a five. Thorn sank a 20-footer for a 4.

What golf that Kirkwood did shoot!

Well, the boys halved the unusually long (275 yards) tenth in par 3. Kirkwood was the only one to reach it. Sarazen hooked to the right, but niblicked up very well, and Thorn almost holed out his second. Give all fours on the eleventh, and give Sarazen a birdie four and credit for winning single-handedly his second hole of the day on the tricky 488-yard twelfth. Gene carried the water hazard near the green with a walloping second shot that was a gem. Sarazen missed a 12-footer for an eagle three, taking a four. Kirkwood got a par five.

Bags 20-Footer For Five.

Sarazen picked up on the thirteenth. Kirkwood hooked his drive out of bounds, and, with a spectacular comeback bagged a 20-footer for a five to gain a half.

The climax came on the fourteenth, which Sarazen and Kirkwood played in orthodox figures, while their opponents took fives.

Sarazen was the day's leading driver, outdistancing the other three anywhere from 20 to 30 yards on some holes.

CLOSED GATES HELD NO BAR FOR CHRIST

Dr. Sizoo Says Too Many Live Below Limit of Their Opportunity.

Taking for his subject, "When Gates Are Closed," Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo, pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, said yesterday in his sermon that too many of us live our lives only to a "second-best" degree and that all through history at various times man has attempted to close the gates against Jesus Christ. Dr. Sizoo gave it as his opinion that the world today was experiencing the situation of Jesus forcing his way through the closed door.

"It will always be a sad reflection upon human nature that many of us give so little to life and are content to live at our second best," he said. "How few are those who bring to their day's work the full genius of their talent. We give to life, but keep back a part of the price; we could work with greater devotion if we but tried.

Riches Goal of Most.

"If most of us told the truth about ourselves we would be forced to confess that we live beneath the limits of our opportunities. We live, but not to the fullest measure of life. How often it has happened that we do not live up to our best, and multitudes are satisfied that it should be so. We all want to live in status quo.

"What is it that we want in this country? We simply want to go back to 1927 and 1928 and live the same lives of greed and hate and narrow nationalism of those years; to get rich, to get rich honestly, but above all, to get rich. Multitudes have that desire and no more, and may God pity them.

Christ Will Triumph.

"Just as we close the doors on our own talents, so do we close the doors on Jesus Christ. But we can not escape the Son of God. The history of the Christian church is the story of the coming of Christ when the gates were closed. In the years of the seven persecuting emperors of Rome, when Nero burned as torches, in the day of Henry VIII, and today, when Hitler seeks a substitute for the Christian faith, when the world is on the edge of war, Jesus comes. The age of today is what it is because Jesus is forcing his way through closed gates, and He is bound to have His way.

"Men have laughed at religion and have secured riches at the expense of the poor and needy, but they are coming to discover that though the doors are closed they will have to reckon with Jesus."

UNABLE to see, unable to read Braille by the usual method because his arms were lost in an accident, blind and armless William McPherson, of Kansas City, Mo., overcame all his handicaps and learned to read with his tongue. Patient and determined, he learned to distinguish the lettering of the Braille system with the tip of his tongue until now he is able to read almost as easily as you or I.

In Jerusalem, the birthplace of the Christian religion, today the Mohammedans form the largest religious sect. Next in order of numbers come the Jews, then Roman Catholics, Protestants, Hindus, Bahais, Druses, Samaritans, Sikhs and Metawilehs.

The great World War, often called the European War, involved a greater percentage of nations in Africa than in Europe. The only country in Africa not involved in the European War was Abyssinia. Several European nations—Holland, Sweden, Norway, Finland—did not participate in the war.

The old horse-drawn street cars symbolize, to most minds, something of the dim past—but even after the United States entered the World War the horse was still in use in New York City. On July 27, 1917, with fitting ceremonies, the last horse car in that city made a trip on the Bleecker street and Fulton Ferry line, after which the franchise was abandoned.

THE NEW DINING CAR.

("Low-price no-tipping dining cars in which a man can get a cup of coffee and doughnuts for fifteen cents are to be placed in service on an Eastern railroad. Other railroads are considering adoption of the idea."—News item.)

COME into the diner, Maud,
You needn't be so shy;
Step into the diner, Maud,
The prices are not so high—
An egg on a train you can now afford—
In fact it's a darned good buy!

Away with that ancient fear—
The dread of a dining car!
Step into the diner, dear—
The prices no longer jar;
There now is no need of that feeling queer
That two dollars per is par.

Why starve in the coach today,
Or munch on an apple there?
Without going broke you may
Dine traveling anywhere;
They've taken the bunk and the frills away—
They're feeding the passengaire.

Why feast on a peanut bar?
Why diet as towns fly by?
They're making the dining car
A place for the average guy;
You don't need the wage of a movie star
To order a piece of pie.

The diner's a lunch room now
With coffee and sinkers too,
With milk from contented cow,
At rates that are very new;
They'll boil you a four-minute egg and how!—
And then take an I. O. U.

They'll serve you some rolls and tea
For less than a turkey roast;
You won't need the R. F. C.
To order a slice of toast;
They'll even serve excellent soup (split pea)
At ten cents a plate (almost).

PLEA OF THE HOUR.

Talk about your golf, your mutt,
Your bridge, your operation—
Bore me with your sinus, but please don't explain inflation.

WELL TRAINED.

"Rock the boat!" exclaimed the Old Line Congressman as he voted for another bill he didn't understand. "Why we don't even dare to rattle the oars!"

Add similes: as futile as the hopes of a man with arthritis in his right arm to be dictator.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, once a foe of power trusts, has now become the finest living example of one.

John D. Rockefeller has returned North from Florida leaving holders of his 1933 dimes greatly worried over reports that when inflation comes they will be worth only a nickel.

AND HOW.

"Lawyers Say Clients Needn't Give Up Gold." — headline. Nonsense! Lawyers are the first people to make clients give it up.

Joe Young reports observing two ladies in a de luxe roadster with "Buy American" plates front and rear and —believe it or not—a Japanese chauffeur in the rumble seat!

Frank Cary Takes Medal in Debate

The annual prize debate of the Senior Debating Club of the Georgetown Preparatory School was held yesterday in the school assembly hall. The Naylor medal, yearly award, went to Frank E. Cary, judged the best speaker.

The affirmative of the question, "The Government of the United States should officially recognize the government of Russia," was upheld by John W. English, of Erie, Pa., and Mertland Hedges, of Chattanooga, Tenn., while Mr. Cary, who is from Chicago, and J. Spaulding Schroder, of Atlanta, Ga., spoke on the negative side.

Judges were the Rev. Vincent J. Hart, S. J., dean of the College of Arts and Sciences of Georgetown University; Andrew N. Faul and U. J. Reilly, both graduates of the school.

'TONY' LITTLE WINS FEATURE AIR EVENT AS 20,000 LOOK ON

Philadelphia Pilot Nears 175 Miles Per Hour in Race at College Park.

Racing his small high-powered cabin airplane over a triangular 30 mile course at a speed of nearly 175 miles an hour, H. A. ("Tony") Little, Philadelphia pilot, yesterday won the featured sportsman pilots' race at the Langley Day celebration at College Park Airport.

While nearly 20,000 fixed their eyes on the finish pylon at the airport, Little drove his small Monocoupe ship acros the line almost a blur as it shot by the judges stand, registering some of the fastest time ever made for a race of this distance.

The brilliant young Philadelphia pilot, with a string of victories to his credit in Florida races, as well as throughout the East, also won the dead stick landing contest when his ship stopped coasting with its motor dead just 8 feet and 3 inches from the mark at which he had aimed after stopping his engine at an altitude of 1,000 feet.

Second in Handicap.

He also placed second in the Sportsman Pilots' Handicap race when he scored a net time of 9 minutes and 11 seconds, 25 seconds slower than that turned in by C. J. Wilke, of Baltimore, in a Waco plane.

Lawrence Sharpless, also of Philadelphia, scored two victories in the day's races when he brought his Travelair home first in the Sportsman's race for ships with a speed of up to 125 miles an hour. He also won the acrobatic flying demonstration.

Thirty-eight pilots competed in the meet, Washington's largest commercial aviation demonstration, sponsored by the Washington Air Derby Association of the Greater National Capital Committee. Arrangements were under the supervision of Chester H. Warrington, president of the Washington Air Derby Association.

Visitors Score Heavily.

Eight of the eleven events on the day's program were won by out-of-town pilots, with Philadelphia pilots taking four. The only victories registered by Washingtonians were scored in the slow race, a 20-mile affair, between the College Park Airport and Bowie race track and return, and the race for low-powered airplanes powered with OX-5 type motors, flown over the same course. In these odd events the local fliers made clean sweeps.

In the former event Robert L. Baber, flying an Aeronca, succeeded in taking up twenty minutes to cover the 20 miles, although he was assisted by a strong wind on one lap of the race. Second prize was won by Clarence S. Bruce in this event.

In the low-powered airplane class, L. N. Jordan, of Washington, flying a Challenger, won the event in 8 minutes and 27 seconds, while W. M. Henderson, in a Travelair, was only two seconds behind him.

A special event on the pprogram, a scale model airplane contest, was won by Richard Hooper, of Washington.

Following the close of events yesterday Mr. Warrington, on behalf of the Air Derby Association, expressed gratification at the number of entrants, the results and the large public response. He revealed that plans were under way for the formation of an aviation country club, similar to clubs now in existence in Philadelphia and New York for the sponsoring of sportsman flying and amateur events in "a country club atmosphere."

Details of Events.

SCOTTSBORO MARCH TODAY TO HAVE 5,000

Petitions Will Be Presented at White House and Capitol by Group.

Approximately 5,000 persons are scheduled to parade to the White House today, and thence to the Capitol, in protest against the Scottsboro, Ala., handling of charges against nine Negro youths. One hundred and twenty-five extra police have been ordered on duty for the parade.

Two thousand of the paraders are expected to arrive by bus and truck this morning from New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore. Colored persons are expected to predominate among the paraders, although a large contingent of white persons are booked to take part.

The parade will begin at New York and Florida avenues northeast and will take a route avoiding the congested business districts to the White House. There a delegation will present petitions while the paraders wait.

Thence the paraders will proceed to the Capitol, where the procession will be halted outside the grounds while another committee goes in to interview the Vice President and the Speaker of the House.

Ruby Bates, 19-year-old Alabama mill worker and central figure in the Scottsboro prosecution, will be among the delegation to call at the White House. After the Capitol visit the paraders will stage a mass meeting in East Seaton Park, Third street and Maine avenue southwest.

Speakers at the mass meeting will include William L. Patterson, national secretary of the International Labor Defense, and James W. Ford, Communist candidate for President in the last election.

Plea for Winter Clothing Is Made

An appeal for discarded winter clothing to take care of the needy of Washington when cold weather returns was made yesterday by Mrs. Emma W. Powell, of the clothes conservation bureau of the District Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Powell announced that the bureau has ample storage space for all heavy clothing which might otherwise be destroyed by moths during the summer. Women are employed by the emergency relief to repair and remodel the garments.

The demand for men's clothing is greater than the supply, Mrs. Powell said. Cast-off clothing may be sent to the Ford building through any laundry driver or by delivering it to any fire engine house, or by telephoning National 7174; or it may be brought to the building.

ONE DEAD, TWO HURT IN CYCLE ACCIDENTS

Woman Found Unconscious Beside Highway Near Hume Springs, Va.

One youth was killed, another seriously injured and a young woman suffered critical hurts yesterday, when motorcycles on which they were riding figured in accidents in nearby Maryland and Virginia.

A head-on collision between the automobile of S. T. Farmer, of 1345 Jonquil street northwest, and a motorcycle driven by Robert E. Johnson, 22, of Beaver Falls, Pa., resulted in fatal injuries to William Lawson, 21, also of Beaver Falls.

Lawson, riding on the rear of the motorcycle, was thrown into the air and against Farmer's car. He died en route to Georgetown Hospital in a Bethesda (Md.) rescue squad ambulance. Johnson, taken to the hospital by members of the Kensington (Md.) Fire Department, suffered a fractured right leg, several broken ribs and possible internal injuries.

Farmer was riding in a motorcade en route to a Knights Templar outing in Gettysburg, Pa. He told police that Johnson apparently lost control of his motorcycle while traveling at a high rate of speed. Lawson and Johnson were coming to Washington on a sightseeing trip.

Found by passersby lying unconscious beside a wrecked motorcycle near Hume Springs, Va., last night, Mrs. Beulah Driggers, 23, of 922 Twenty-third street northwest, was brought to Emergency Hospital, where it was found she was suffering from a fractured skull and other injuries.

A man, who said he is her husband, was at the scene of the accident, but disappeared before the arrival of police.

Man Attacked by Three Reports $12 Was Taken

John Cencius, 38, of 220 C street northwest, last night reported to police that he was attacked and robbed by three colored men while walking along Constitution avenue, near First street northwest, early yesterday.

The men knocked him to the street, he said, and escaped with $12.

Man at Soldiers Home Hurt in Auto Accident

Robert H. Holt, 60, of the Soldiers' Home, was treated at Garfield Hospital yesterday for slight injuries received in an automobile accident near Bladensburg, Md.

Holt was riding in the machine of Harry Hemming, of Riverdale, Md., when the car ran from the road Hamming was unhurt. Holt suffered lacerations and bruises to his face.

CATHOLIC STUDENTS PAY HONOR TO VIRGIN AT MAY DAY RITUALS

5,000 Witness Colorful Ceremonies on Campus at Brookland.

Catholic students of the District paid tribute to the Virgin Mary as the seat of wisdom in a colorful May Day religious celebration yesterday at Catholic University.

Winding their way over the shaded paths of the picturesque campus, more than 2,000 students formed a solemn procession to the stadium, where 5,000 persons witnessed the ceremonies.

The rituals were performed before a flower-decked altar and shrine under the slanting rays of a midafternoon sun, shining on the bright hues of the participants' vestments.

Father Dixon Preaches.

The exercises were begun with the singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner" by the entire assembly. This was followed by the Act of Consecration to the Blessed Virgin, by Miss Elizabeth Rohan, of Trinity College. The hymn, "Ave Maria," was sung by the Catholic University choir. The sermon, "Maria, Sedes Sapientiae," was delivered by the Rev. John A. Dixon, S. J., of Georgetown University.

Solemn Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was celebrated by the Rev. Edward G. Fitzgerald, O. P., chaplain of Catholic University. He was assisted by the deacon, the Rev. Alphonse Freehill, O. S. B.; subdeacon, the Rev. Frank Guy; master of ceremonies, the Rev. Edward Roelker, S. T. D., and choir director, Dr. Leo Behrendt.

Donors and Participants.

The flowers for the altar and the shrine were donated by the students of Georgetown Visitation College and Immaculata Seminary. The altar and shrine were decorated by students of Trinity College.

Among those participating in the procession were the students of Trinity College, Georgetown Visitation College, Immaculata Seminary, Georgetown University, the Catholic University, Newman Club of George Washington University, Newman Club of Howard University, members of the religious communities, clerical and lay staff of the Catholic University, and clergy of the city.

The procession was directed by William Carmody, chairman of the students' spiritual council of Catholic University, and lead by Winifred Omeara, of Immaculata Seminary; Elizabeth Rohan, of Trinity College, and Florita Burke, of Georgetown Visitation College.

258 Gallons Seized In Houseboat Raid

Washington and Alexandria (Va.) police, armed with warrants for the arrest of two men wanted in the Virginia city for assaulting a policeman, last night boarded a houseboat anchored in the Potomac River near Bellevue Magazine, departed minus their prisoners, but returned to the Harbor Precinct Station here with 258 gallons of alleged liquor, which they said was found on the boat.

The warrants, said to name Earl Posey and Edward Monroe, occupants of the houseboat floating about 200 yards from the Virginia shore, was sworn out by Alexandria police.

It was alleged that the two men struck a policeman and fled several days ago.

Fugitive Is Seized After Motor Crash

Pursued several miles by Arlington County, Va., police last night, Lorenzo Hawkins, colored, of 1111 Columbia road northwest, was arrested and held under a bond of $500 after it is alleged he attempted to escape following a collision between his machine and the car of W. W. Thomas, of Falls Church, Va.

The accident occurred, police said, on Annandale road near Falls Church. After Hawkins is alleged to have struck the Thomas machine, he continued to drive toward Washington. Arlington County Policemen John Burke and Ernest Miller gave chase.

The fleeing car was overtaken on Key Bridge and Hawkins was returned to the accident scene. No one was injured in the crash.

Falls Church Girl Hurt In Automobile Collision

Doris Ward, daughter of R. E. Ward, of Falls Church, Va., was taken to Georgetown Hospital last night, suffering from injuries received when an automobile driven by her father was in collision with the machine of Mrs. Gladys H. Elliott, of 1401 Ingraham street northwest, on the Lee highway near Leeway, Va.

Miss Ward was held at the hospital for observation. The extent of her injuries was undetermined. Mrs. Elliott was ordered to appear in Arlington County Court this morning.

Car Escapes

Startled Owner Pursues and Retrieves Auto From Occupant.

Imagine the surprise of Charles A. Driver, of 351 I street northwest, when, as he approached his automobile parked near Seventh street and Florida avenue northwest, yesterday afternoon, the machine moved slowly off under its own power.

Driver halted in astonishment, then suddenly leaped into action. For more than two blocks he pursued the escaping car. Then with a flying jump he scrambled aboard. Another two blocks was covered while Driver attempted to wrest control of the machine from its unwelcome occupant.

Later, after treatment at Freedmen's Hospital for severe injuries to his head and face, James W. Tyler, colored, 20, of 2462 Phelps court northwest, was arrested by police of the Second Precinct and held for investigation. Driver charged that it was Tyler at the wheel of his car.

Trade Board Planning Gay Shadbake May 20

Outing Price Has Been Cut, but Quality to Remain Same.

Plans are being completed for the annual shadbake outing of the Washington Board of Trade May 20 at Bay Ridge, Md., W. Crosdale Witts, general chairman of the event, announced last night.

Although clouds of uncertain business conditions continue to hover over the country, members of the Board of Trade are displaying little reluctance to leave their offices for a day's fun, judging by the sale of tickets, Mr. Witts said. The price of the day's outing has been reduced, but the quality of entertainment to be presented will be as rich as in former years, the chairman added.

Hollis B. Fritts, chairman of the entertainment committee, has planned a lavish entertainment program. It will include wrestling, boxing, blackface comedy, dancing girls and the Twentieth Marines Reserve Band, headed by Lieut. Leon Brusiloff, and donated for the occasion by Lieut. Col. J. J. Staley, commanding officer of the Marine Reserves in this area.

The dinner, of which shad will be the centerpiece and beer an important supplement, is being planned by a committee headed by Henry S. Owens. Thomas L. Eagon and A. K. Shipe, are chairman and vice chairman, respectively, of the advisory committee. Granville Gude is chairman of the committee on arrangements. Claude W. Owen, new president of the Board of Trade, heads the reception committee. Ross H. Snyder is chairman of the souvenir committee.

Karl E. Jarrell, who is assisting W Crosdale Witts in planning the annual shadbake outing of the Washington Board of Trade, to be held at Bay Ridge, Md., May 20. Sports, comedy, dances and music are on the program.

The board members and their guests, including members of Congress, Government and District officials and governors of Maryland and Virginia, will leave the District Building in buses at 9 a. m. on the day of the outing.

BONUS MARCH TODAY GIVEN UP BY CHIEFS

200 Patients Dismissed From Tennessee Hospital Are Reported En Route.

John H. Newlin, adjutant general of the B. E. F. when it bivouacked here last year, announced late last night that he and Harold Foulkrod would not lead 2,000 men here today, as planned, as a vanguard of the scheduled bonus convention next Saturday. Instead, he declared 5,000 were mobilizing in Baltimore to arrive here Wednesday morning.

Two hundred roughly-clad World War veterans, reportedly angered at being dismissed from the Veterans Hospital at Johnson City, Tenn., were reported in Associated Press dispatches last night as making their way here via freight trains to protest against recent legislation which cut disability compensation.

The Johnson City contingent are styling themselves the "second B. E. F.," said the dispatches, and are quoted as saying they are seeking audience with President Roosevelt for a demand that the bonus be paid.

Meanwhile, the four members of the veterans' national liaison committee, who have arranged with the administration for a convention of approximately 10,000 veterans to gather here next Saturday on a government provided site, were busy with preparations.

Several tours were made around the city and environs, scanning possible sites. No definite selection was announced last night.

Relief agencies yesterday were emphatic in that they would be unable to provide for large numbers of veterans coming here. Some doubt was raised as to whether the administration had agreed to provide rations as well as shelter.

A resolution has been introduced in the House by Representative Wright L. Patman, of Texas, a stanch veterans' friend in the House, which would make available for feeding the veterans funds once provided but never spent for the caring of French veterans, at one time expected to come to the United States for the bicentennial. Whether this measure will be passed also is a matter for conjecture.

Decision by Lowell DefendedinChurch

Charles H. Houston, acting dean of the law school of Howard University, spoke last night at the Lincoln Temple Congregational Church, on the objectives of various campaigns of the Negro for equal rights. With reference to the recent Crawford case in Massachusetts, in which he was associated as an attorney, he stated the issue as one involving the independence of the American judiciary.

"If the House of Representatives can impeach Judge Lowell," he said, "it can impeach judges of the Court of Appeals should they sustain him, and it may go further and impeach judges of the Supreme Court if they uphold him.

"The case is not concerned so much with freedom of Crawford as with the insistence that Virginia shall not reach out under the Constitution for extradition, and at the same time, flout the Constitution by not providing for service of Negroes on grand and petit juries."

Dr. Wilcox Heads Shakespeare Unit

Closing the year's calendar with a business meeting yesterday at the home of Dr. E. V. Wilcox, 33 West Irving street, Chevy Chase, Md., the Shakespeare Society announced officers elected for the new year.

Dr. Wilcox, who has served as president of the society for the past 14 years, was reelected. Other officers elected were: Mrs. Mable Owens Wilcox, dramatic director; A. Ueland, vice president; Miss Emma Skrivanic, secretary; Homer G. Jordan, treasurer, and Dell Floyd, publicity director.

The society, which has grown steadily during the past year, has formulated plans for an active season. Some of the best Shakespearean scholars have addressed the society and fully costumed scenes from eight Shakespearean plays have been creditably presented.

G. U. HISTORY TOLD ON CHURCH'S RADIO

Father Strohaver Is Speaker; Mothers Day Broadcast Is Announced.

The Rev. George E. Strohaver, S. J., of Georgetown University, in a talk on the Washington Catholic Radio Hour, broadcast from the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Eighth and N streets northwest, yesterday told the history of Georgetown University, the oldest Catholic college in the United States. Owing to the illness of Father Francis J. Hurney, the Rev. S. A. Czyz presided, assisted by the Rev. J. Kelly Reese and the Friars of the Atonement. The blessing of the sick and the solemn Lourdes procession was included in the services. The music, under the direction of Harry Wheaton Howard, included Florence Yocum, soprano; Ann Arlen, violinist, and the Boys' Sanctuary Choir. Father Czyz announced that a special Mothers' Day service would take place at the 5 o'clock broadcast service in the church next Sunday and would include the annual colorful May procession.

Father Strohaver said in part: "Of course 1789 possesses a great attraction for all Americans—the year of the United States Constitution and the election of George Washington. Georgetown and the 'U. S. A.' have the same year, 1789, on their seals. Moreover, in that year the town of Georgetown was raised by the Maryland Legislature to the dignity of a city, and the sons of its first mayor, George and David Peter, were students at the college, thus connecting the early institution with those municipally important.

Graduates of Renown.

"Among the thousands of young men who have been trained by the Jesuits at Georgetown since 1789, there have been explorers, generals in the Army, admirals and commodores in the Navy, literary geniuses and poets, editors of surpassing political influence, members of Congress, governors of States, ministers to foreign courts, historians, great mathematicians and astronomers, lawyers of preeminence, priests of sublime holiness and learning, bishops and archbishops of outstanding apostolic zeal.

"In the 3,000 students now attending Georgetown University may be found representatives of every State in the Union and every dependency of the United States. Alumni of Georgetown are serving 40 foreign nations in various exalted capacities. Many of these are non-Catholics who have seen unfolded before their eyes the strong faith, the high idealism, the rigid moral code of Catholic education, and returned to their homes to tell the story to other thousands. In this manner the Catholic Church is more truly known and its distinctive type of education sincerely respected.

Ratio Studiorum Credited.

"All this has been done by a strict adherence to that peculiar plan of collegiate instruction known as the Ratio Studiorum, the Bible of Jesuit education. Drawn up in 1584 and revised in 1832 this well-known program of education is the greatest single contribution ever made to the science of pedagogy. Its end and object is to educate not merely in the limited sense in which that word is usually taken, to express simply the imparting of information; training is the object to be sought for; the mind must be disciplined, and above all, the character must be formed. The principle running through the whole Jesuit system is that knowledge for its own sake is worthless and that indeed, this must seem evident, for it is only a knowledge used according to the dictates of right reason, and morality that can purify and elevate and to elevate and ennoble should be the end of all science."

TRAFFIC TOLL

TO DATE.

Always keep your eyes on the road ahead. Don't let sights distract your attention from driving and never turn your head around to speak to some one in the rear of your car, for this is one of the surest ways of inviting disaster.

The accident figures are:

Deaths	43	28
Injuries	1,341	1,226

"Be Careful!"

MINISTER PREACHES ON 'FROZEN ASSETS' IN SPIRITUAL REALM

Dr. Hutchinson Says Term Applies to Church as Much as Banks.

"The term 'frozen assets,' about which we all know something as it applies to the business world, is equally applicable in the spiritual realm," said Dr. Forney Hutchinson, pastor of the Mount Vernon Place Methodist Episcopal Church South, preaching yesterday morning.

Dr. Hutchinson said in part:

"With this familiar thought of 'frozen assets' in the business world in the background, I wish to speak more specifically of four frozen assets in the church; or, perhaps I should say, in the realm of the spiritual.

"First among these frozen assets I should like to mention conscience. I doubt if the Creator has made available to humanity a more valuable single asset than conscience. It is a 'silent monitor' in the soul that lifts mankind above the brute creation. For it there is absolutely no substitute. Without it we are morally bankrupt. As a result of this asset being frozen in our day, there is but little conviction. We go with the crowd. We do whatever expediency suggests. This attitude is evident in politics. We are bound by the party caucus. We submerge our individual convictions in the opinions of the corporate body.

Breaking of Promises.

"In business we are prone to follow the practices of the group with which we are associated. The ugly word repudiation is becoming common. It is used in connection with national and individual obligations. It always means a broken promise which is, from the standpoint of conscience, an exceedingly dangerous practice. Convictions in religion are not as common as in other days. None now are candidates for martyrdom. This loss of conviction goes far toward explaining our loss of courage. Today we are beset with fears. We are just plain scared. Of course, there are many notable exceptions. On these exceptions hangs the hope of the future. Men like Martin Luther, who are willing to die for the right, create reformations and promote revivals.

"The second frozen asset about which I wish to speak is confidence. Jesus was able to do 'mighty works' in Nazareth because of unbelief. Faith saves; doubt damns. This is not simply theology. It is practical truth. All success in business, domestic and religious life is based on faith. Doubt paralyzes. Faith stimulates. Confidence is a delicate thing; once broken, it is hard to restore. It can not be reestablished overnight by the decree of a ruler. It can only come by a process of growth.

Cites Banking Situation.

"Twenty-nine millions of the people's money are locked up today in the banks of the District of Columbia. Can we wonder that many are tempted to hide their holdings? Too often our political leaders have betrayed our confidence. Our religious faith, too, has been undermined by criticism. We must somehow learn again to trust God and believe in each other.

"The third of these frozen assets I shall call consecration. In the Christian life, consecration means simply the enthronement of Christ. We must love Him above all and give Him our supreme loyalty. The worst thing we can do to Jesus is to leave Him alone. He demands consideration. He challenges our attention. We must reckon with Him!

"All these and other spiritual values are elements of character. Character is indispensable in the building of a nation, a life or a business. It is more substantial than cash. It is a better standard for a nation than gold. In an inflation of conscience, confidence and consecration lies our salvation as nations and as individuals."
